Udall Says JFK To Sign Pan-Ark Bill in Pueblo

DENVER (UPI)— Interior Secretary Stewart Udall predicted Saturday that President Kennedy would sign the Fryingpan-Arkansas bill in Pueblo Aug. 17 if the Senate gives final approval next week, as it is expected to do.

At a joint news conference here at Stapleton Airfield with Gov. Steve McNichols and U.S. Sen. John A. Carroll, D-Colo., Udall said he thought the Senate would give speedy approval to the $171 million water development project.

However, Carroll said he learned today that the bill might run into slight opposition Monday, because Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., was "upset" because members of the Senate were not supporting a bill to provide additional water for the Pacific Northwest.

Carroll said he telephoned Jackson Saturday to find out if reports that Jackson planned to attach his bill to the Fryingpan as an amendment were true.

Carroll said Jackson told him he would not do this but he felt

Fort Officials Disclaim Part In Union Problem

Ft. Carson officials disclaimed Saturday any responsibility for or participation in labor troubles currently besetting the post. The dispute is between union representatives in Colorado Springs and certain non-union contractors employed at Ft. Carson.

Officials at Ft. Carson emphasized that the U.S. Army and specifically Ft. Carson and the Post Engineers Office are not directly involved in the dispute. The officials further stated that no punitive or retaliatory actions have been taken against the union or its' representatives and that none are planned. No federal employees or union representatives have been barred from Ft. Carson, they said.

Lt. Col. C. E. Ronan, deputy post commander, said, "It has always been policy at Ft. Carson to require any individual wishing to conduct business on the post to have a permit in his possession allowing him to enter the post for the purpose of conducting that business. It has also been policy to require these persons conducting business on the post to make an appointment with the individual they wish to see. This procedure allows the post to maintain its normal operations with a minimum of interruption.

"We have requested that business representatives of the various trade unions from Colorado Springs observe this procedure and conduct their business thru the proper channels. We have not barred them from the post. In the past we did not insist that these union representatives comply

Asians, Africans Walk Out of Red Youth Meet

HELSINKI (UPI)— Disgruntled Asian and African delegates jolted the Communist world youth festival Saturday by walking out after charging they were "systematically exploited" by the organizers of the Red meeting.

The new walkouts came as visiting Russian spaceman Lt. Col. Yuri Gagarin was telling a crowd of some 4,000 persons that the Soviet Union is readying "further and bigger flights."

Hema Dabare, head of more than 100 Ceylonese delegates, said he and 43 others were quitting the festival because they had been "systematically exploited" by the Reds.

Owiti Ger, leader of the 11-member Uganda delegation, also announced he was leaving because the festival is "a total failure and there has been no friendship at all."

(In West Berlin a youth who fled the East German delegation at Helsinki told newsmen the entire group would defect "if they can." He said, "I posed as a Communist to escape the (East German) workers' and farmers' paradise."

The walkouts by German and the 44 non - Communist members of the Ceylonese group came only a day after a 10-man Palestine Arab delegation announced it was leaving because the Communist Castro Executes Two more; Claims Violation by U.S.

HAVANA (UPI) — The Castro government today charged the United States with new "violations" of Cuban air space and announced the execution of two more "counter - revolutionaries" by a firing squad.

Maj. Raul Castro's armed forces ministry claimed that a total of 13 American planes violated Cuba's air space 10 times last Thursday. This raised the total of such alleged actions since last July 1 to 87, the ministry said.

Thursday's illegal American flights took place between 5:30 a.m. and 6 p.m., the ministry said, but gave no further details.

News of the execution of the two anti-Castro rebels was published in the government - controlled press, and announced in radio broadcasts. They were identified as Robert Isaac Mendieta and Epifanio Armelio Ramallo Guerra.

A revolutionary tribunal found the two men guilty of killing Army Cpl. Israel Torres last July 13 and sentenced them to death, the government said.

The place of their execution was not given and the announcement indicated only that it was carried out within the past few days.

Two other men allegedly involved in Torres' killing are still being sought, the announcement added.

Meanwhile the government announced that henceforth revolutionary tribunals will have jurisdiction over all cases involving "counter - revolutionary crimes" involving military personnel as well as civilians.

The announcement appeared to mean that army courts martial would no longer have any responsibility in judging such cases.

JUST A DOLLAR, PODNER — Bob Young (right), president of the Manitou Springs Chamber of Commerce, demonstrated the western version of the "hard sell" Saturday afternoon when he relieved George "Buzz" Canterbury, also of Manitou Springs, of $1 for a ticket to today's buffalo barbecue. The barbecue will be staged from noon until 4 p.m., and the purchase of a ticket carries with it the possibility of the buyer receiving $1,000. (Gazette Telegraph Photo)

Filipinos Deport U.S. Millionaire For Corruption

By HENRY HARTZENBUSCH

MANILA (AP)—The Phillippines deported Saturday American industrialist Harry S. Stonehill, 45, officially called a menace to state security and a participant in corrpution that President Diosdado is trying to wipe out.

The wealthy ex-GI from Chicago left for Sydney, Australia, where he is to take another plane Sunday for San Francisco.

Congress had surrendered Stonehill for expulsion in what a committee called "the higher interest of the nation" after a brief tussle between executive and legislative authorities about jurisdiction in his case.

Stonehill, who changed his name from Steinberg, issued a parting statement.

"I have come to love the country during the 17 years that I stayed here. I found friends among the people. I shall treasure this the rest of my life. In all sincerity, I can state that I modestly contributed to the well-being and economic development of this country, in more specific terms, to the employment of thousands of Filipinos," he said.

It was the end of the line here for Stonehill, who built a multi-million-dollar business empire on tobacco, oil, glass and real estate in the Philippines after World War II.

His American business associate, Robert Brooks—similarly condemned and called an undesirable alien—had already been booted out. Leaving behind his wife and five children, Brooks flew to Tokyo.

"I'm sorry, no comment," Brooks told newsmen in a stopover at Tokyo.

Macapagal issued orders Friday for the ouster of both after the deportation board ruled them guilty of such charges as bribery of

5th Division to Begin Moving Troops Tuesday to Exercise

The 5th Infantry Division (Mechanized) will begin moving 8,000 troops and 6,000 tons of equipment from Ft. Carson on Tuesday to air fields east of Colorado Springs, Denver and Pueblo for movement to Exercise Swift Strike.

From the four fields the men and equipment will be flown to Exercise Swift Strike II involving more than 60,000 Army and Air Force personnel in maneuvers through coastal North and South Carolina.

Swift Strike II is being held between Aug. 5 and 19 with two armies maneuvering for control of 5,500 square miles between Ft. Bragg, N. C., and Ft. Jackson, S. C. It is a U. S. Strike Command Exercise.

Most of the 5th Division soldiers will move to Stapleton Airfield by commercial buses. From there they will be airlifted in Military Air Transport Service C135 troop carriers.

Small equipment and drivers will be flown from Pueblo Memorial Airfield and Colorado Springs' Peterson Field.

C133s will carry large equipment only from Buckley Field, east of Denver.

Convoys with a total of 3,000 vehicles will move 24 hours daily until all division troops and equipment are airborne. Members of the 19th Military Police Company will escort convoys with assistance from Colorado State Patrol and municipal traffic officers.

Vehicles going to Peterson Field will travel a short distance south, then east of Carson on county roads to reach U.S. 24.

Traffic south will follow Interstate 25 and U. S. 50 east to the Pueblo airfield. Interstate 25 is also designated as U. S. 85-87.

Denver - bound convoys will follow Interstate 25 north to Colo.

Land Offer Said Rejected in Favor Of Bonforte Tract

A Texas millionaire rancher's offer to give as much land as needed for the proposed new Southern Colorado State College in Pueblo reportedly has been rejected in favor of a $320,000 land tract owned by John Bonforte of Colorado Springs.

The site favored by the survey team is located in the northeast corner of the city and is a subdivision which is being developed by Bonforte, who developed housing areas here, an Associated Press dispatch quoted the Denver Post as saying.

Bonforte's tract is adjacent to the Pueblo trash dump, the Post also disclosed. Nine sites were considered by a team of planning consultants before they recommeded the more costly property.

The consultants hired by the state were not aware that the offer of land west of Pueblo was free. It was offered by Houston Nichols, a Texan who owns about 200,000 acres.

Alan Ladd Jr., a businessman here and friend of Nichols, said both he and Nichols were surprised that the planning consultants, or state officials, did not make known the free offer of land. The offer was made six months ago, Ladd said.

"If they had not tried to hush things up (about the free site), it wouldn't have been so bad. I don't know whether there has been any

Youth Kills Four Of His Family; Commits Suicide

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A shooting authorities said looked like a massacre of mass execution wiped out a family of four Saturday and the toll reached five when a teen-age son, blamed for the slayings, died of a self inflicted bullet wound.

Authorities now say that with the death in Riverside Hospital of Ray Lanker, 14, they may never know exactly what prompted the shooting.

It took the lives of Ohio Highway Patrol Cpl. Ralph R. Lanker, 45; his wife, Virginia Fern Lanker, 36; a daughter Bea, 12; and a son, Thomas, 9.

All four bodies, dressed in night clothing, were discovered in the bedroom of the parents on the second floor of their frame home in suburban Grove City. Officers said at least 14 bullets were found in the bodies.

Ray fired a bullet into his temple a few hours after the shooting. He had been found unconscious beneath a freeway exit, a pistol by his side. Nearby was a culvert where officers believe he had hidden for a time after abandoning his father's patrol cruiser on the freeway.

Some kind of domestic trouble probably preceded the shooting in the home, police theorized. One report being investigated was that Ray and his parents had been at odds over a girl friend.

The boy's speeding on the freeway, noted by a civilian driver, led to the discovery of the bodies. When the cruiser was abandoned, police traced it to the patrol corporal. A call to his home failed to get an answer, and patrol offi-

Leftist Discovers Obstacles in Bid For Algerian Rule

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

ALGIERS (AP)—Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, flushed with the acclaim accorded his belated appearance in the capital, encountered new obstacles Saturday on his road to power.

Cracks appeared in the newfound unity of Algeria's leaders less than 24 hours after Ben Bella received a riotous welcome from thousands of screaming, chanting, flagwaving Moslems.

Five Members Of Family Killed By Farm Youth

VOLGA, S. D. (UPI) — A farm youth shot and killed five members of a neighboring family Friday night and blurted out the story to his father, authorities said Saturday.

The father told their pastor and together the two of them found the bodies of Herman Paulson, 44, his wife, Lorraine, 35, and their three daughters.

The bodies were found in separate rooms in their white frame farm home northwest of this tiny rural village near the Minnesota border.

Each had been shot through the head.

Brookings County State's Attorney Gordon Mydland refused to release the name of the boy. He said he would not reveal the name until formal murder charges are filed Monday.

The slayings occurred about 10 o'clock Friday night, "as near as we can tell." Mydland said. "The boy told the father what he had done this morning."

The body of 13-year-old Karlyn Paulson was found nude in an upstairs bedroom, tied hand and foot with clothesline rope and leather shoestrings.

The other victims—including

Strikes Cost Industry 9.8 Million Man Days

WASHINGTON (AP) —Strikes cost U.S. industry and workers 9.8 million man-days during the first half of 1962—a 60 per cent jump over last year's January-to-June figure, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said today.

Strike time losses this June hit a two-year high of 2.88 million man-days, the bureau said.

The bureau said there were 1,920 work stoppages involving 800,000 workers during the first six months of 1962. Both totals were well above the year-ago figures.

Strike idleness during the corresponding 1961 period was estimated at 6.1 million man-days—a post-war low.

This year, the bureau said, the ratio of time lost to time worked—17 strike-idled hours to every 10,000 hours worked—was below the level for corresponding periods of all but four postwar years.

The bureau said 410 strikes involving 155,000 workers began during June, about two-thirds of them in manufacturing industries. Both figures were down from the levels reported for May. Another 240 work stoppages that started in May continued into June.

The bureau blamed about half the working time losses in June on nine major walkouts, each involving more than 5,000 workers.

Among them, the bureau said, were strikes at Republic Aviation Corp., Farmingdale, N.Y.; construction strikes along the West Coast and in Idaho and Detroit; and walkouts against Eastern Air Lines and the New York Telephone Co.

Boy Beaten By Stepmother Is Improving

DENVER (UPI) — Michael Sheldon, 5-year-old Littleton, Colo., boy whose stepmother allegedly beat him, remained in criticial condition at Rocky Mountain Hospital Saturday but was showing slight improvement, the hospital said.

Arapahoe County sheriff's officers said they were holding Mrs. Nancy Elain Sheldon of Littleton pending the outcome of Michael's condition.

Chief investigator Bill Marraggos said the mother admitted choking the boy, hitting him and throwing him to the floor after she became angry with him Tuesday.

She was arrested after hospital officials told sheriff's officers that the boy had received bruises and scratches, in addition to other injuries, from a beating, Marraggos said.

Mrs. Sheldon is the wife of Gerald Sheldon, 31, the father of the boy.

Judge Proposes Alimony Limit For 'Tramps'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A time limit should be applied to alimony argues Superior Court Judge Roger Alton Pfaff of Los Angeles.

"The cocktail lounges of America are filled with unhappy, lonely, frustrated, and alcoholic women," Pfaff told the American Bar Association Friday.

"They've euchred an affluent husband out of a substantial lifetime annuity. The ex-husbands are left financially strapped."

As for the ex-wives Judge Pfaff observed: What otherwise would be emotionally stable and productive women are turned into tramps."

Bobby's Pooch Brumus Found in FBI Section

So Brumus, a husky 100-pound Labrador, has been going to the office with his master, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

"With the children gone he gets lonely," Kennedy told some visitors the other day, "so I bring him to the office with me and he gets pretty secretaries to take him for a walk."

And that explains the pretty secretaries walking the streets around the Department of Justice, being led by a big black shaggy dog.

Brumus was missing one day this week, and there was the attorney general of the United States, stalking through the maze of corridors, whistling for his dog. Brumus was found in the FBI section.

That same day Brumus wedged his way under Kennedy's desk as the attorney general was taking part in a question and answer exchange with some Brazilian students.

Without skipping a beat, Kennedy poured water into an ash tray and slid it under the desk to the thirsty Brumus.

There's a $50 fine and 30 days in jail for anyone convicted of bringing animals, other than guide dogs for the blind, into government buildings.

Deputy Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach was asked about it. Without batting an eye, he ruled, "Brumus must be a Seeing Eye Dog."

Art Students To Hold Exhibit Tuesday Night

The court yard of the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center will be the setting for an exhibit presented by art students of the Fine Arts Center and Colorado College.

Open to the public without charge, the show will be held from 7 to 10 p.m. Tuesday.

To be shown are student examples of paintings, prints, drawings and sculpture. Work in various media will include welded steel, woods, oils and mixed media.

This exhibit is representative of what Colorado College and Fine Arts Center students have been doing in art classes this summer.

Refreshments will be served by the students participating in the exhibition.

Not a drop of rain may fall for as long as 20 years in the northern portion of Chile's Atacama Desert.

Gonzales-Gonzales Heads Stars for Colorado Fair

PUEBLO — Colorado State Fair Manager Clyde Fugate announced recently that funnyman Pedro Gonzales - Gonzales will appear at the State Fair Rodeo to round out a long list of top entertainers who will be in Pueblo Aug. 20 - 25 for the fair.

Gonzales - Gonzales has a specialty act that has delighted movie, night club and television audiences for many years. One of the special features of his act is a marimpa played on old frying pans.

Gonzales - Gonzales has appeared on such well - known TV shows as Sheriff of Cochise, Groucho Marx Show and the Tennessee Ernie Ford Show, and many others. His movies include "The High and The Mighty," "Rio Bravo," "Strange Lady in Town" and about a dozen other top films.

Appearing along with Gonzales - Gonzales at the rodeo will be Corinne Williams, lady bronc rider and bull - dogger. The Arena Kachinas White Horse Troupe are also scheduled to appear and delight the crowds with their superb Roman riding act.

Buddy Heaton, a favorite in movies and television, will be at the rodeo with his trained buffalo Grunter. Grunter is one of a very few trained buffaloes in existence.

A long - time favorite with rodeo fans, Wiley McCray, will also be in the rodeo ring to do a bit of clowning with the stock. Wiley was chosen by the top 15 bull riders in the Rodeo Cowboys Association to act as barrel clown at the 1961 National Finals Rodeo.

Betz Wants No Part of Demo Battle in State

DENVER (UPI) — Democratic State Chairman Fred M. Betz Sr. Lamar, publisher, has stepped completely out of the battle that is raging between Democratic State Rep. Lela Gilbert of Denver and the Young Democrats.

Betz never has sought in the battle but Mrs. Gilbert, known across the state as a party maverick because of her voting record in the Legislature, pulled him into it.

Betz said he wanted no part of "the continuing quarrel carried on in the newspapers" between Rep. Gilbert and the Denver Young Democrats.

He said it is "a matter which will be settled by the Democratic voters of Denver who will have an opportunity at the coming primary to approve or disapprove of Mrs. Gilbert's record as a legislator."

Mrs. Gilbert, after the most recent attack on her by the Young Democrats, urged Betz to tell the YDs that they "either believe in democracy or get out of the party."

Betz, in a telephone interview from Lamar with a Denver newspaper, made his position clear:

"The Democratic Party in Colorado includes many thousands of free-thinking men and women who refuse to accept dictation from anyone.

"Many differences of opinion on many subects occur from time to time between part members in all sections of the state.

"I do not consider it a function of the state chairman to become involved in these disputes."

Mrs. Gilbert's party troubles have been growing since the Denver County Democratic assembly gave her last-place designation for re-election on the primary election ballot.

Indians Will Be Glad Of Automobile Exhaust

By ROBERT K. WALKER

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (AP) — Those puffs of smoke on the horizon in Navajoland this wall won't be signals by raiding war parties.

They'll be caused by the exhausts of thousands of automobiles on the new Navajo Route 1 across the heart of the vast Navajo Indian reservation.

The Indians will be glad to see them.

In the past the Indians have been depicted as waiting along the road to sell the tourist a genuine Navajo rug or jug.

Now they've got their eye on a more lucrative field — gas stations.

John McPhee, director of public relations for the Navajo tribe, says many Navajos are taking advantage of the new highway which will stretch 150 miles from U.S. 89 and Tuba City on the west, across the reservation to Keyenta, Mexican Water and on to the Four Corners area. There is will join up with other state highways.

The highway should be completely paved by Sept. 1, McPhee says. A formal dedication ceremony is set for Sept. 16, with Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall to act as master of ceremonies.

At that time a new monument will be dedicated where the four borders of Arizona, Colorado, Utah and New Mexico meet. The symbolic monument at that point will contain the seals of the four states in bronze.

McPhee said it also will contaian the unique motto: "Here meet four states in freedom under God." By placing two words of the motto on each side of the monument, a person can start reading on any one side and the words will make sense as he walks around the four-sided structure.

The new highway will run through the high plateau country, with its majestic and strange rock formations. McPhee said some 3,000 cars a day are expected to travel through this land once remote to the white tourist.

At Kayenta the pavement will connect with a paved road leading to Utah 47 and Monument Valley.

Tribal representatives say the new route will cut as many as 165 miles off trips between the West and Midwest.

McPhee said new resorts are being planned for the Four Corners area, Kayenta, Tuba City and Chinle.

Council to Discuss Losses at Projects

Measures to combat heavy losses by damage, theft and sabotage on construction project in this area are scheduled for discussion at a meeting of the board of directors of the Construction Industries Council at 12 noon Monday at the Embers.

Invited to the meeting are Police Chief Cecil McKissick, Sheriff Earl Sullivan and County Judge Charles Simon.

FRUSTRATES CHAIRMAN

WATERFORD, Conn. (UPI)—J. Morgan Miner Jr., chairman of the recreation and parks commission here is frustrated.

Miner, in charge of keeping up Waterford Beach Park, said Wednesday night he hasn't had the chance of going swimming there because he has not "found the time."

Motor Chair Fund Grows to $501; $1,600 Is Goal

Contributions totaling more than $300 last week boosted the motorized wheel chair fund being raised by Miss. Eva Fulbright to $501.

Miss Fulbright, who launched the drive two weeks ago to finance motorized wheel chairs for two brothers, Jim and Joe Dollar, 11 and 9 - year - old sons of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Dollar, 2810 N. Institute St., said Saturday that additional funds will be sought to help finance a similar chair for Dino Dellacroce, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Dellacroce, 930 La Salle St.

Miss Fulbright said about $1,600 will be needed.

Miss Fulbright also said that a Pueblo woman had donated a wheel chair she had been using, and which she no longer needs, but said about $300 will be needed to buy new batteries, a battery charger, etc. to put it in "new" condition.

Among the contributors last week were members of the Home Builders of Metropolitan Colorado Springs, who turned over a "handful" of individual checks to Miss Fulbright.

Other contributors were Ralph Schlarb and Sons Automotive Co., Mrs. Margaret Ball, Norton Bain, Mrs. H. D. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Merlyn Smith, F. B. and Jessie Lamberson, Mary E. Brewer, Johnson-English Drug Co., Bill Thomas, Frank Flanegan, Star Cafe, Lucas Sporting Goods Co., Harry Schack and Bert Llewellyn.

Contributions may be made to Miss Fulbright, who lives at 525 N. Nevada Ave., or at the First National Bank, where the fund is kept.

Capt. Donald R. Showen Escorting CAP Cadets

Capt. Showen's group is one of 21 such touring units of selected CAP cadets now visiting countries in Euope, South America and the Middle East.

The captain attended the University of Missouri and Stanford University, and has his B. A. Degree.

He will return to his assignment as assistant director of the Candidate Advisory Service at the United States Air Force Academy upon completion of the tour.

Following college graduation, they will be eligible for appointment as an an Air Force second lieutenant.

Metzler has completed his junior year of advanced AFROTC participation at Colorado State University. Duran has completed his junior year of advanced AFROTC participation at San Diego (Calif.) State College.

Your Outdoors

By MARY L. SHIRER

For the Pikes Peak Group of the Colorado Mountain Club

DO YOU KNOW?

If you have lived in the mountains or on a farm, 'tis then you have walked in paths of beauty. You have witnessed so much. Springtime showers you have seen, golden sunsets, or have you felt the summer showers? If you have lived in the mountains, then you have known peace and contentment. Cares and troubles seem to vanish.

We love the trails that lead thru pines and then out in the open and the snow - capped peak ahead. We come to shady glens and water - falls and linger long, but the trail ahead is steep and we are reluctant to go on. But onward we go and are glad when we reached our goal. There is a great satisfaction which we feel when reaching the summit of a high peak. To others perhaps it looks foolish.

Clouds reveal much in mountain country. Some are mighty ships at sea, others are castles and some are like fleecy wool.

Do you know the wild flowers from plains to summits of peaks, and the trees which grow from foot - hills to Alpine country, and the many grasses which grow from plains to peaks where the Alpine grass is a beautiful color especially in the Autumn when it turns to Autumn colors?

The great out - doors can teach us much that we never knew existed. In early morning, we get fragrance and each flower seems to reveal a story, not only from a botanical standpoint but their exquisite beauty tells us to stop and admire their formation. We wonder if the crickets speak to each other as they pass in the grass or the bees greet each other as they fly through the air and the butter - flies which seem so busy as they dart across our yards, and the ladybugs seem to be flying home to their children. The rainbow which spanned the sky is somewhat a miracle and people run to the door to look and some we have seen this summer seem to linger for so long. Where have we ever seen such a beautiful spectacle?

Explosion Blasts Another Hole In Berlin Wall

BERLIN (AP) — A new explosion punched a small hole Saturday in the Red wall across Berlin, nearing its first anniversary Aug. 13. Soviet military men surprised Western officials by driving into West Berlin to inspect the damage.

The blast in Jerusalemerstrasse was only a few hundred yards from the Friedrichstrasse crossing point for foreigners and not far from the site of a similar blast 11 days ago.

It went off just before 1 a.m. It chopped out a hole 8x19 inches. A few minutes later a jeep with four uniformed Soviet soldiers, believed to be officers, passed the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie, swung left and drew up at the scene. After taking a close look at the damage, the Russians returned to the East sector.

"Very interesting indeed," a Western allied official commented.

There is nothing to prevent Soviet officers entering West Berlin. But Western officials believe this is the first time the Russians have shown a direct interest in an explosion incident on the wall.

The Western powers favor such public appearances, claiming the Russians thereby acknowledge their responsibility for Berlin affairs under four-power agreements. Usually the Russians keep in the background, maintaining the East German government is solely responsible for what happens along the border.

West Berlin police said the explosive was set off on the West side of the wall, but they had not yet discovered who did it.

Apparently spurred by the wall's approaching anniversary, the East regime rushed work of making the barricade around West Berlin escape-proof. Six hundred men toiled for hours at three places, thickening the barbed wire fencing.

Leftist Discovers Obstacles in Bid For Algerian Rule

It was clear, however, that his old political enemies were still not prepared to bow.

Officers of anti-Ben Bella military zones in the guerrilla army in central Algeria let it be known that they would continue to refuse to obey the orders of regular army chief of staff, Col. Houari Boumedienne, Ben Bella's main military backer. Boumedienne was fired by Ben Khedda on the eve of independence, accusing him of attempting to establish a military dictatorship.

Two members of the Political Bureau opposing Ben Bella's quest for power boycotted a meeting he called.

The absentees were Deputy Premier Mohammed Boudiaf and minister of State Hocine Ait Ahmed.

The Political Bureau has no direct government functions. It is the executive committee of the National Liberation Front, (FLN), the movement which led Algeria to independence. The FLN is the nation's only substantial political group.

Ben Bella was quoted in Cairo Saturday as saying agrarian reform and putting an end to feudalism will be among the first steps to be officially undertaken in Algeria.

He said that although his government had appointed him to head the group "the Communists appeared as spokesmen of Ceylon and in many contexts they attacked and slandered their own government."

under-the-table dealing or not," the Post quoted him.

Robert Bartley, a member of the Trustees of State Colleges of Colorado, was asked about the situation and told a reporter: "We didn't think the damn thing should be based on a donation."

The Post said a problem of gaining access to the site selected for the college, northeast of the downtown area, could push the cost of development more than $1 million.

The cost of the land itself will be about $800 an acre, the Post said. But only two residential streets now are available to the campus area, and these would be insufficient, in the view of the consultants.

To provide proper access, a new two-lane road and bridge would be required at a cost of about $300,000. The extension of utilities to the site would cost an additional $154,000, the Post quoted the consulting team as saying.

From the consultants' report, the Post quoted: "This does not include relocation of a radio station (in the area) or street extensions. Additional costs might also be incurred for drainage improvements and grading in the arroyo area. The extension of the existing streets) to the site would cost approximately $53,000."

Southern Colorado State College will represent an expanded four-year institution developed from the present Pueblo Junior College located here.

Threat of Plague Stopped, British Authorities Report

LONDON (AP)—British health authorities expressed confidence Saturday night they have contained the threat of a spread in pneumonic plague—the medieval Black Death—which killed a germ war scientist earlier this week.

"It is a million-to-one shot against anyone else developing the disease now that preventive measures have been taken," said Dr. Frederick Lishman, medical officer of health for the Salisbury area.

It is in this bleak west of England region that Britain's principal germ war research establishment is situated.

Scientist George Bacon picked up pneumonic plague there.

Bacon, 44, died of the disease two days ago and set off a scare that the plague, which wiped out three quarters of Europe's population in the 14th century, might be loose.

Twelve persons, including the scientist's widow and his daughters, age 15 and 11, were quarantined in their homes. The remaining 30 are ambulance attendants and staff members at the hospital that treated 44-year-old George Bacon, who was stricken Sunday and died Wednesday. They have been vaccinated and are working under observation.

All will be given daily doses of antibiotics until the danger period ends in the next 10 days, officials said.

Dr. Frederick Lishman, medical officer of health for Salisbury, said, "We are satisfied that all contacts have been found. I am satisfied that there is no reason to expect anything like an epidemic. But one cannot rule out the possibility of one or possibly two secondary cases."

Health officials conducted a widespread search for all persons who were in contact with Bacon to prevent a possible epidemic. Two school girls who had visited the Bacon household Monday were traced to Libya.

Bacon was a research officer at Britain's principal germ warfare research center at Porton Downs in Wiltshire and was reported working on pneumonic and bubonic plague projects.

A few ounces of some germs handled at the 17-year-old center are virulent enough to wipe out whole populations. Part of the center's work is designed to find means of combatting possible enemy germ war attacks.

The War Office announced the cause of death Friday as pasteurella pestis, or the pneumonic plague. It said the circumstances had not been determined and ordered an investigation.

Pneumonic and bubonic plagues were popularly lumped together as the Black Death, which swept Europe in the Middle Ages. Pneumonic plague is the more infectious of the two and attacks the lungs. It is spread primarily through the air. Bubonic is the more common and is usually transferred to man by infected fleas and from diseased rats.

The last plague epidemic in England was during 1664-5, when about 60,000 persons were killed in London alone.

The U.S. Public Health Service said two plague deaths were reported last year in New Mexico. One wasa listed as bubonic, the other simply as plague.

with this policy because until the present situation arose we were not aware that they were visiting the post and going into construction areas to talk with contractors and workers. Now that we are aware of the situation we have taken steps to stop it and to require these union representatives to conduct their business thru the same channels that we ask other people to observe."

Altho the union officials have stated that no strike procedures have been instituted against Ft. Carson or the contractors working at this installation, that they are simply "advertising" against alleged "unfair labor practices etc". Certain trade unions have refused to cross the "advertising" lines and have therefore stopped work at Ft. Carson. Ft. Carson officials said that in some instances this work stoppage has created "health and welfare problems for personnel at Fort Carson and has caused certain traffic hazards and safety problems." They said a local plumbing firm stopped repair work on a leaking six - inch gas main. Work was also stopped on rehabilitation of water lines in several barracks buildings, leaving the occupants of those buildings without water and forcing a move to other quarters. Work was halted on a project that involved digging up O'Connell Boulevard, one of Ft. Carson's main thoroughfares, thus closing the street to traffic. The effect of the "advertising" at Ft. Carson, they said, has been almost the same as the calling of a general strike and the placing of pickets.

Queried about a reported statement concerning work being done at Ft. Carson that allegedly does not meet government specifications, Lt. Col. James Smiley, post engineer, said, "In all contracts it is sometimes necessary for the post engineer or his representative to point out to the contractor certain areas in which deviations from approved government specifications have been observed. In all instances where this is done the contractor, both union and non - union, has corrected or is correcting the deficiencies."

Ft. Carson officials expressed the hope that the current difficulties between certain non-union contractors employed at Ft. Carson and the union representatives of Colorado Springs will be quickly resolved so as to allow normal progression of work at the post.

Air-Conditioning Units Sell Well In Tropic Areas

NEW YORK (UPI)— When air conditioning units designed in the Iowa Corn Belt bob up at work in the dusty glare of Pakistan, Its a sign George C. Foerstner has been at work.

Foerstner is president of Amana Refgn. Inc., a multi- million dollar a year business that grew, primary under his direction, from a three-man operation, which built and sold a beer cooler in 1934. He is a firm believer in the opportunities of export trade— and thinks many US businessmen do not work hard enough at it.

He has reported export sales for the first half of 1962 were substantially ahead of those in the same period of 1961. Sales in the Mid-East and Africa showed the greatest increases, mostly in air conditioning units although sales of refrigeration and freezer combinations also rose in volume.

Foerstner, whose company has 90 outlets overseas, said the American businessman making sales abroad has to determine he will work hard and he's got to be willing to bend over a little bit.

Many who should be exporting give up the struggle too easily and without looking into the opportunities, he said.

"They're also running into competition with goods from plants financed and directed by American concerns — but located overseas. Why not build the stuff here and ship it, and provide employment and markets at home?"

"Also, this country has got to say to the people with plants overseas that 'you've got to pay taxes on what you make over there.'"

The Amana refrigeration products are not in the low - priced area. Foerstner calls them quality products and decries some of the competitive tactics in he electrical appliance field.

"The appliance industry is full of smart people doing silly things," he observed tartly.

Explaining why Amana had stayed out of the low-priced field, employes at Amana point to the long radition of careful craftsmanship in the area where the industry was born.

Farm Product Prices Reported Unchanged

DENVER (UPI) — Prices received by Colorado farmers and ranchers for their products remained unchanged during the period beeginning June 15 and ending July 15, the Colorado Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

Price increases for wheat, corn, barley, grain sorghum, wild hay, hogs, sheep, eggs and butterfat were offset by lower prices for oats, dry beans, rye, calves, lambs, wool and chickens, the service report said.

Commodity prices remained the same as those of the previous month, including prices on beef, cattle, milk cows, wholesale milk and alfalfa hay.

The report said the combined level of field crop priecs showed a slight increase over that of a month ago.

Livestock and livestock product prices declined slightly from June 15, the report said, but prices remained unchanged for beef cattle, chickens and wholesale milk.

Mid-July farm product prices compared to a year ago showed 13 were higher, six lower and two unchanged.

Some Insect Bites Cause More Deaths Than Snakes'

By THE COLORADO MEDICAL SOCIETY

Nearly everyone is aware of the summertime danger of poisonous snakes — rattlesnakes in this part of the country — but insects actually are a greater hazard to life.

Insects of the bee-wasp family and spiders, principally the black widow, cause nearly twice as many deaths in the United States as venomous snakes.

No need to be alarmed or frightened. Just cautious. Especially if there is any indication of allergy sensitivity.

A detailed study of deaths from venomous snakes and insects over a five-year period shows that the hymenoptera order of insects — bees, wasps, hornets, yellow jackets and ants — caused 40 per cent of the fatalities and spiders added another 18 per cent, compared with 33 per cent for snakes. The remaining nine per cent of cases included victims of poisonous marine animals and organisms.

The hazard is not large statistically, only about 43 deaths per year in the nation as a whole. But altho fatal insect bites do not constitute a major medical problem, it is believed to be a greater problem than most people, including doctors, realize.

Many deaths, it is suspected, are not recognized for what they are: an overwhelming shock reaction (anaphylactic shock) triggered in an allergic individual by the venom of the insect or spider. Too often the insect bite is not recopnized as a cause.

The bite of a hymenoptera insect is likely to be much more quickly fatal than that of the most venomous snake. The allergic reaction is so violent and rapid that 88 per cent of fatalities occur within one hour, usually within 25 to 30 minutes, and 96 per cent within five hours. By contrast, 70 per cent of persons killed by snakebite lived six to 48 hours.

Spider bites also are slower. The spider venom, believed to spread via the lymphatic system, requires several hours to reach full toxic effect. About 65 per cent of spider victims lived 18 hours to 7 days.

Deaths from venomous insects and snakes have been reported from 34 of the continental 48 states Fortunately, Colorado's death rate is among the lowest The rate is highest in Arizona, Texas, Wyoming, California, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, Kentucky, Alabama and Arkansas.

Deaths from the hymenoptera insects have occurred in 29 states, and again the mountain states have the lowest death rate. It's highest in the South Central states — Kentucky, Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi — probably because of the prevalence of winged stinging insects in that region.

Spider deaths are reported from 16 states, with the greatest number from Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The Lacterodectus is considered the only truly poisonous spider in the United States, altho the bite of a tarantula may be painful. The principal Lacterodectus is the black widow (Laterodectus mactans), which, with its two close relatives, is found in every state. The female is the major killer. She can be recognized by an orange hour-glass marking on the belly of her dark grey or black body.

Old Doc Experience advises:

1. If you are an allergic-type person, give bees, wasps and hornets a wide berth.

2. Watch out for black widow spiders, especially between May and October. Because of their life cycle, they become more numerous in late summer and fall. Even in the winter, they can be a hazard in warm basements. Generally, black widows like the area around foundations and in window wells, or around outdoor privies and tree stumps.

3. Seek immediate medical aid for any black widow bites. Reaction to the nerve poison in the venom may be slow, but it requires treatment. Symptoms at first may be only a local reaction of pain, redness, itching or swelling. Later there will be back and leg ache, and finally a rigidity of the abdomen which sometimes is mistaken for conditions requiring surgery.

4. If you cannot get to a doctor immediately, first aid for a black widow bite is the same as that for a rattlesnake bite Apply a tourniquet of the venom. Then vent spread of the venom. Then cut thru the bit with a cross-shaped incision to cause bleeding. Apply suction to remove as much of the poison as possible. Meantime, summon or go to medical aid.

5. The sting of a bee, wasp, hornet or ant in an allergic individual requires emergency medical aid with no delay. Minutes count.

6. But most insect bites in the Rocky Mountain region are not especially serious. They are merely annoying, painful or uncomfortable, except as they may carry disease or cause infection.

7. Mountain region mosquitoes do not carry malaria, altho in rare cases they have been known to cause encephalitis, a brain and spinal cord disease. The deer fly, common in the mountains, has a painful bite that draws blood. Mostly, deer fly bites are not serious, but they have been known to cause tularemia and encephalitis. Horse flies can't bite; stable flies can. But you have to be an expert to tell the difference — unless you're bitten. The only real danger is infection from the bite.

8. The flat, round woodtick is a carrier of Colorado Tick and Rocky Mountain Spotted Fevers and can in rare cases cause tick paralysis. Remove any tick carefully, and be sure you get all of him, including his head, which may be embedded in the skin. Ticks are common thruout the mountain region, and their "season" of activity is later the higher you go. To help aoid them, wear dark clothing and tuck your pants legs into your shoes.

9. Good insect repellents are available. Use them if you're in an area where the bugs are numerous or annoying. Insecticides can get rid of black widows and other spiders and insects, but use them with care. The chemicals in them are at least as dangerous as the spider venom.

10. Very few Coloradoans go thru a summer without one or more insect bites. There's no need to worry over them. Treat them with cleanliness and soothing lotions, with soap and water, with baking powder paste. But if the swelling persists, or there's a lot of itching, pain or swelling, see your doctor. Children often infect harmless insect bites by scratching them. Again, soap and water and something to minimize the itching.

Ractis Political Appeal Charged In Michigan

DETROIT (AP)—A publication which has been urging support of Wayne County Negro candidates for Congress was censured by the Michigan Fair Campaign Practices Commission here for racist appeal.

The commission cited the Illustrated News, a Negro tabloid weekly which has been published since October.

The publication has appealed for votes for three Negro Democratic candidates in Tuesday's primary election.

"There is no question," the commission said, "that these appeals are racist, that they descend to a level of campaigning that has no place in the American electoral process."

The commission, headed by the Rt. Rev. Marshall R. Reed, Methodist Bishop of Michigan, was joined in the denunciation by Negro leaders.

The paper was defended by its editor, Henry Cleage, an attorney, and his brother, the Rev. Albert B. Cleage Jr., pastor of Central Congregational church and a contributing editor. The Cleages are Negroes.

Henry Cleage denied the racism charge and called the commission's action "well-meaning but ridiculous."

Congress Is in No Rush to Vote Cut In Income Taxes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Congress is in no rush to vote for an election-year tax cut because—among other things—tax cuts no longer seem to pay political dividends.

The lawmakers are divided about the wisdom of tax reduction to inject more vigor into the economy, but few are eager for a tax bill just because an election is coming up Nov. 6.

Neither political party has found any political benefit in the tax cuts enacted since World War II. The Democrats put through the first one late in 1945 and lost control of both the House and Senate in the 1946 elections.

The Republican 80th Congress had to struggle to put its tax law in effect. Two bills were passed in 1947. Both were vetoed by President Truman and both vetoes were sustained. Another Republican tax bill was passed in 1948 and Truman's veto was overridden, but Truman was returned to the White House and the Democrats were restored to control of Congress in the 1948 elections.

Republicans have long boasted that their 1953-54 Congress gave the country the greatest tax reduction in history. Yet they lost control of Congress in the 1954 elections and stayed in the minority through the last six years of the Eisenhower administration.

These footnotes do not prove that tax cuts lose elections but they do show that tax reduction does not insure victory either.

The GOP attitude now is that a quickie tax cut is not the economic drug needed. Long-range tax reform is necessary, they say, coupled with reduction in federal spending.

Congressional opponents of tax reduction this year had their backs stiffened by last week's Gallup poll indicating 72 per cent of the voters oppose a tax cut which would add to the national debt.

Democrats are becoming sensitive to Republican charges of "fiscal irresponsibility" and many would like to be spared from casting a vote on a tax cut this summer.

Although both the AFL-CIO and the U. S. Chamber of Commerce are advocating tax reduction this year, congressional mail indicates no public clamor for it.

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N. Y., who favors a 1962 tax cut, received only 46 letters on the issue during all of July—seven for and 39 against—from his populous state. At the same time, he received 585 letters—10 for and 575 against—the administration proposal for a withholding tax on interest and dividends.

The Democrats and the Kennedy administration could benefit next November from a tax cut if it gave the country an economic lift. Republican campaign seers now view the sluggish economy as the biggest single factor working for them in the coming campaign.

Man Suffers Cut Lip In Two-Car Collision

A two - car collision in the 1200 block of North Union Boulevard Friday night resulted in a cut lip for Edgar Bertel Nelson, 39, of 2157 Pleasant Dr., driver of one of the cars.

Police Officer Roy Stanley reported that Nelson was taken to Penrose Hospital by E and E Ambulance, treated and released.

Stanley said the car of Robert James Booth, 72, of 1212 N. Cascade Ave., made a left hand turn off Unitah Street onto Union Boulevard when it was struck by the northbound Nelson car.

Stanley said that Booth told him he stopped for the stop sign and entered the intersection when he saw no traffic approaching.

Nelson said that he was northbound in the left lane of traffic when the other car cut in front of him and he struck it on the rear fender and bumper.

Booth was ticketed for taking the right of way, and Nelson for reckless and careless driving.

An age span of 83 years is registered in a family now gathered in Colorado Spring at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Crosby of 2022 Eagle View Dr. for its first reunion.

F. E. Jeffers of Wheaton, Ill., 85, tops the list as oldest member of the family, while 2-year-old Deborah Botterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Botterman of Cleveland, O., is the youngest.

The family of 14 come to Colorado Springs Friday for a busy four - day round of sightseeing trips and parties, which began Friday night with a trip to the Flying W Ranch and a chuck wagon dinner.

On Saturday the family took the Mt. Manitou Incline trip, went horseback riding in the Garden of the Gods and visited the Cave of the Winds. They will attend early church at the First Methodist Church this morning and this afternoon will see the Cripple Creek melodrama, arriving back here for dinner.

On Monday they will take the Pikes Peak Cog Railway trip and tour the Air Force Academy, returning Monday night for a farewell dinner at the Broadmoor Hotel.

Meeting them for dinner will be Mr. and Mrs. Bernie B. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Doughty, Mr. and Mrs. John Yeonopolus, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Pelican, all associated with Colorado Interstate Gas Company, and Mr. and Mrs. August V. Dufour of Manitou Springs.

The family members include Mr. and Mrs. Crosby; Mr. and Mrs. Botterman, Deborah and Bob; Mrs. James L. Crosby, Mrs. Ernest L. Burrows, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Jeffers II, and son, Jeffie, 11, all of Glen Ellyn, Ill.; F. E. Jeffers I, Mr. and Mrs. George Novak, Homer Jeffers, Jeffers, and Miss Dorothy Jeffers, all of Wheaton, Ill.

Black and White Dog Sought for Biting Boy

Police and Humane Society officials searched without result the five - block length of Marion Drive Saturday afternoon for a black and white dog that was reported to have bitten a 15-year-old boy.

Police Officer Donald Ranney said that Donald W. Herbst, 3009 Palmer Park Blvd., told him that the dog ran into the street and bit him when he rode by on his motor scooter.

Herbst, who was treated at St. Francis Hospital for the bite which was on his right ankle, was unable to give the exact location on Marion Dr. where the incident occurred, Ranney said.

No Trouble When Comics Meet on Set for Movie

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—What happens when you throw a bunch of comics together for a long period?

Laughs? Yes, there are plenty of those.

Feuds? Oddly, no. At least not yet.

This is the situation after one third of the shooting of "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World," Stanley Kramer's marathon comedy. It will be filming until Oct. 31—significantly, Halloween — so there is hope that excitement may still occur.

I visited the set on the first day, when all the comedians were working together and found everything amazingly quiet. Kramer was filming the end of the script, where the comics finish their long quest for buried treasure. The scene: An idyllic cliff overlooking the Pacific at Portuguese Bend.

The first fellow I met was Mickey Rooney, who testified: "Trouble? Not a bit. There are too many pros here for that."

Just then Milton Berle strided up and took a swing at Rooney. There was a smacking sound and Rooney recoiled backwards with three swoops of his arms.

"Marvelous, that backstroke!" said Berle. Startled onlookers then realized that the pair had been testing a "take," the sound effect coming from the slap of Berle's hand against Rooney's.

Everyone was waiting for the reluctant sun to make an appearance (also for Spencer Tracy, who didn't show). So the comics sat around in a circle and the gags ricocheted like billiard balls. They came too fast for recording, but I was able to draw some conclusions.

Phil Silvers is the benign needler. He dropped the remark that he was discussing his billing with Kramer. That caused his fellow artists to be concerned about their billing until they discovered his ruse.

Berle admits to being "the Thief of Badgags" and hurls them in all directions, while keeping a close eye on what is going on.

Rooney is inclined to be reflective, not trying to compete with the swifties of Silvers and Berle.

Moonfaced Buddy Hackett occasionally lets out a wiry remark that convulses everyone. Introspective Sid Caesar listens amusedly to the others, seldom says anything. Another young comic, Dick Shawn, also lets the machine-gun comics have the play. Britisher Terry-Thomas articipates very little.

All this held true until the arrival of Jonathan Winters. He was a surprise and revelation. When he came into the group with his big frame enveloped in a khaki coverall, everyone listened with awe. He continued talking, switching from one character voice to another and throwing in sound effects, and left his listeners howling.

"This guy is improvising," said Berle admiringly. "He could be the funniest man alive if he knew when to stop," added Silvers. "If he could just discipline his talent, he'd be the greatest," agreed Rooney.

To try to get some order out of the chaos, I asked the comics for the stars that make them laugh most. All rebelled at being pinned down to one choice, arguing that there are all kinds of comedians. But I persisted.

Charlie Chaplin was the choice of Berle and Shawn. Silvers and Hackett picked W. C. Fields. Rooney took Jackie Gleason and Winters chose Laurel and Hardy. Caesar just sat there and shook his head.

Two Springs Men Enlist in Air Force

William E. Endreson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Endreson, 729 N. Institute St., and Raul Martin Melano, son of Mrs. Genoveva Melano, 1929 S. El Paso Ave., recently enlisted in the U. S. Air Force.

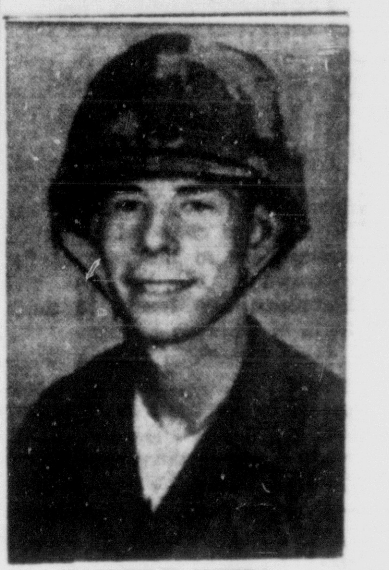
Both men will undergo basic military training at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex., according to T. Sgt. Bruce S. Adams, local Air Force recruiter.

Following basic training they will be sent to an Air Force technical school or to a duty assignment for on-the-job training in an Air Force speciality.

Both Endreson and Melano chose the career based upon the results of Air Force aptitude tests taken prior to enlistment.

Endreson is a graduate of Palmer High School and Raul, a native of El Paso, Tex., attended Jesuit High School in that city.

Vieira Finishes Combat Training



JOSEPH F. VIEIRA

Marine Pvt. Joseph F. Vieira, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Vieira, Route 2, Colorado Springs, Friday completed four weeks of individual combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

The training, conducted by the Second Infantry Training Regiment, is part of that undergone by all Marines before they join the fleet Marine Force.

During the training, emphasis is placed on tactical matters. Learning the field and combat skills, the Marines prepare to take their places small fighting units, four-man fire teams and the 13-man squads.

Black Forest Boy Cut On Knee in Accident

Allen Hutton, 14, Black Forest, suffered a cut on his right knee Saturday afternoon when the car in which he was riding struck another car in the rear at the intersection of Burgess and Templeton Gap Roads, 13 miles north of Colorado Springs.

State Patrolman Nathan Boals reported that Hutton was a passenger in a car driven by Robert D. McAfee, 21, Dewar, Okla. when it struck the car of Henry F. Potthoff, 20, Palisade, Neb.

Boals said that both vehicles were northbound, and the Pothoff car had stopped at a stop sign prior to the collision.

Hutton was teated at the scene.

Limits of Space Debated by U.S. Bar Association

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Where does the atmosphere end and where does outer space begin?

Those questions were raised today before the American Bar Association's section of international and comparative law.

"I would prefer not to approach this problem as being that of the finding of where outer space begins," said John A. Johnson, general counsel for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"The primary question is not where outer space begins but where the upward reach of the exclusive power of the underlying state ends."

Johnson, in a prepared address, said the issue may become important on the flat re-entry courses of astronauts requiring flights of 7,000 to 10,000 miles at altitudes of 25 to 60 miles over the earth's surface.

Johnson observed that astronauts John H. Glenn Jr. and Scott M. Carpenter made their re-entries after three orbital flights mainly over the high seas or American territory.

But in future space explorations, Johnson said it will become neccessary to know in advance whether any portion of the re-entry phase violates the territorial air space of another state because of the altitude at which its land or territorial waters will be overflown.

"It appears that the existing state of law is that we have an area of space extending upward from the surface of the earth for an indefinite distance, which is exclusively controlled by the underlying state," Johnson said.

"Above that, beginning at some undefined point, lies the free realm of outer space.

"Whether there is or should be an intermediate third realm to which the exclusive power of the underlying state does not extend, but in which the full freedom of outer space may not be enjoyed is an interesting item for speculation."

Johnson said the eventual solution of this problem will be essentially political in nature.

"If this problem is to be solved, it will be done on the basis of accommodation of the political interests of the states concerned and not on the basis of scientific or technological criteria," he said.

"It is of little value to speak of the freedom of outer space if man cannot travel freely to that realm and freely back to earth."

Portable Television Set Stolen From Home

B. Donald Smith Jr., 82 Marland Rd., told officials of the sheriff's office Saturday that a 17 - inch portable television set which he valued at $125 was stolen from his house Tuesday.

Smith said the theft occurred during the afternoon while he was absent. He said that entry to the house was made thru the unlocked front door, and the set was stolen in haste because the television cord had been ripped from the set and left in the house.

AUDUBON

A highly successful Space Week at Audubon featured contests and a pet show. In the boys moon race Ralph Stoddard was first, David Bates, second and David Rhodes, third. Susan Blumenstein, Caroline Slanina and Cathy Kizk were winners in the girls moon race. Cathy Kizk was first in the flying saucer throw, while Ralph Stoddard and Cheryl Myers were second and third. Caroline Slanina placed first in both the moon shot and space hoop and Ralph Stoddard, Stratton Hicky and Sandra Johnson were second and third place winners. In the space pet show the following received recognition: Larry Frost, Mike Johnson, Joyce Upshaw, Patricia Wendt, Sandra Porterfield, Debbie Handley, Sandra Johnson, and Becky Doerffel.

BONNY

Crafts done by children at Bonny will be on display at Bon Shopping Center from Monday until Friday. The softball team was "skunked" in the game with Thorndale, but will try to make a come - back against Audubon and Boulder this week. All those that went to the Rock Climbing Demonstration given by Ft. Carson learned about rock climbing.

BOULDER

An exciting week at Boulder was ended by a trip to the Air Force Academy last week. On a miniature golf course built by Boulder children, Slugger Barrows placed first, Lee Zenck second, and Willie Ward third. The Boulder softball team slaughtered Longfellow, 33 to 5, and Thorndale, 14 to 0.

BUENA VISTA

Pets were in the news at Buena Vista. Proud owners of winning animals were Steve Christopher, dogs; John Summers, first place cast; Jane Summers, turtles; Maureen Christopher, hampsters. In Sports Day events winners of the 50 - yard dash were John Summers, Donna Keime and Barb Ott, Dale Keime and Irene Dollar. Running broadjumpers were Steve Darr and Virginia Recob. Best throwers of a softball were John Summers, Jane Summers and Randy Newton. Ricky Barcelon and Jane Summers won in the kickball contest.

CONEJOS

June and Wade Exum and Robert and Curtis Wiley proved to be the winning combinations in the Knights win over Pike, 17 to 3. A treat for the park was a picnic at Austin Bluffs complete with eats, games, and hiking.

HELEN HUNT

Special visitors at Helen Hunt were Stan Watkins and John Trujillo, who gave pointers to softball players on pitching and fielding. Tile bracelets, lanyards, and four - square are currently rated high at this playground.

MIDLAND

PIKE

A space capsule built from cardboard by Pike children was in keeping with Space Week last week. It finally blasted off Friday in a high wind which sent it down - range before it could be caught. Wilber Meirer's huge beetle caused quite a sensation as well as a snake that wandered onto the grounds.

QUEEN PALMER

The art work of Terrie Williams was judged as excellent in an art contest held at Palmer. Brad Malin and Kathy Atkins were second and third in that order. Kalah champ was Debbie Malin and champ at checkers is Gary Bloomfield.

THORNDALE

After winning a softball game over Bonny (8 to 2), the fast-moving Thorndale team lost to Boulder by the scorching score of 16 to 0. Boulder must have razzled-daggled the Thorndaleites! More games are scheduled for the team. Steve Yates was the winner of the glider contest.

CERAMICS CLASS

A class in ceramics for playground children was taught the last two weeks at Memorial Park Recreation Center. The children expressed their creative talents by working with both modeling clay and slip clay. Many projects were made, some of which will be on display with the playground crafts. The following boys and girls did an especially fine job in the class: Cindy Brandenburg, Shari Roberts, Rose Marie Warriner, Sharon Brassart, Cindy Roberts, Kent Brandenburg, Jack and Scott Hollister, Fred Drum, Rose Marie Vigil, Rose Ann Harp, Patricia Whitaker, Myla Thompson, Patty Brassart, Gary McCarty, and Albert and Larry Christianson. The instructor was Effa Mae Marker.

Three Persons Injured As Two Cars Collide

Three persons were injured in a two - car collision at the intersection of Cache la Poudre Street and Union Boulevard Saturday afternoon.

Police Officer James Coster reported that Donald E. Hathaway 10, of 710 E. Uintah St., and his brother Steven, 5, suffered minor face cuts when the car driven by their father Frank W. Hathaway, 27 struck the rear of the car of William Ernest Baldridge, 60, of 828 N. Logan Ave.

Coster said that Baldridge suffered a whiplashed neck and will seek medical attention later.

Coster reported that Hathaway told him that this sons began playing with the right door handle of the car and he took his eyes off the road for a second. When he looked back the car in front of him had stopped and it was too late to avoid the collision.

The Hathaway car left 27 feet of skid marks prior to the impact, Coster said. Hathaway was issued a ticket for careless driving.

Three Fire Calls In Ivywild Area; One to Apartment

The number "13" may be a lot of hokus - pokus to come people, but Ivywild - Cheyenne Fire Department members became believers Saturday when a rash of three fire broke out in their district in the span of four hours.

The department answered its first call at the Solar Vista Apartment at 12:33 p.m. This is the 13th year the department has been in operation and the Solar Vista fire was the 13th. Then the two fires followed it.

Ray Dorr, assistant chief, said that the fire apparently started in the utility room and "it could have got the whole apartment house had we been three minutes later in arriving."

The fire started in a room which housed a water heater in a third floor apartment. The fire burned thru the roof of the dwelling. The damage was to the roof and the Utility room. Much of the damage was from water and smoke.

An elderly woman, Mrs. D. J. Rockwell, who had been in ill health for a time, was taken to Penrose Hospital, where she was kept overnight for observation and was listed in good condition.

The second fire apparently began from an open gasoline can and spread into the attic of the home of Capt. D. G. Gumz of 1014 Skyway Park Blvd. There was quite a bit of damage in the garage but only slight damage to the attic. The family had moved in only recently.

The third fire was a trash fire in Cheyenne Canyon and was quickly extinguished.

Dorr said that 20 volunteers were used in the three fires and that the city sent out an aerial truck to the Solar Vista fire as did the Broadmoor Fire Department. Dorr also said that the firemen had just finished the service at the Solar Vista Apartments when the second call came in.

Teamsters Face Union Charge of Strike Foul-Up

DENVER (UPI)— Members of the Teamsters Union were accused by another union here of conspiring to beat down a strike.

The official publication of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union (OCAW) charged the Teamster members were conspiring with Mobil Oil Co. to take the steam out of an OCAW strike against the company. OCAW's headquarters are located in Denver.

The publicaion, "Union News," said Teamster Union members were doing work normally done by 150 members of OCAW Local 7-389 at Mobil Oil Co.'s Detroit marketing point.

The Detroit local charged "Mobil Oil Co. is engaged in an all-out effort to break a strike which they forced... Teamster Local 183 is assisting the company by driving through OCAW picket lines to pick up and deliver products to Mobil stations," the union paper said.

The union charged Mobil hired another company, employing Teamsters drivers, to do the work formerly done by the striking OCAW local.

Members of the OCAW local picketed Teamsters local headquarters and declared bitterly, "All the excuses in the world, built around legal hocus pocus, cannot justify a union member scabbing on another member."

An OCAW local is on strike against a Trenton, Mich., Mobil refinery and strike votes have been taken by employes of seven other Mobil refineries at Casper, Wyo.; Beaumont, Tex.; Augusta, Kan.; Ferndale, Wash.; East St. Louis, Ill.; Buffalo, N.Y., and East Chicago, Ind.

A strike deadline set for earlier this week was extended for an indefinite period so negotations could continue. About 3,500 union members were working without contracts.

At issue are contract provisions affecting job security.

Newsmen Blamed For Pressure in Prayer Reports

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Misunderstanding of the U.S. Supreme Court's decision barring the New York public school prayer stemmed mainly from pressure on newsmen to communicate the ruling rapidly with other decisions, says Associate Justice Tom C. Clark.

Clark, here for the American Bar Association convention, said the court's 6-1 verdict provoked the heaviest flow of critical mail in years. When news agencies began to interpret the decision later, the mail became favorable, he said.

The justice noted he was going against custom in commenting on a specific decision, but said he felt it was appropriate to deal with the prayer issue in an address he made to the Commonwealth Club Friday.

"Here was a state-written prayer circulated to state-employed teachers with instructions to have their pupils recite it in unison at the beginning of each school day," Justice Clark said.

"The Constitution says that the government shall take no part in the establishment of religion. No means no," he emphasized.

"As soon as the people learned that this was all the court decided—not that there could be no official recognition of a Divine Being or recognition on silver or currency of 'In God We Trust' or public acknowledgment that we are a religious nation—they understood the basis on which the court acted."

Clark pointed out that the decision came down with 15 other cases on the final day of the court's term.

"The news announcements were not complete, most of them reciting the content of this 22-word prayer and the fact that the court had held it unconstitutional for a teacher to have her pupils recite it."

Mistakes often happen in interpreting court opinions because of "the haste with which news agencies are obliged to cover our announcements," the justice said.

Since as many as a dozen opinions are given from the bench on the traditional Monday decision day, "the news media, naturally, are pushed even to get the result, much less the reasoning back of each judgment," Clark commented.

"The court might be blamed for this situation. One might ask why not spread the announcements over several days as do other courts.

"My only answer," he explained, "is that this would break the Monday tradition."

Governor to Delay Mental Health Report

DENVER (AP) — Gov. Steve McNichols plans to await completion of a federal evaluation study of Colorado's mental health program before completing any state report on conditions at the State Hospital at Pueblo, his office said today.

The announcement came in the absence of the governor, who was at Monte Vista attending the Ski-Hi Stampede.

The U.S. Public Health Service study will be completed in four to six weeks, the governor's office reported.

More Jews Live in New York Than in Israel

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

The American Jewish year book for 1962, published this week, estimates the Jewish population of the United States at 5,510,000.

About 42 per cent of America's Jews live in New York City and its suburbs, the year book reports. There are more Jews in the New York area (2,339,000) than in Israel (1,936,000).

Other facts and figures from the year book published jointly by the American Jewish Committee and the Jewish Publication Society:

There are currently more than 4,000 Jewish temple and synagogue congregations in the United States. At the turn of the century, there were 600.

Alaska has the smallest Jewish population of any state — 245 persons. California ranks second to New York with 572,850, and Pennsylvania is third with 454,130.

World Jewish population now totals about 12.5 million. The United States has more Jews than any other country. The Soviet Union ranks second with 2,3?5,000, with Israel in third place.

Seven Ministers Join Strike Line in Denver

DENVER (UPI)— Seven ministers joined the picket line outside the downtown Denver Dry Goods Co. store last week.

The East Denver Ministerial Alliance took sides with the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) group by putting the ministers on the picket line. CORE has picketed the store since July 14, claiming Denver Dry had "refused sales and office jobs to many qualified applicants simply because of color, race or national origin."

American Protestants contributed more than $170 million to foreign missions last year, according to a survey conducted by the Interdenominational Foreign Missions Association.

The survey shows that U.S. protestant bodies are currently maintaining more than 28,000 missionaries around the world. The Southern Baptist convention has the largest contingent — 1,468.

Other major missionary-sending bodies are the Seventh Day Adventists, with 1,450; the United Presbyterians, 1,269; the Methodist Church, 1,146; and the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 860.

Leaders of major Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches in 80 countries will assemble in Paris next Tuesday (Aug. 7) for a 10-day meeting of the central committee of the World Council of Churches.

The central committee is the top policy-making body of the World Council, which represents 197 denominations with some 300 million members. It will consider a number of problems of joint concern to the churches, including the nuclear arms race, the need for more theological seminaries in Asia and Africa, and ways to stimulate more grass roots participation in the Christian Unity movement.

The committee also will act on an invitation from the Catholic Church for the World Council to send official observers to the forthcoming Vatican Council in Rome.

The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes in Alaska was discovered only 46 years ago by a National Geographic Society expedition headed by Dr. Robert F. Griggs.

Campanella Stepson Sentenced to Jail

GLEN COVE, N.Y. (AP)—The stepson of former Brooklyn Dodgers catcher Roy Campanella has been sentenced to 90 days in the Nassau County Jail for fist fighting.

"It's time you began to meet your responsibilities," City Court Judge Joseph Muldoon said Friday in sentencing David Campanella, 19.

The youth twice before had been adjudged a juvenile delinuent. It was his first jail sentence.

The youth engaged in a fight early on the morning of July 20 in a parking lot outside Glen Cove Community Hospital.

The teen-ager first got into trouble in 1955, when he was arrested in a street fight in New York City. Later the same year he was placed on probation for the burglary of a drugstore.

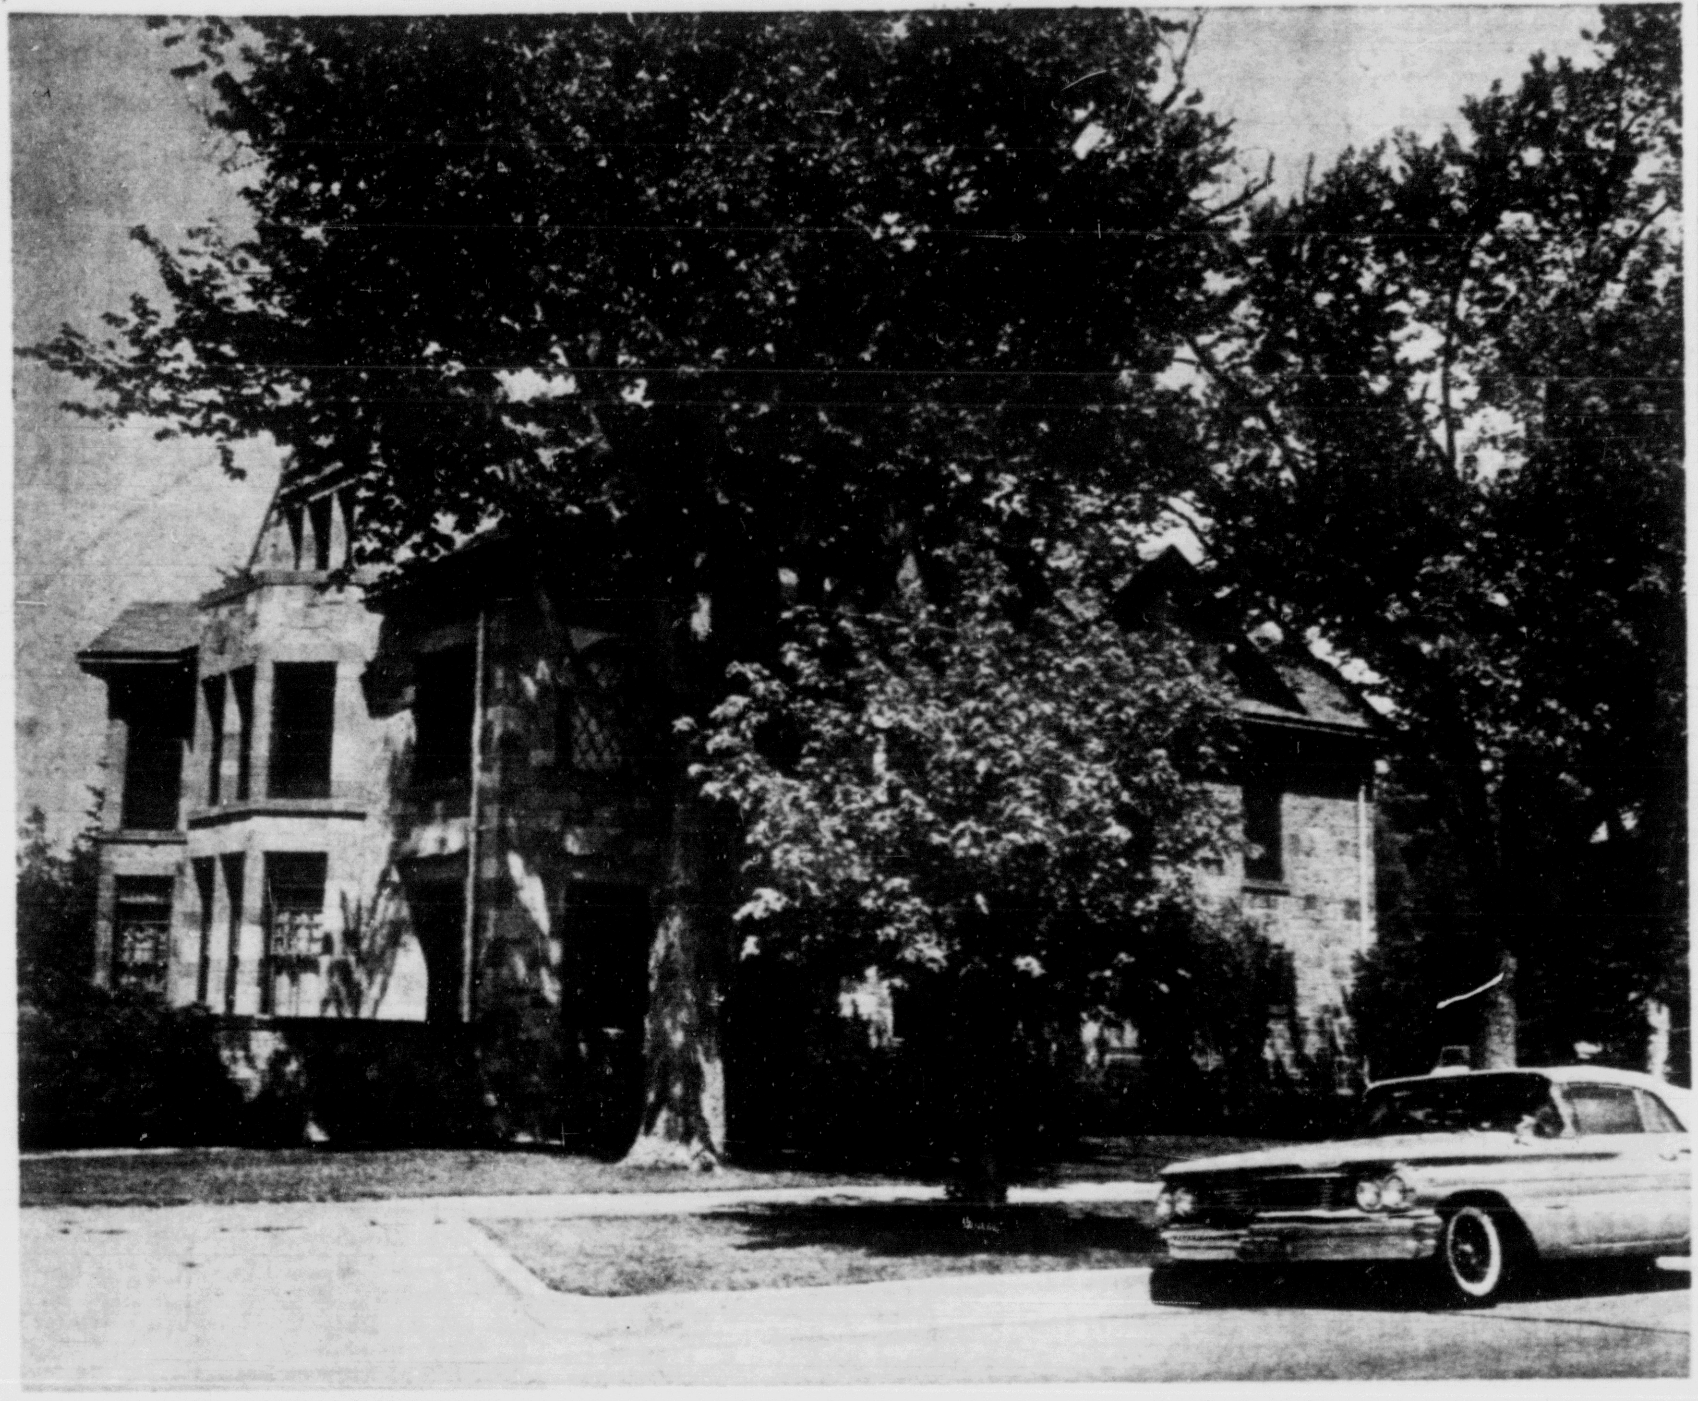
Edgeplain, Springs Landmark, Sold to College for $75,000



EDGEPLAIN — This 22-room mansion at 1106 N. Nevada Ave., has been sold to Colorado College by its owners, Mrs. Homa Wood of 52 Marland Rd. and Mrs. Harold A. Smart of Boulder City, Nev. Box elders and cottonwood trees hide the cornerstone of Edgeplain laid in 1880 by its original owners, the Lyman K. Bass family. The mansion was once the home of Chester Alan Arthur III, grandson of the 21st President of the U.S., and was the former home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaver, parents of Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Smart.

By DONNA LOGAN

Edgeplain, a Colorado Springs landmark which was once the home of Chester Alan Arthur III, grandson of the 21st President of the United States, has been sold by its present owners, Mrs. Homa Wood of 52 Marland Rd. and Mrs. Harold A. Smart of Boulder City, Nev., to Colorado College for a reported $75,000.

The college will take possession of the property Aug. 15.

A Colorado College official said that no specific plans have been made for the property. Its purchase is just a "logical step" in the college's long - range plans for general campus development.

According to Mrs. Wood, however, the mansion will be razed to make room for a college fraternity complex.

The estate lies just east of the school's fraternity housing development Colorado College already owns the properties on all three of the intersection's other corners.

The 22-room stone mansion, at 1106 N. Nevada Ave., was built in 1880 by Lyman K. Bass and thru the years has had a number of owners, including Arthur, who bought it in 1901 and owned it until 1922.

The parents of Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Smart, the John Roscoe Shavers, acquired the home in 1928 from Mrs. Fannie Abraham, and it has been owned by the Shaver family since then.

Shaver was a native of Montana who made a fortune in retailing, owning and operating the 45-store chain of Golden Rule stores in Washinghton, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, North Dakota and Minnesota. During the years he and Mrs. Shaver visited Colorado Springs frequently and decided to retire here. The Golden Rule chain was then bought by the J. C. Penney Company.

Mrs. Shaver, who was an avid gardener, landscaped the property with box elders, cottonwoods and mock orange hedges. She and her husband furnished the hand - picked pieces designed to enhance the beauty of Edgeplain's English architecture.

Many of the home's furnishings will be retained by Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Smart. The remainder of them will be sold Aug. 13 at the Ross Auction House, 123 S. Cascade Ave.

Among the handsome interior decorations is a huge wall tapestry of Flemish origin which depicts Hannibal upon his historic crossing of the Alps. The tapestry will be sold to an English art gallery, according to Mrs. Wood.

Other exquisite pieces are Meissen figurines, French bisque clock, a Chinese urn dating from one of the earliest Oriental dynasties, two signature statues by B. Lombardi made in Rome in 1868, and a P. J. Mene signature bronze piece of a stag at bay.

Edgeplain was named by its original owners, the Lyman K. Bass family, who built it in 1880. The home is mentioned frequently in a book by Mrs. Bass entitled, "Heritage of Years." It was the scene of many gatherings for society of "Little London," as Colorado Springs was known then. Count James Pourtales, developer of the Broadmoor, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Bass frequently, as was Gen. William Jackson Palmer, founder of Colorado Springs.

When Bass died, Gen. Palmer disposed of the property for Mrs. Bass. In 1901 a deed transferred the title from James C. Cornor to Chester Alan Arthur and Mrs. Arthur, who owned the home until 1922. Arthur sold the property then to Joe Abraham, whose widow, Fannie, transferred Edgeplain to the Shavers.

Both Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Smart lived in Colorado Springs as children and attended schools here. The sisters, who are twins, are 1928 graduates of Colorado College. Their cousin, Blevins Davis, is a former owner of the Trianon in Broadmoor, another Colorado Springs landmark.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Shaver, died in 1960 and since that time the house has not been lived in permanently.

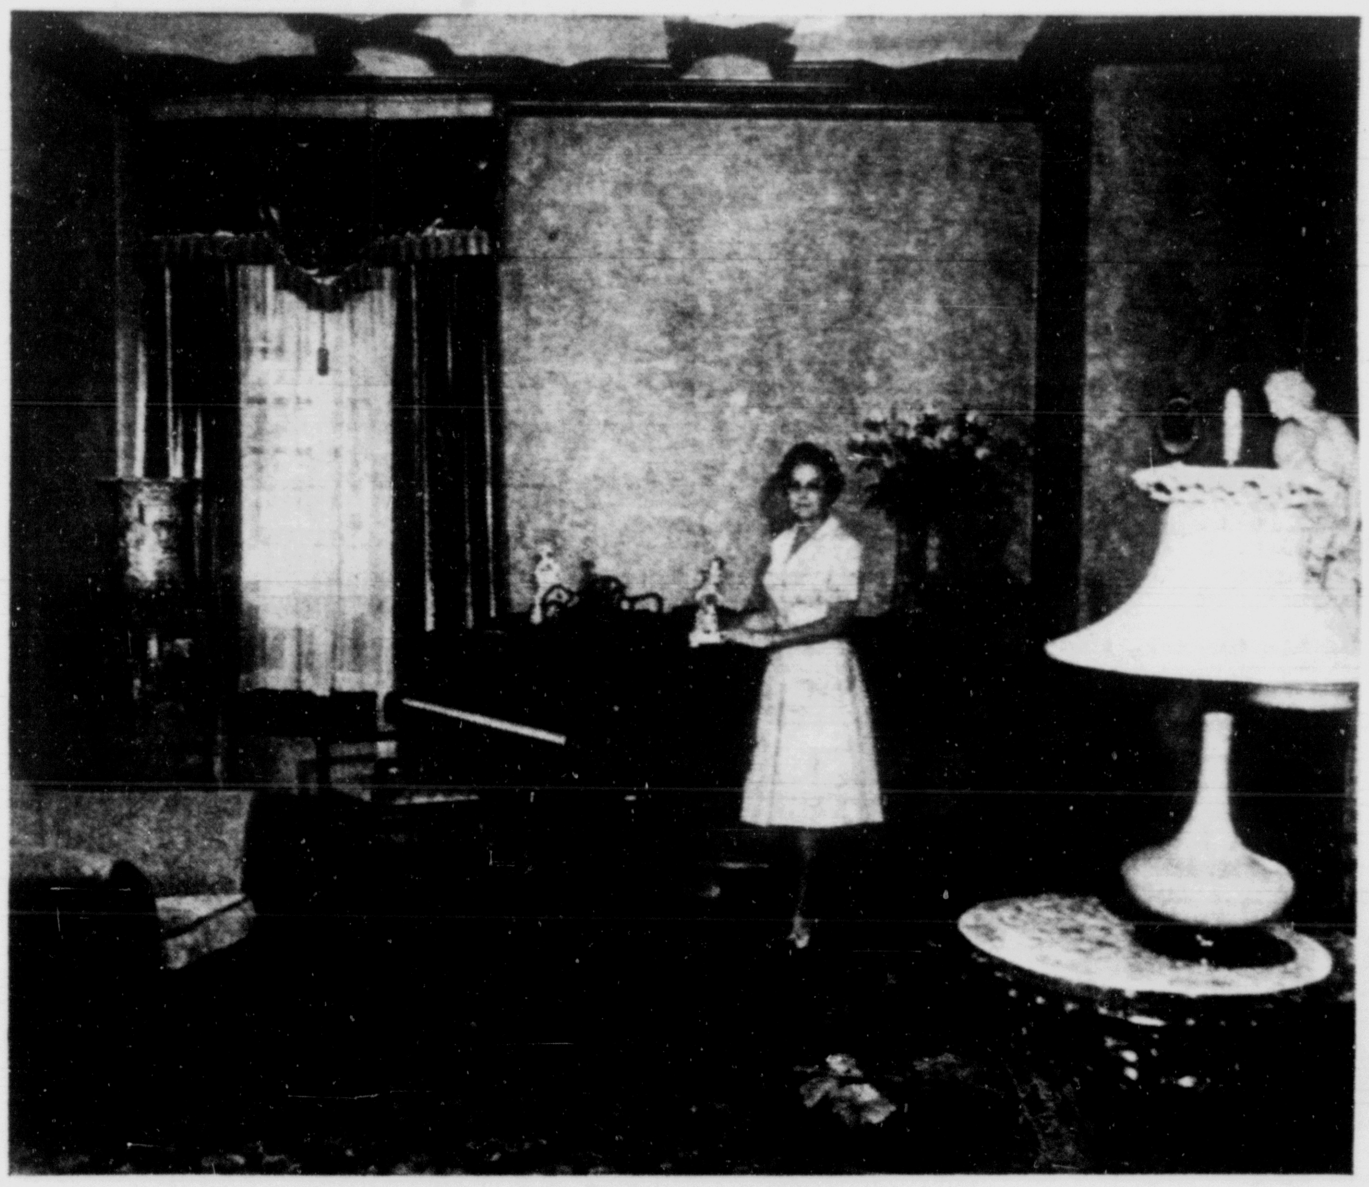
Ben Gahart Teaching Piano at CU Camp

Ben Gahart, 1121 N. Hancock Ave., is among 30 musicians from 19 schools in 10 states who named to the faculty of the University of Colorado's 10th annual High School Summer Music Camp being held on the Boulder campus.

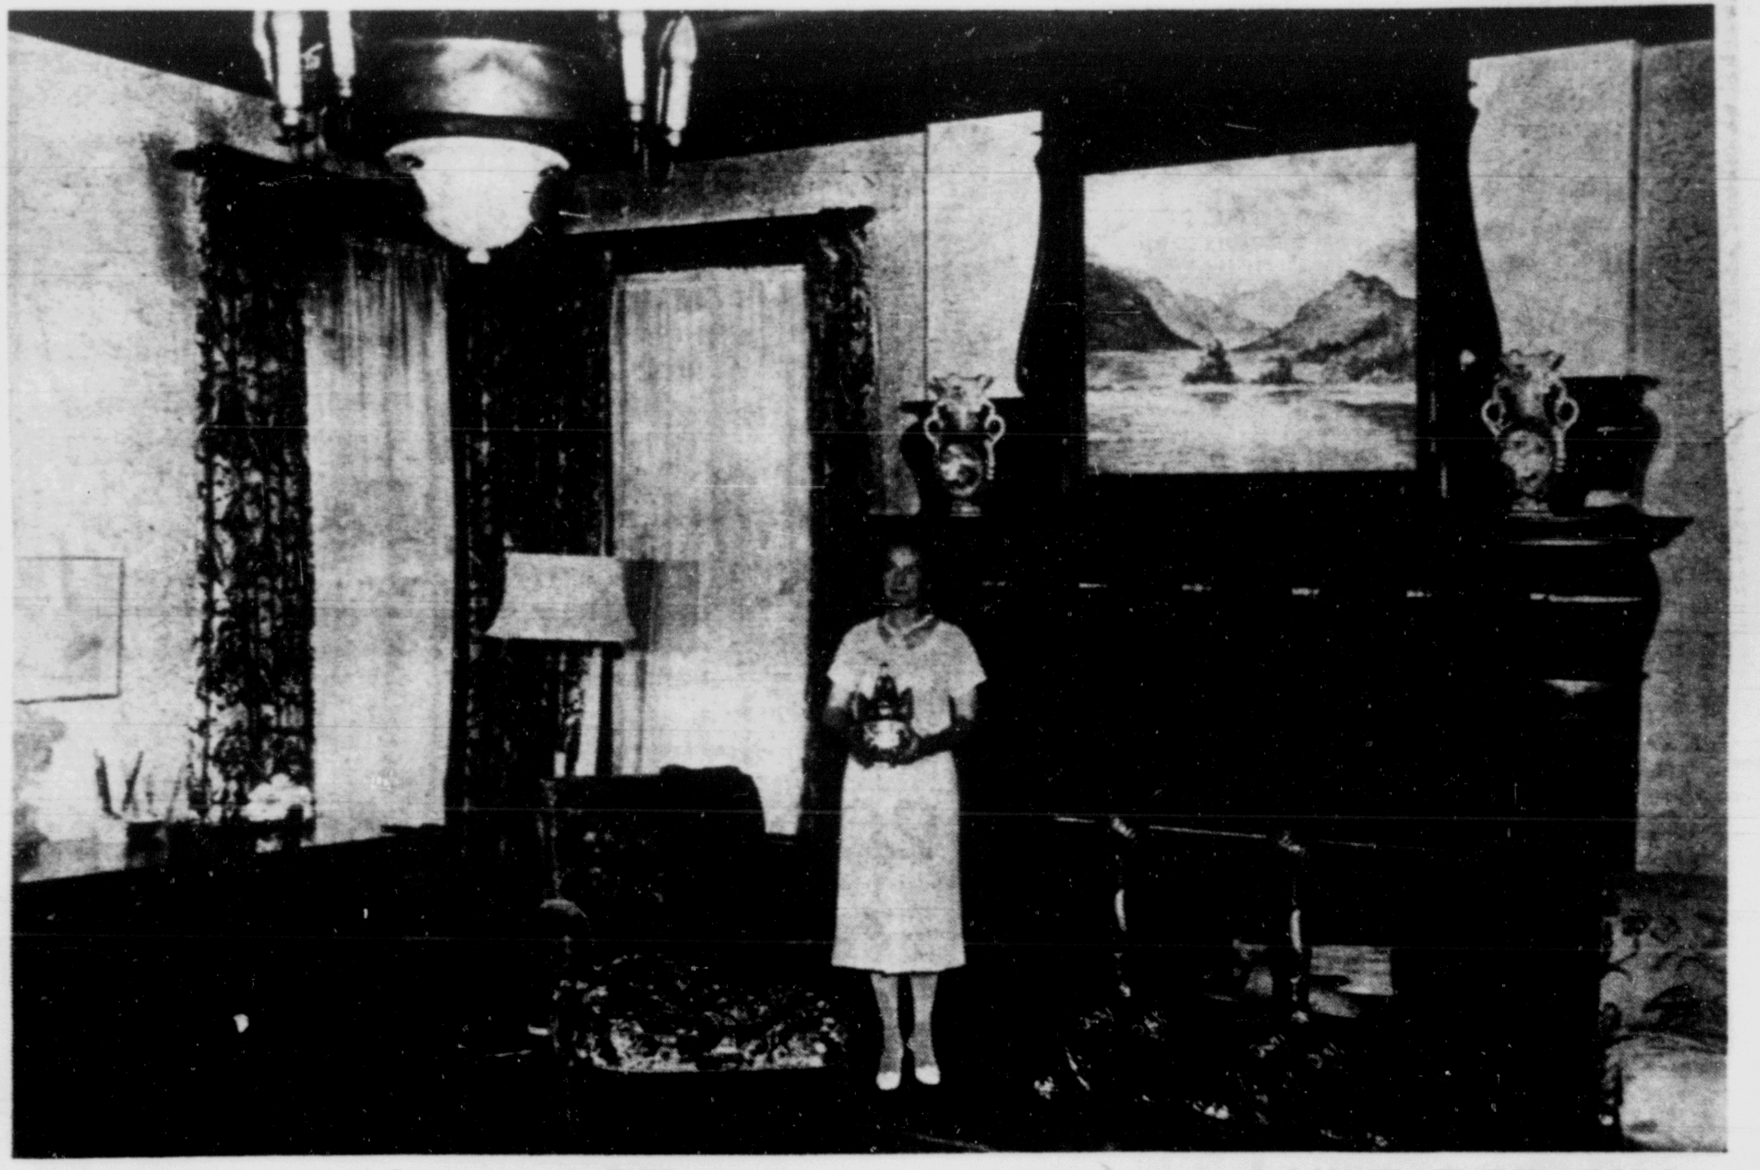
The camp opened Thursday and will continue thru next Sunday.

Gahart is one of these named to teach piano.

About 300 high school students from over the United States are taking the concentrated study. Charles Byers, assistant to the dean of the College of Music, is the camp director.



MUSIC ROOM — One of the earliest Chickering pianos manufactured, built an octave short, is the focal point of the music room located off the main entrance hallway. Mrs. Harold A. Smart of Boulder City, Nev., a daughter of Edgeplain's most recent owners, the late John Roscoe Shaver, displays one of several Meissen ware figurines. At left is a five-foot urn, imported from China and dating from the Ching dynasty.



DRAWING ROOM — Mrs Homa Wood, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Roscoe Shaver, is pictured in the ornate drawing room of Edgeplain. The house was purchased in 1928 by the Shavers and has remained in the family since that time. The Shavers carefully chose the interior furnishings, including the delicate porcelain vases on the mantel and the exquisite Buddha figurine held by Mrs. Wood. Most of the pieces will be kept in the families of Mrs. Wood and her twin sister, Mrs. Harold A. Smart of Boulder City, Nev. The other furnishings will be disposed of at auction at the home Thursday.

60 Boys and Girls To Compete Today In Dress-Up Revue

Thirty boys and 30 girls will compete this afternoon in the annual Kiddies Dress - up Revue, to be held in Spencer Penrose Stadium in connection with the Kit Carson Riding Club's Jackpot Show.

The youngsters, all under 15, will compete for the titles of best-dressed working cowboy and best-dressed cowgirl.

The revue will be a portion of the kickoff for the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo, which begins Wednesday.

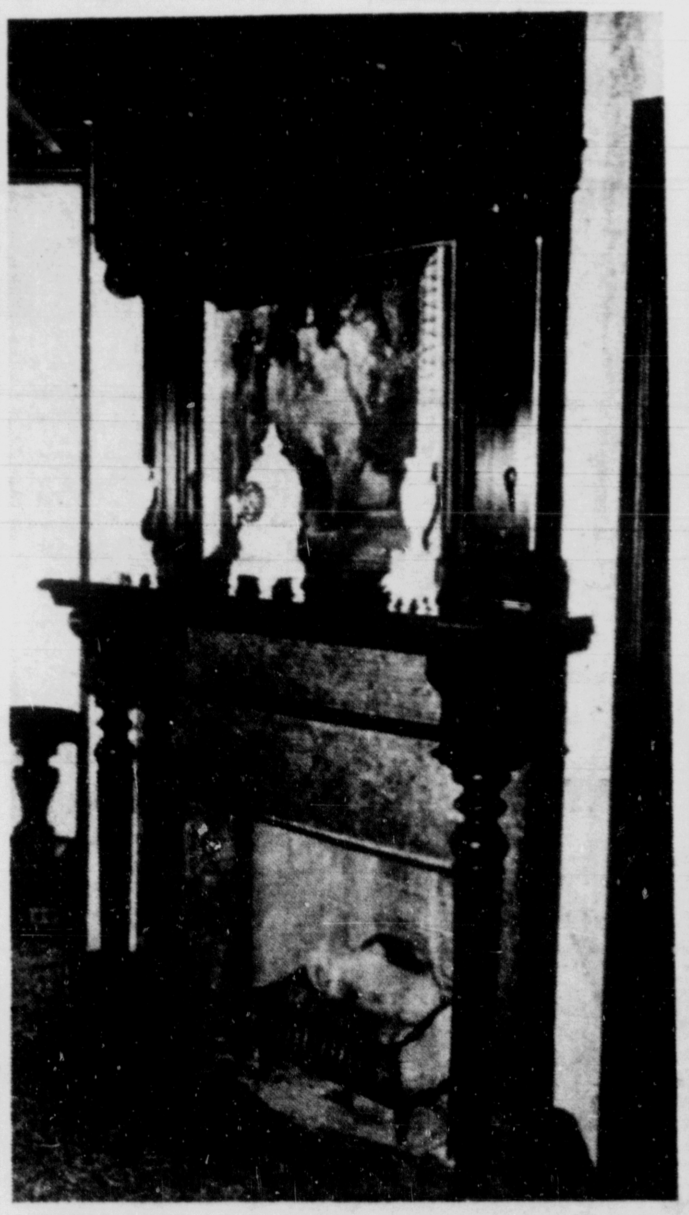
The 60 contestants were chosen in six eliminations around the area. Ten finalists, five boys and five girls, will be chosen today and will take part in the big rodeo parade next Thursday morning.

There will be one winner in each division with the other four being runners - up. All 10 will ride in a surrey in the parade. They will meet the surrey at the southwest corner of Moreno Avenue and Tejon Street.

The two winners will receive horse trophies. All 60 of the contestants already have won medals and ribbons in reaching the finals.

Missouri Ad Woman Visits GT Plant

Mrs. Dorine L. Dunn, advertising manager of the Osawatomie Mo., Graphic - News was a visitor of the Gazette Telegraph Saturday and was shown thru the plant.



FIREPLACE — One of Edgeplain's nine fireplaces is ceiling high and walnut-paneled. The mantel boasts a French bisque clock and figurine. Persian rugs are laid thruout the house.

Hitting Police Cruiser Results In Court Charge

Leonard Joseph Wickman, 38, of 2408 Shaw Ave. was charged by Colorado Springs police Saturday with drunk driving and damage to city property after his car rammed a police cruiser at 3000 W. Colorado Ave.

Wickman was traveling east on Colorado Avenue when his car went out of control, skidded 20 feet and struck the rear of the police car being driven by Patrolman William Grant Clarke, 24, of 1919 Downing Dr.

The patrolman was stopped in the traffic lane to assist a stalled motorist.

A passenger in the Wickman car, Dorothy N. Sills, of 35 W. Brookside St., complained of a bruised right arm and was released at the scene.

The accident happened about 1:30 a.m. Saturday. Wickman is to appear in Municipal Court Monday.

Trena Elaine Lewis Phi Beta Kappa Initiate

Trena Elaine Lewis, 823 N. Foote Ave., is one of six University of Denver seniors who will be initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society in ceremonies set for 3 p.m. Tuesday in the faculty lounge at DU's Mary Reed Library.

Miss Lewis is an elementary education major. She and the other initiates will receive degrees at the summer session commencement exercises Aug. 17.

Drill Teams Will Arrive Today for National Contest

Eleven championship drill teams of Civil Air Patrol cadets will arrive today at Peterson Field to compete at the 16th annual national drill contest at the Air Force Academy Wednesday.

Teams representing the eight regions of the United States and the three "overseas" wings come from: Pennsylvania, Florida, Michigan, Minnesota, Louisiana, Utah, Oregon, Alaska, Hawaii, Washington D. C. and Puerto Rico.

Each team, consisting of 18 members between the ages of 14 to 18, plus three alternates, winning their state and regional competitions are qualified to participate in the national event.

The Rocky Mountain Region of CAP is in charge of the National Drill competition. Lt. Col. H. Clyde Thach of Denver is the encampment commander.

The cadets and their escorts will be housed at Ft. Carson during their stay in the region.

Monday and Tuesday will be devoted to pre-drill preliminary arrangements. The contest is scheduled at the Air Force Academy's Court of Honor at 2 p.m. Wednesday. The public is invited to attend.

Music for the drill will be provided by the Academy Drum and Bugle Corps. Judging the championship meet will be former CAP cadets who are now Air Force Academy upperclassmen.

The winners will be announced at a banquet held at the Air Force Academy Officers Club that evening.

Increase of Visitors Noted at Mesa Verde

CORTEZ (AP) — More visitors came to Mesa Verde National Park last month than any month in the park's history, officials announced today.

They reported 65,486 registered during july, an increase of 6,421 over the same month in 1961.

For the year attendance is 141,444 compared with 125,598 for the same period a year ago.

Park officials said camping facilities are being taxed by the visitors this year and that 1,900 persons sought facilities elsewhere during July.

The officials said 14 per cent of the July visitors were enroute to the World's Fair at Seattle.

Marine Pvt. Don Wahe Home on 20-Day Leave

Marine Pvt. Don Wahe is visiting his family and friends here on a 20 - day leave from the U.S. Marines.

Pvt. Wahe has just completed four weeks of individual combat training at Camp Pendleton, Calif. The course included instruction in leadership, small unit tactics, demolitions, scouting and patrolling, hand-to-hand combat and advanced weapons training.

Wahe previously completed three months recruit training at San Diego, Calif. In the marksmanship training phase of "boot camp" he won the coveted crossed - rifles badge of a Marine Expert Rifleman.

After his leave Wahe, the son of Mr. John A. Wahe of 2627½ W. Colorado Ave., will report to Staging Regiment, Camp Pendleton, for assignment overseas in the Far East this September.

Spectators From Distant Points Will See Rodeo

Colorado Springs' well-worn welcome mat is going to feel the imprint of visitors from all 50 states, North and South America and overseas freedom bastions this week.

This is the week when Colorado Springs entertains in Western fashion with guests converging on Spencer Penrose Stadium out at the Broadmoor for the 22nd Annual Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo.

The wild animals and the grim cowboys and the brave cowgirls begin their starring performances at 8 o'clock Wednesday night and animals and competitors who survive will make appearances each night thereafter thru Saturday, not forgetting the 2 p.m. matinee on Thursday, nor forgetting the mammoth downtown Rodeo Parade at 10 a.m. Thursday. But Rodeo Week gets into the swing of things today.

The Kit Carson Riding Club is staging an all - day gymkhana at Penrose Stadium, beginning at 10 a.m., resuming at 1 p.m. with finals of the Kiddies Dress-up scheduled about 2:30. The event also serves as a dress rehearsal for various riding units which will participate in each Grand Entry, including the 50 State flag bearers from the Kit Carson Club and the pivot riders from the Pikes Peak Range Riders.

Monday, employes in downtown stores and various firms go into Western Dress with display windows to match the Rodeo Week theme. Cashiers at many firms will use silver dollars as change, providing Eastern visitors with heavy "hard cash" which make fine souvenirs, if they have any left after vacation expenses.

The Chamber of Commerce will have a judging committee in action Monday, rating the various window displays at firms which have notified the Chamber they are in competition for any of three prizes. On Tuesday, the judges will be on the march again, this time determining first, second and third places in the best - dressed (Western Style) employes division.

Then comes Wednesday, and at 8 o'clock that night comes Mr. Rodeo in his first official performance. The opener marks the inaugural of five performances in which 200 of the finest in the sport will compete for $20,000 in prize money and entry fee.

The opener is designated as "Armed Forces Night," but there will be room for thousands more in the 10,000 seat, roofed stadium.

Rex Allen and KoKo, his horse, will weave their singing and performing magic in their roles of "Guests of Honor" and will be joined in the entertainment department by the world's finest exhibition roper, Montie Montana, his wife, Louise, and daughter, Linda.

Thursday is Parade Day! At 10 a.m. a three - mile long, all-rodeo march including 12 bands will begin at Moreno Avenue, move north on Tejon Street to Boulder, east on Boulder to Nevada, and south on Nevada to the Courthouse.

Fifteen minutes prior to parade time, a special train will arrive from Denver, bringing 600 fans from our neighborly city to the north. They will join the parade-watchers, have lunch downtown and then join 40 Colorado mayors and other the thousands in the stands for the 2 p.m. Thursday matinee.

Thursday night, the home folks will attempt to compete with the hosts of out - of - towners, that performance being designated "Colorado Springs and Radio-Rodeo" night.

Friday night, friends from thruout the Southern Colorado area will be in the stands, supporting our rodeo and plugging the forthcoming State Fair at Pueblo.

Saturday night, the closing performance is designated as "Farm and Ranch Night" and will feature the Ketch - It Keep - It contest. Members of 4-H clubs will attempt to capture calves donated by local merchants and thus start on their careers in the cattle business.

Lester Howard, in charge of ticket sales, points out that the designations on each performance sometimes give the impression that "outsiders" can't get in. "Heavens, no," the mild mannered pasteboard expert declared. "We have 50,000 seats available for the five performances and if you want to attend all five performances we can accommodate you, your in - laws, out - laws, neighbors, friends and enemies."

Alcoholism Division Director Announced

DENVER (UPI) — Graydon Dorsch, assistant chief of the chronic disease section of the Colorado State Health Department, has been named director of the department's new alcoholism division at $8,700-a-year, it was announced Friday.

Dr. Roy L. Cleere, director of the helath department, said other personnel in the new division will include Mrs. Frona McCambridge and Edward J. Walton, who will serve as consultants.

The 1962 Legislature dissolved the Colorado Commission on Alcoholism and transferred its duties to the health department.

Both Mrs. McCambridge and Walton were on the now -defunct commission.

President Andrew Johnson was only 17 years old when his wife taught him to write during their courtship.

Carroll Does Not Think Maneuvers Will Be Staged

DENVER (UPI)—Sen. John A. Carroll says here he does not think the Army intends to hold maneuvers in southeast Colorado this year because no money has been appropriated to finance them.

The senator added, however, he was sure the maneuvers, which aroused a storm of opposition among farmers and ranchers in the La Junta area, eventually would be staged.

Carroll said the Army Corps of Engineers survey team that went into the area recently apparently was dispatched prematurely.

"I don't think the survey team had adequate information at its fingertips," he said. "the people wnat to know how many men will be involved, how much equipment will be brought in and other questions. I don't think the survey team had been briefed adequately."

Carroll said he thought another team would be sent into the area to answer all questions and get the approval of most residents before maneuvers begin.

George E. Roe To Study at Boston Under Scholarship

George Roe, Wasson High School mathematics instructor, has been awarded a scholarship by the National Science Foundation for further advanced study during the academic year 1962-63.

Roe will pursue additional graduate study in the field of mathematics at Boston College. He will be working in the field of new approaches in mathematics that are being researched and experimented thru the School Mathematics Study Group, first advanced through study at Yale University.

Roe's opportunity for study was further enhanced by the recent policy of the Board of Education of School District 11 permitting sabbatical leave for a limited number of professional personnel who wish to do additional graduate study.

Roe, who is a District 11 high school graduate, has been a teacher in the local system since 1951, having taught at North Junior High School before his assignment at Wasson High. He is the son of Frederick Roe. His wife Wanda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pezoldt.

Mr. and Mrs. Roe and their three children will leave Monday for Boston.

Springs Navy Men Return From Tour

Two Colorado Springs Navy men returned to San Diego, Calif., July 25 aboard the aircraft carrier USS Bennington after her sixth - month deployment with the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific. They were Lieut. Commander William E. Inzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Inzer, 210 S. 18th St., and Stephen W. Metcalf, electricians's mate fireman apprentice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Metcalf, 96 Everett Dr.

The anti - submarine warfare support ship delivered over 52 tons of donated clothing, books, food and medicine to Japan, the Philippines and Hong Kong. The deliveries were part of the ship's support of "Operation Handclasp," a private program for destitute people in the Far East.

The Bennington participated in various anti - submarine warfare exercises with the Seventh Fleet.

The United States has about 110 million persons of voting age.

Goodwill Serves 64 Persons in Six-Month Period

Goodwill Industries, 15 W. Cucharras Ave., has reported that 64 different persons were served by the organization in the first six months of 1962.

The personnel report, dated July 31, covers the time from Jan. 1 to June 30.

The 64 persons include those who were with Goodwill Industries temporarily, those who are still with the organization, and those who have successfully found other employment.

The report is designed to show what Goodwill Industries is capable of doing in Colorado Springs by giving a handicapped person a chance to learn a new trade, develop new work habits, adjust to a working situation, develop confidence in a work situation and be self - supporting.

Nineteen of the 64 were receiving public assistance when they were referred to Goodwill. According to the organization, these were people, who for various reasons, could not hold a job in normal industry.

"We have accepted them," said executive director Kenneth Olson, "given them a job to do, and then had them experience the various pressures demanded by industry to prepare them for normal industry.

"Some were not ready for our program and were referred to other agencies. Others stayed who would need a more permanent sheltered environment, and others found employment in normal industry."

Persons accepted by Goodwill were referred mainly thru the Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, which has an agreement with the agency where persons are screened first as to whether they will profit by Goodwill's program, and secondly, if they are considered unemployable in normal industry.

The report listed 10 persons as being not ready for the Goodwill program, and listed six who were successfully placed in normal industry.

During the last six months, 14 different classifications of handicaps were seen in the categories of physically handicapped, mentally retarded, and emotionally disturbed. Both men and women are being accepted with various handicaps, the report said.

Seventeen policies of life insurance were in effect for a total of $25,000 coverage. Under the agency's group plan, employees are eligible for insurance without a physical examination.

The report listed total wages of $27,913.75; FICA, $869.47; federal withholding tax, $2,575.53, and Colorado withholding tax, $269.25.

The number served daily was listed as 35.

Olson said that by opening another store at 2328 E. Platte Ave., "we have been able to increase the number of persons served. It is partly thru this increase of material that we are able to expand our program."

Walter E. Geist Here on Leave

Marine Lance Cpl. Walter E. Geist is renewing acquaintances in the Pikes Peak Region on a 27 - day leave from the U.S. Marine Corps.

Lt. Cpl. Geist recently received a High School Equivalency Certificate for successfully passing the United States Armed Forces Institute's five - battery high school level tests.

Geist, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Geist of 832 E. Willamette Ave., joined the Corps in July, 1960, reporting to active duty the following Sept. 19. He received his four months of recruit and individual combat training at San Diego and Camp Pendleton, Calif. Geist then was graduated from aircraft familiarization, mechanical fundamentals and hydraulics specialist schools, all at Memphis, Tenn.

After his leave he will return to his duties as a hydraulics specialist with Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 462, Marine Corps Air Facility, Santa Ana, Calif. His unit will soon board the helicopter carrier Iwo Jima for training and maneuvers. The Iwo Jima took part in the recent atomic tests at Johnson Island in the Pacific.

Medicare Compromise Voted in Regina

REGINA, Sask. (AP)—A special session of the Saskatchewan Legislature enacted last week amendments to the controversial medical care insurance law agreed upon last week by the province's Socialist government and the medical profession.

In a one-day session, the bill outlining the amendments was adopted without a dissent.

The amendments permit doctors to practice privately, allow voluntary nonprofit health insurance plans to operate alongside the government plan and strip the government's medical insurance commission of many regulatory powers.

Most of Saskatchewan's 25 private doctors went on strike July 1 when the law became effective. The boycott ended after the government and the Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons signed a 29-point agreement July 23 providing for the changes in the law.

Participation in the tax-supported government plan will still be compulsory for most of Saskatchewan's 525,000 people. But doctors can now accept or refuse patients who are beneficiaries of the plan.

Brollier Will Take Radar Course

Airman Basic Dale L. Brollier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen F. Brollier, 111 Pawnee Ave., Manitou Springs, is being reassigned to the United States Air Force technical training course for radar operators at Keesler AFB, Miss.

Airman Brollier, who has completed his basic military training Lackland Air Force Base, Tex., was selected for the advanced course on the basis of his interests and aptitudes.

He is a 1962 graduate of Manitou High School.

Harold F. Biestek Second Lieutenant

Harold F. Biestek of Denver, son of Julian M. Biestek, 830 E. High St., has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force and awarded silver navigator wings following graduation from navigator training at James Connally Air Force Base, Tex.

Lt. Biestek was named distinguished graduate of his class.

He received the Air Training Command Commander's Trophy and the Daughters of American Colonists Award.

The lieutenant, a former student at North Denver High School and the University of Denver, received radar and celestial navigation training in Air Force T-29 "Flying Classroom" aircraft. Following a brief temporary duty period at Stead AFB, Nev., for survival training, he will be reassigned to Japan for duty.

JayDee Reinert Enlists In U.S. Air Force

JayDee Reinert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reinert of 1606 Highland Way, recently enlisted in the U. S. Air Force. He will undergo his initial phase of basic military training at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, Tex. Following basic training he will be sent to an Air Force Technical School for training in an Air Force Administrative specialty.

He chose this area of training based upon the results of AF Aptitude tests he took prior to enlisting. He is a graduate of Cheyenne Mountain High School and attended Mesa Junior College in Grand Junction.

CHURCH LAND GIVEAWAY

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — All farmland owned by the Roman Catholic dioceses in Chile is being given to the tenant farmers who have been working it.

Saying the church is making a great sacrifice in givin up its land, Bishop Manuel Larrain of Talca, said some critics have called the step "visionary," but he added:

"To those who criticize and are afraid, I say that the work will be a success precisely because it is not easy. That is the Christian answer . . ."

Kansans to Hold Picnic Saturday In Manitou Springs

A popular and well - attended yearly summer event since early in the century, the annual Kansas Family Picnic will this year be held from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in Soda Springs Park in Manitou Springs, where the picnic lunch will be followed by program in the park auditorium.

The affair is open to all Kansans, former Kansans and their friends. Those attending will furnish their own picnic lunches and table service, and following a custom of long standing, the City of Manitou Springs will furnish free coffee to all guests. Numerous tables are placed in the picnic area, and these may be chosen by guests in order of their arrival at the park.

Since many tourists have no table services and no means of preparing picnic lunches, some Manitou Springs restaurants prepare and sell box lunches for those desiring them, and the women of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church will prepare "sack lunches" containing a turkey sandwich, a ham sandwich and potato chips, which will be on sale for a nominal fee after 11 a.m. at the park.

The program will start at 1 p.m., when a welcome will be extended to all guests by Manitou Springs Mayor Earl Pitcock. A response to the welcome will be given by S. Ray Miller, vice president of the Kansas Picnic Association, who will act as master of ceremonies. The Rev. C. Henry Christopher of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church has been asked to give a short invocation.

Ernest L. Larson of Salina, Kans., president of the association, who was ill last summer and unable to be present, is in Manitou Springs this summer and will greet the audience before Miller starts presiding.

Eric A. Finstrom Colorado Springs tenor who studied music at Bethany College in Lindsborg, Kans., will sing a group of solos, with Mrs. Adele Unzicker as his piano accompanist. Mrs. Unzicker also will play the accompaniment for group singing of the Kansas song, "Home on the Range," and "America the Beautiful," which was written by the late Katharine Lee Bates, English instructor at Wellesley College, after a view of the sunrise as she stood on Pikes Peak.

Misses Roseann and Matilda Ladurini of Highwood, Ill., accordionists who have played previously for the Kansas picnic, are again in Manitou Springs for summer vacation and will play a group of solos and duets. Miss Roseann Ladurini has won a number of gold medals and other awards in national competition with her accordion playing.

One feature, always popular at the picnic, is the arrangement of tablets placed according to counties for registration of all Kansans and former Kansans, and another tablet for out - of - state visitors. All persons attending are asked to register names and addresses, and most of those present derive great pleasure and satisfaction from scanning the lists to find names of personal friends who also are on the picnic grounds.

Mrs. Gladys H. Carlson is secretary and Miss Frances Graham treasurer of the Kansas Picnic Association. A nominating committee has been appointed, and at the conclusion of the program will present a list of suggested officers to be elected for the coming year.

ROY C. FOLAND

Roy C. Foland To Greenville, AFB

Airman Basic Roy C. Foland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard D. Foland of 2811 Merry Lane, is being reassigned to the United States Air Force technical training course for medical service specialists at Greenville AFA, Miss.

Airman Foland, who has completed his basic military training here, was selected for the advanced course on the basis of his interests and aptitudes.

The airman is a 1962 graduate of Manitou High School.

President Is Being Urged to Visit Colorado

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy is being urged to stop in Colorado during his trip to the West Aug. 17-19, it was reported here.

According to reports, Kennedy was being urged to stop in Colorado—probably in Pueblo—to sign the Fryingpan-Arkansas reclamation bill if it is approved by the Senate Monday, as expected.

The bill, which finally is on the verge of passing after a decade of ups and downs in Congress, would authorize a $170 million diversion of water from the Western Slope to the Arkansas Valley of southeast Colorado.

Reports here were that Gov. Steve McNichols of Colorado was pressing the invitation.

The White House announced two stops on the President's Western trip Friday—one in South Dakota and one in California—and said others would be announced later.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said that on Aug. 17 the President would visit the Oahe Dam outside Pierre, S.D. Kennedy will turn a switch starting electric current flowing from the dam through transmission lines into states of the upper Midwest.

On Aug. 18 the President will speak during ground breaking ceremonies for the San Luis project at Los Banos, Calif.

The project is a federal-state cooperative undertaking in which a dam and about 100 miles of canals will be added to the California state water plan.

Kennedy is scheduled to visit the dam at noon Aug. 18.

The White House said final plans had not been made for the nights of the 17th and 18th. But the President is expected to leave California the night of Aug. 19.

One of the primary purposes of the so called "non-political" trip is to generate public support of the administration's program in Congress and thus encourage the election of House and Senate members friendly to the Kennedy program.

Kansas Told Air Force To Spend Money There

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force notified Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., Friday it had obligated more than $18.5 million under two incremental contracts with much of the money to be spent in his state.

Carlson said the Boeing Company received orders to do $3,125,000 worth more work on a B-?! contract, bringing the total to $188,744,223.

The other award—an increment of $15,380,000—went to the Martin Company of Denver. The money will be spent on installation and checkout of Titan II missiles at McConnel Air Force Base, Kan.; Little Rock (Ark.) Air Force Base, and Davis - Monthan Air Force Base, Ariz.

Steelworkers' Chief Renews Shot Week Plea

PITTSBURGH (AP)—David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers, renewed his plea Friday for a shorter work week to absorb the impact of automation and provide more jobs.

"Job and income security are the primary objectives of our union," McDonald told the grand area convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

"We believe a shorter work week with no loss in income is a necessary step to accomplish our purpose and we feel that the national administration ultimately will recognize the validity of this belief," McDonald said.

"We do not seek shorter hours merely to allow man more time to be idle. We believe that shorter hours are required to absorb the impact of automation and to provide the opportunity for the millions of young people who will be added to the work force year-by-year.

"I am confident that again, as it was in the past, the Eagles will stand shoulder-to-shoulder with the United Steelworkers of America in support of the drive to eradicate the critical problems our nation faces.

"In fact, I predict now, with no prior knowledge, that the resolutions of this convention on the common problems we face jointly will be in essence the same as the action our union will take at our 11th constitutional convention a month hence."

McDonald received the Eagles annual Green-Murray award for outstanding leadership and statesmanship. This award is presented each year to a labor leader in memory of the late William Green, former president of the American Federation of Labor, and the late Philip Murray, former president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

Car Hits Auto Stopped at Light

A car driven by John S. Roberts, 47, Route 1, collided with a vehicle stopped at a red light signal about 3 a.m. Saturday on Fillmore Street, just east of U.S. Highway 85-87, according to the Colorado State Patrol.

State Patrolman Kenneth W. Shiflet, investigating officer, reported that Roberts apparently fell asleep and his car hit the rear end of a vehicle driven by John R. Bronnenkant, 17, of Sante Fe, N.M. The force of the impact knocked Bronnenkant's car about 33 feet and damage to the vehicle was estimated at $500.

Bronnenkant was treated at the scene of the accident for abrasions on the left shoulder and right leg. Two occupants in his car, Boyd W. Coleman Jr., 18, 2311 N. Union Blvd., and Phillip E. Rader, 17, 2318 N. arragut Ave., complained of back and head injuries and were advised to consult their personal physicians.

Sharon Kay Ritchie Undergoes Surgery

CHICAGO (AP) — Sharon Kay Ritchie of Denver, the 1956 Miss America, was released from a hospital here Friday following corrective surgery on her left eye.

The eye was injured in a childhood auto accident.

Black Forest Man's Car Damages Pole

Thomas Carlton Dewey, 20, of 32 Buckskin Lane, Black Forest, was charged by Colorado Springs police with damage to city property and careless driving when the car he was driving hit a utility pole at 200 N. 30th St. about 5 a.m. Saturday.

Dewey was traveling south on 30th Street when his car went over the curbing, hit the pole and broke it at the base, knocking it five feet. Dewey told police he had been sick all day Friday and didn't feel well Saturday morning when the accident occurred. He is to appear in Municipal Court on Monday.

RADAR AIRMAN — Airman 3.C. Oren W. McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Mc Clure, 1209 Richards Ave., Stratton Meadows, was named radar operations man of the month in July at Kume Shima, Iwo Jima. He is a 1959 graduate of Harrison High School and has been in the service about a year. Before entering the Air Force he was employed as a checker by King Soopers. He is scheduled to return to the states next February.

FUND GIVES AID

NEW YORK (AP) — Aid totaling $380,133 was given 10,296 needy performers by the Aactors Fund of America during the past year.

The welfare organization made the report at its annual meeting. Vinton Freedley was reelected president, with Gilbert Miller, first vice president; and Katharine Cornell, second vice president.

Navigation Revolutionized By Invention of Compass

By LYNN POOLE
The Johns Hopkins University

The invention of the compass was probably the greatest advance in the history of navigation. Before the days of the compass, sailors in western waters could rarely venture beyond sight of land, and only where the skies were clear and the winds constant were open sea voyages possible.

The compass, like paper, gunpowder, arabic numerals and other civilization - changing devices, was not brought into general use overnight. Its origins have been obscured by time and legend, and credit for its invention has been variously ascribed to the Chinese, Arabs, Greeks, Etruscans, Finns and Italians.

The first state in the invention of the compass occurred when a magnetized needle was attached to a floating chip of wood. However, that posed a problem of how to combine such a needle with other elements to make a useful compass.

By the latter part of the 13 century, the compass was being used on the Mediterranean Sea, primarily because there was a need for navigational aids there. Conditions in the Indian Ocean and the Baltic Sea were such that the navigators who crossed from India to Arabia had clear skies and steady winds, while those in the Baltic could find their way by lead and line.

To the mariners of the Mediterranean, the compass had a significant economic impact. Dr. Frederic C. Lane, professor of History at the Johns Hopkins University and a noted authority on maritime history, recently studied some of the records of the 13th and 14th century Italian ports in an effort to determine just what the invention of the compass meant to these seafaring people.

"In the Mediterranean, an immediate sequel to the invention of the compass was increased navigation during the winter months," Dr. Lane says.

From October to April, when skies were generally overcast in this area, the ancient Greeks and Romans had pulled their long ships ashore and tied up their heavy merchantmen. This practice continued thru the 13th century.

"But," says Dr. Lane," in the 14th century we find a different rhythm of voyages. Altho the very worst weather was avoided if practical, Venetians and Genoese regularly took the risks of sailing under overcast skies in order to use the months in which the winds were favorable to their Levant (eastern Mediterranean) voyages."

The records of Venice, Genoa and Pisa show ships at sea all year round. The traditional closing of the sea in winter had been shattered by the use of the compass.

Dr. Lane, who will present his findings to the International Congress of Maritime History next month in Venice, further pointed out that one other European voyage, the crossing from Cape Finisterre, Spain to the English Channel was made easier by the compass.

Evidence for both the winter voyages in the Mediterranean and the crossing from Spain to England comes in the closing decades of the 13th century. At the same time, the first clear references are made to the use of nautical charts and navigational tables.

The mariners of the 13th and 14th centuries were becoming aware of the possibilities of long-distance navigation with the compass and other navigational aids. They began at this time to refine navigation — a refinement which eventually led to transoceanic voyages and the Age of Discovery.

Larry Dennis Cook Enlists in Air Force

Larry Dennis Cook, son of Mrs. Gladys Lucas of 1019 E. Williamette Ave., was recently enlisted in the U.S. Air Force.

According to T-Sgt Bruce S. Adams, local Air Force Recruiter, cook will undergo initial basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Tex. Following basic training he will be sent to an Air Force technical school or to a duty station for on-the-job training in an Air Force Administrative specialty.

Capt. Ronald W. Miller Completes Course

Capt. Miller received instruction in the general management and operation of installation exchanges and exchange facilities.

The 29 - year - old captain is a 1951 graduate of Cheyenne Mountain High School and a 1955 graduate of the University of Wyoming.

NEW PLAY FOR ELAINE

NEW YORK (AP) — A second London show is awaiting Elaine Stritch, the American star now appearing in West End production of "Sail Away."

William Marchant, author of "The Desk Set," has tabbed Miss Stritch for the top role in his new play, "Who? Where? What? Why?" The drama concerns five persons summoned to testify at a trial somewhere in Europe.

Hammond Spinet Organ, from $995 F.O.B. factory.

You can select a Hammond Organ that will blend in perfectly with your present home decor. Available in an unusually wide variety of wood finishes (warm, hand-rubbed finishes comparable to the finest furniture), a Hammond Organ is truly a striking addition to any home. Also, each wood finish has a different design—many of them are award-winners—to assure you of graceful styling for traditional, provincial, contemporary, or mix-'n-match decor.

Space? Hardly a problem since the compact Hammond Organ is about the size of an ordinary desk.

But once the Hammond Organ is in your home, you'll quickly discover it's much more than an attractive conversation piece. When you begin playing your favorite songs on the Hammond —and you will, even if you've had no previous musical training —you'll make the Hammond Organ the focal point of any room in your home.

Stop in soon and look the complete Hammond Organ line over. Check the fine craftsmanship, hear it's beautiful tones—even play it (you'll be playing in less than ten minutes)! You'll find that the "new sound of music is you at a Hammond."

Meet the people who have earned the confidence of thousands of Colorado car owners

THEY REPRESENT

MONEY OLDSMOBILE'S MOST VALUABLE ASSET!

Our most important asset never appears on a financial statement . . . for it's not a showroom, a building, an elaborate piece of equipment, or any part of our physical plant. Our biggest asset is PEOPLE . . . dedicated, honest individuals who have a compelling determination to do the best possible job no matter what the task.

This "human asset" is the only reason Money Oldsmobile has gained its reputation for honesty, integrity, and fairness. It's the reason both Oldsmobile and General Motors have pointed to us as an example of a "quality" dealership. It's the reason so many people unhesitatingly recommend us to their friends and business associates.

The driving force behind this remarkable reputation are the capable and conscientious men and women who have been carefully screened and selected to represent Money Oldsmobile in their various capacities. These employees have accomplished what some dealers have termed "impossible." They have EARNED the respect and confidence of the public in a day when most automobile dealers are looked on with suspicion.

They have accomplished this by being men-of-their-word . . . by living up to promises. Proud of their work, they gladly sign their name to any completed job. In short, they mean business! They will not stand for convenient promises that can't be kept . . . or for irresponsible buck-passing. Mistakes? Sure they make 'em . . . and they are the first to admit it. But, they get things done . . . and they do their best to get them done right.

This group is acknowledged as one of the best teams in the nation. As such, each of them is constantly being approached with offers of "better" jobs. They take these offers as compliments . . . but pass them up in favor of a business climate that they know suits their nature.

Many dealerships have tried to imitate Money Oldsmobile's advertising. But they miss the point! Words must be backed up with actions . . . public confidence must be EARNED not asked for . . . and it must be earned by people.

We firmly believe that the dealer who wins a large following of customers by serving them well doesn't have to change his method of operation with the ups and downs of the economy of the popularity of his make. This, in our case, has proved to be true.

Our steadily expanding business is the best testimonial we have of the capability of our staff to properly serve the customer's needs.

Next time you are at Money Oldsmobile and you see one of our employees, stop and visit with him. He represents the reason so many people go out of their way to do business with Money Oldsmobile . . . He'll enjoy meeting you . . . and you'll enjoy meeting him.

Senators Must Be 'Nuts,' Clark Tells Colleagues

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., told the filibuster-minded Senate last week it is courting disaster with its habits—and the country must think its members are "some kind of nuts."

Calling anew for moderniate of Senate rules under more direct majority rule, Clark concluded:

"I have long thought that the Senate needs a psychologist. I am beginning to believe we need a psychiatrist as well."

The recent five - day filibuster by liberals opposing the administration's space communications bill, he said, was an "exercise in political futility."

He said it really was a contest between the Senate "establishment" — the leadership plus senior committee members—and those against the satellite bill.

"Such a hassle over prestige throws a monkey wrench into the whole machinery of government" he said. "The normal reaction of the citizen can only be 'what have we got in Congress? Some kind of nuts?'"

To his earlier list of proposed rule changes, Clark said he now would add a provision that the President is always entitled to have a Senate vote on the merits of any major legislative proposal he sends to Congress. In short it should not be bottled up in committee or blocked from Senate consideration by filibuster against taking it up.

JUDGE'S BLOW CRUELEST

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)—Motorist John Arvin's car was hit 106 times by a train but the cruelest blow was a judge's decision.

The first impact by the Monon Railroad freight train left the auto at such an angle to the track that 105 cars of the passing train each hit it.

Arvin was fined $10 and costs for a traffic violation.

Gallegos Lacks Money to Leave Jail in Denver

Friday, Dist. Judge Don D. Bowman ruled Gallegos could be released on $10,000 bond. His parents, who have 15 children, were unable to come up with the necessary funds Friday to set their son free.

Young Gallegos was convicted three years ago of a murder committeed when he was 14 years old. He has been in jail since his arrest in January, 1959 for the fatal beating of a 79-year-old Denver man in a $13 robbery.

The U.S. high court ruled that a written confession by Gallegos was not given voluntarily since the youth was held incommunicado in Denver Juvenile Hall for five days while being questioned. But Denver Dst. Atty. Bert M. Keating said he would re-try the case.

Judge Bowman set bond in the case Friday, saying "the presumption of guilt isn't great." He told Deputy Dist. Atty. Ted Borrillo that "it looks like you're going to have a hard time proving a case."

Under Colorado law, bond is not permitted in murder cases unless the defense can show the presumption of guilt is not great. Defense attorney Charles S. Vigil argued Friday that the Supreme Court ruling actually should free Gallegos from further prosecution because the court did not order a new trial.

But Borrillo said that "setting aside a conviction is not the same as setting aside a case."

Bowman said he would rule on the question after receiving briefs from both sides.

Abbott Spreadeagles PPI Field

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

A relaxed and understandably confident Jerry Abbott eased his way to a final round even - par 72 Saturday afternoon to wind up a solid winner of the annual Pikes Peak Invitational golf tournament — and to the surprise of exactly no one.

The Borger, Tex. belter's first two blistering tours of the Patty Jewett course had made the remainder of the combat merely academic. This fact was proven conclusively Saturday as several scorching rounds by his nearest persuers failed to even endanger his whopping lead.

Abbott wound up the week's work with a five stroke lead and a final total of 280 for the 72 holes. That is an eight - under-par score and the sub-par stroking all came in the opening half of the tournament.

Actually, a couple of challengers made the best run possible Saturday at the untouchable lead Abbott commanded. Gary Polumbus of Denver, who was in second when the day started, fired a brilliant 68 to cut the final margin to five stokes and solidify his runner - up spot. Jim Phelps of Colorado Springs, the medalist, two - time former champ. and pre - tourney favorite, closed out with a fine 69 but it was only good for 289 and third place.

Phelps' opening day 77 was a disaster from which he could never recover.

Also coming in with an outstanding round was Colorado Springs veteran Dock Robinette, who finished with 69 and a tie for fourth at 292. Robinette deadlocked with John Handley, also of the Springs, who had a closing day 73 and one of the most consistent tournaments of any of the competitors. Dick Smelser of Fort Collins, who stunned the field Thursday with a hole - in - one, took a 73 and a 295 for sixth.

Saturday's play altho strictly an anti -climax, attracted a sizeable gallery to the local municipal course and they witnessed some excellent golf, especially before noon.

Phelps was really burning across the turf on the early holes and had he not been so far behind, a successful rally might have materialized out of that start. At the first hole, he skied an excellent four - wood to within eight feet of the cup and then sank the putt for an eagle three. Phelps also birdied the third, seventh, and eighth and came in with a bizing 32. He slipped to a 37 on the back side, however, and finished with 69.

Polumbus had the most consistently effective found, with birdies at one, three, and seven on the front side and another one-under effort at 10 on the back side. The 68 tied him for the second best single round of actual competition. Abbott had a 68 opening day and then followed up with a 67 Thursday.

Saturday Jerry started off as tho he was in another parwrecking mood. He hit a brilliant recovery iron out of the rough after hooking his opening tee shot at the first hole and got down in two putts for a birdie. Then he ran home a 20 foot putt for another bird at three and appeared to be on his way. That was it, as far as par - wrecking, however, and the Tulsa University student finished out the front side two - under.

On the back nine he maintained the same consistency thru the first five holes before finally running into trouble at 15. He bogeyed there, and then took a four on the par - three 16th. That was the final opening however, as he scrambled to a par on the 18th after a bad first shot and closed out the day even.

The key to Abbott's success can be summed up with a few short figures. In the 72 holes over four days, he had only four bogeys and one double bogey. And during the first two days when he built the lead that no one could touch thereafter, he was over par on only one hole.

Saturday's action included finals in all flights of the huge tournament which had nearly 200 on the tee opening day. In one of the more important of the other flights, A. D. Hestwood won the Senior A championship over Morris Tonroy by a 1 up score.

Entmen Bash Junction Nine, 16-4,

GRAND JUNCTION — Ent's American Legion "A" team upset Grand Junction's highly-touted apple cart by pounding out a wild 16-4 victory to take the first game of a best series being played on the other side of the Rockies.

The Grand Junction team is composed of veterans of this year's Class AAA high school baseball champions but their glittering reputation didn't make much of an impression on coach John DeMer's bombers.

The Entmen jumped Junction pitcher Tom Brook for three runs in the top of the first to take a lead they never relinquished. Two walks, successive singles by Mickey McLaughlin and Dave Chase and a double by Ron Simons did the damage.

Grand Junction bounced back with two runs in the second on a walk and back-to-back singles by Bucky Hakes and Tex Tolman but that was as close as they were going to get.

Ent pecked away for single runs in the fourth — on a walk to Dave Chase and a double by Tim Hamilton — and the fifth — when Brock, whose control was out of kilter all day long, walked three straight batters and surrendered a single to Harold "Butch" Miller.

Then Ent really turned on the power, pumping across seven big runs in the top of the sixth to put the game on ice. Brock obliged with three more walks, John Simon tripled and Miller and Bill Neighbors cracked out singles, giving the Springs entry a 12-2 lead.

Junction picked up single tallies in the seventh and eight but Ent finished them off with four more runs in the top of the eighth on an error, three walks and singles by Hamilton and Simon.

Jeff Broms, Cheyenne Mountain's all - state flash, scattered ten hits in coasting to the win. He fanned 13 Junction batters and walked only five. Brock, on the other hand, gave up twelve earned runs and further handicapped himself by yielding 13 walks and five wild pitches.

Ent gets a chance to wrap up a berth in the state tournment at Pueblo today at one o'clock. DeMers has nominated Tim Hamilton to take up where Broms left off while Grand Junction will counter with Dennis Kelley.

Should there be a second game, Ent has Leroy Porterfield for the decider, with Brock scheduled to throw again for Junction.

Susman, Smith to Tangle In Finals of Grass Court

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (UPI)—Wimbledon tennis queen Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Antonio, Tex., and Margaret Smith of Australia Saturday moved into the final round of the Eastern Grass Court tennis championships.

Mrs. Susman, the top-seeded entry, defeated Carole Caldwell of Santa Monica, Calif., 9-7, 6-0, while Miss Smith, seeded No. 2, turned back third-seeded Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., 6-3, 6-4.

Last week Miss Smith won the Pennsylvania Grass Court crown at Merion by beating Mrs. Susman in the final.

The first set was closely fought, although Mrs. Susman managed to jump ahead 4-2. Miss Cadwell tied the count at 5-all, after Mrs. Susman made several crucial errors by her erratic play. The next five games went on service but Mrs. Susman ended the set when she cracked her opponent's serve in the 16th game after leading 15-40.

Mrs. Susman came back very strong in the second set. She won the opening game at love and then reeled off the next five in-a-row in quick order. Miss Caldwell was completely out of the battle during this set.

Miss Smith found the going rough for the first part of the opening set in her contest with Miss Moffitt. The Californian made use of an effective cross-court placement to take a 3-1 advantage. Miss Smith, using deep drives, went ahead 4-3 and closed out the set at 6-3.

The second set saw Miss Smith use the same strategy, scoring most of her placements on down-the-line and cross-court placements. Miss Smith won the important ninth game on four straight points off Miss Moffitt's service. In the final game the Australian gave up only one point before ending the match.

Indiana Youth Pilots Racer To Soap Box Win

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—Indiana Saturday recaptured the All-America Soap Box Derby crown when 14-year-old David Mann of Gary, Ind., edged Tedde Morrow, 12, Lancaster, Ohio, and Mark Joseph Kordon, 12, Akron in the 25th running of the race.

Mann won the final heat in 27.79 seconds and received a $7,500 scholarship.

Morrow received $5,000 in scholarships for second place and third - place winner Kordon received $4,000 in scholarships.

Six Ohioans were among the nine finishers who shared $30,000 in scholarships.

It was Indiana's eighth title in the All-America race. Robert Turner of Muncie was the first National Derby winner in 1934.

Indiana also had a four-year domination of the nationals during 1957-1960.

Wilkinson Rated Top Grid Mentor Off Percentages

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma ranks supreme among college football coaches at 46.

The special consultant to President Kennedy's Youth Fitness Council not only has the best record in his profession but also can claim two pupils among the elite.

The only "80 per center" in major college ranks, Wilkinson has guided 15 Sooner clubs to 129 victories, 24 losses and four ties (.843.).

Nearly 50 points behind at .795 is runnerup John Vaught of Mississippi with a 120-31-7 record.

An Associated Press rating of the top 25 coaches based on more than 60 games reveals Dan Devine of Missouri is in third place. Woody Hayes of Ohio State, Paul Bryant of 1961 national champion Alabama, Georgia Tech's Bobby Dodd, Bob Blackman of Dartmouth, Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, Ralph (Shug) Jordan of Auburn and Duke's Bill Murray round out the first 10.

Laver, Santana In Semifinals Of GIT Tourney

HAMBURG, Germany (UPI) — Wimbledon champion Rod Laver of Australia cut down Germany's Wolfgang Stuck in the fourth round of men's singles of the German International Tennis tournament Saturday: 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

German tennis hopes also suffered a blow in another fourth round match when Spanish champion champion Manuel Santana, playing at the top of his form, beat Christian Kuhnke, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

Laver, winner of last year's German international crown, and Santana, were the first players to advance to the semifinal round.

John Hadl Voted MVP Collegian In All-Star Go

CHICAGO (AP) — Quarterback John Hadl of Kansas was named the most valuable player in Friday night's All-Star football game won by the Green Bay Packers 42-20.

Hadl received 58 per cent of the votes submitted by sportswriters covering the game to finish ahead of end Chuck Bryant of Ohio State. Larry Onesti, a linebacker from Northwestern, was third in the balloting.

Hadl, who has been signed by the San Diego Chargers of the American Football League, provided most of the All-Star offense. Hadl's passing kept the collegians in contention until Green Bay put across three touchdowns in the final quarter. The Packers led by a narrow 21-20 margin after three periods.

Hadl completed six of 10 passes and engineered the opening drive in which the All-Stars took the kickoff and marched 80 yards to a touchdown.

In that series, Hadl completed four clutch passes and later in the game he hit Bryant with a 22-yard aerial to put the All-Stars ahead 17-14.

Hadl also did most of the punting for the All - Star and had a hefty 48.8 average in five attempts.

Only the long passing game of the professional champions prevented Hadl and his teammates from pulling off a major upset. Bart Starr threw five touchdown passes, four of them for 20 or more yards.

NO SANDBOX—THIS — Les Lane of Denver, former Trucker basketball star, bangs a shot from the trap in front of the first hole in Saturday's concluding round of the Pikes Peak Invitational. Lane, who was only one stroke off the lead opening day, faded in the final two rounds to finish far down the list.

Dallas Texans Rumored Moving to New Orleans

By BEN THOMAS

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The guessing game is on again about American Football League expansion—or realignment. The latest twist is a report the Dallas Texans will move to New Orleans.

The pro football loop—starting its third season this fall—has been dropping hints about expansion, but has taken no official action. At a league meeting in Boston earlier this summer, New Orleans and Atlanta bid for spots but the AFL owners deferred action.

In a report from Chicago Saturday, executive sports editor Cro Duplantier of the New Orleans States-Item said he has learned there is a strong possibility this city's entry into the AFL will be by franchise transfer rather than expansion.

"The likeliest prospect for the transfer: The talent-rich Dallas Texans, who had five of their new signees on the All-Star squad," wrote Duplantier.

Wealthy Dallas oilman Lamar Hunt, one of the AFL founders and currently the president of the league, is the owner of the Texans. But he has been running into trouble trying to buck the older National Football League's Dallas entry.

Hunt visited New Orleans shortly before the Boston meeting and told newsmen he would vote to add the city to the league in 1963 if it could guarantee 20,000 advance season ticket sales and adequate stadium facilities.

Hunt—in Atlanta for an exhibition game between his Texans and the Oakland Raiders—said he had no plans to shift his team to New Orleans. "They must be talking about the Cowboys moving," said Hunt.

There have been indications the AFL might take further action on expansion—or franchise shifts—at a Sept. 1 meeting. At least the backers of the New Orleans bid think so. They've set up a downtown office to sell tickets for the 1963 season.

David Dixon has been the only person identified in the group seeking the New Orleans franchise. Several months ago he said he would reveal other members of the group within a week, but he hasn't done so.

GOLFING AND FISHING

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — Baseball's All-Star games mean off time for the players and coaches on the sidelines. Clete Boyer and Bill Stafford of the Yankees took a three-day vacation for some golf upstate New York. Kansas City pitching coach Ed Lopat took his son fishing in the Ozarks.

Rowdy Back From Canada Joins Bills

EAST AURORA, N. Y. (UPI) — Carlton Chester (Cookie) Gilchrist — one of Canada's greatest football players on the field and one of the most troublesome off — Saturday signed a one year contract with the Buffalo Bills of the American Football League.

"I feel like a new person," Gilchrist said after signing. "I'm a member of the Bills now and I'll abide by all the rules and regulations."

The 6-foot, 2-inch 243 pound all-star was waived out of the Canadian Football League this week by the Toronto Argonauts for disregarding curfew regulations. His disfavor by Canadian clubs was shown by the fact that none would put up the $350 wavier fee to obtain the 27-year-old power back's services.

The contract price was not disclosed but a spokesman for the Bills said the salary was in the $19,000 range which Gilchrist received at Toronto.

Some coaches have claimed Gilchrist was equal or better than Cleveland Brown running star Jimmy Brown. It was reported several other clubs sought Gilchrist, including the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League.

Rain Postpones Davis Cup Play

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — The start of Saturday's American Zone semifinal round Davis Cup matches between the British Caribbean and Yugoslavia was postponed until Sunday because of rain.

Ian McDonald meets Yugoslavia's Boro Jovanovic in the first match while Peter Valdez takes on Nicolo Pilic in the other singles.

Big Lineman Opts To Play at CSU

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (UPI)—A 214-pound tackle from Waltham, Mass., will enroll this fall at Colorado State University, CSU head football coach Mike Lude said today.

Charles Freeman, the 6 foot 1 inch tackle, was captain of the 1961 Waltham High School football team and attended Maine Central Institute prep school at Pittsfield, Me., last year. He competed in track as well as football at Waltham High.

Elorde Beats Kosaka To Regain His Title

CEBU CITY, Philippines (AP)—Flash Elorde of the Philippines regained the Orient lightweight title Saturday night by handing Japan's Teruo Kosaka a sound beating in a 12-round fight. Elorde weighed 134 pounds, Kosaka 133¼.

Athletic Improvement

By DICK WESTBAY
Wasson High Basketball Coach

One of the most asked questions of a high school athletic coach is: "Are athletes and athletic teams better today than those of the past?" In trying to answer this question honestly there are several things that have influenced my thinking that athletics and athletes are better now than they have ever been.

Basically there is very little difference in the athletes of today and those of the past, but there are factors present today that tend to develop a better calibre of athletes and teams. One of these factors has been the almost universal acceptance of competitive athletics, with the approval and support of the community of the various athletic programs. Some years ago parents and community leaders did not see the educational values to be found in a competitive athletic program. Today communities and parents have encouraged participation and have provided better facilities, equipment, and have hired more and better prepared coaches to develop the athletes and the program.

Another important reason is that more schools have adopted a healthy athletic philosophy which has encouraged better scholarship, school morale, high character standards, and the proper perspective on competition. The "dumb" football hero is no longer present on the high school athletic scene. Better coaching methods combined with more competition require much more of a boy than mere strength. The acceptance of athletics mentioned above has encouraged the participation of the well - rounded boy. The student - athlete is becoming the rule rather than the exception. All of these things have helped athletics progress to the place where they are today.

Another phase of improvement that has aided athletes and athletic teams is the better coaching that is being done in our schools at the various levels. The emphasis on this is becoming more apparent each year. Football, basketball, and other sports have constantly evolved toward better teaching methods with the incentive of competition from the opposing schools. Because of this, some people feel that some of the best teaching is being done in the field of athletics.

More coaches today are becoming more and more aware of the value of staying abreast of the current trends in athletics. Coaches are constantly taking inventory of their teaching techniques and are always striving to develop better methods of organization and strategy. A concensus of opinion of coaches gives high priority to the above in developing top athletes.

Probably the biggest one factor that will keep a high school athletic program above par is a superior program at the elementary and junior high levels with emphasis on competition and fundamentals. Big strides at these levels have been made, but I feel, as most coaches do, that there is a need for more athletic facilities, more coaches, and better compensation for the coaches who coach at the elementary and junior high levels.

I feel without question that our athletes and our athletic programs have improved in many ways. Competition has brought out the best in many people, both spectators and participants. Keeping this competitive spirit high by giving boys and girls the best facilities, coaches, and encouragement possible is the responsiblity of each person interested in their children, their school, and their community, and will insure the continued improvement of athletics.

B Legion Battle

Ro-Wood, Sinton's Go For Tournament Spot

After one of the tightest races in city history, Ro-Wood and Sinton's will finally decide just who is the city representative in this year's Class "B" American Legion state baseball tournament.

The decision will be arrived at via either a single or double header this afternoon at one o'clock on Peterson Field. Ro-Wood leads in a best two-of-three series, one game to zero. If the Construction Company team wins the one o'clock game, they take the championship and advance to the Monte Vista Regional next weekend.

If Sinton's takes the game a second contest will be played at around four o'clock and the winner of that one will represent the Springs.

Ro-Wood got their advantage when they defeated Sinton's, 7-6, on Wednesday night in one of the wildest ball games every played at Pete Field.

In that game, Ro-Wood chucker Bob Kochis struck out 22 batters and yielded only five hits while being winged for six unearned runs. Kochis will be back on the mound in Sunday's opener and, if he's still on his stick and his support improves, that might be all she wrote for Sinton's.

Ro-Wood's chances got a further boost when starting catcher Charlie Martin finally licked a bad case of intestinal flu which kept him out of the lineup on Wednesday night. The Constructioneers definitely missed him for his replacement committed four errors, about as many passed balls and was unable to stop the speedy Sinton's men from pilfering as many bases as they liked.

Hale Meserow, the unlucky victim of all these goings on, returns to his old spot in center field where he is much more at home. Hale hadn't caught a ball game all season long and his inexperience really hurt him. However, in center field he's a natural and his .440 batting average indicates he may have a lot to say about the outcome of Sunday's game.

Don Crabtree the Sinton's coach, is thinking of shuffling his batting order a bit so noone's sure who's batting where and probably won't be until game time.

Crabtree is still debating on his starter for one o'clock. Danny Gieck turned in a fine performance in defeat on Wednesday and may get the call again. However, Sinton's also has another pretty fair pitcher in Larry Nicks, who played shortstop on Wednesday.

The Sinton's lineup on Wednesday night was: Al Rawlins, catcher, Sam Gieck, second base, Nicks, shortstop, Danny Gieck, pitcher, Jerry Williams, center field, Don Hart, first base, Jim Watson, third base, Madison Bagley, left field and Mike Gilliland, right field.

Barring sudden changes in strategy, that should be close to the way they come up today. Gieck, or Nicks will pitch the other going to shortstop. They'll change positions in the event of a second game.

One-Hitter Paces Cubs To YAL Win

Bob Lynn's one-hitter carried the Sertoma Cubs to a 4-1 victory over the Devine Redeemer Orioles in the top tusstransp in the Middleweight division of the Young American League baseball action Friday night.

Lynn's stand - out chucking overshadowed an almost equally impressive performace by - the losing pitcher, Bill Gates, who gave up only four hits to the Cubs. The big blow was Bob Wadlow's triple.

The Babe's Market A's overcame a six run second inning by the Lion's Club Dodgers to win the other Middleweight game, 14-6. Winning pitcher Jim Krug, Scott Beisner and Reed Ketchem each collected two hits in the A's ten hit attack. Losing pitcher Mike Johnson consoled himself with a home run.

Among the Heavyweights, Steve Durham's three hit pitching was the difference as the Broadmoor Rotary Saints edged by the Select Tile Falcons, 4-1. Jim Gosland and Don Cossette teamed up to fire a two-hitter as the Sertoma Senators philibustered the Retired Officer's Red Sox, 10-0. Chip Murphy and Jim Smith had two hits apiece for the winners.

In the wildest game of the night, Rich Googin laid down a perfect squeeze bunt in the bottom of the sixth to score Don Rhodes and give the Yanks a 11-10 win over the Mites.

Wall Fires 66 to Regain Lead in Insurance City

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI)—Art Wall Jr., who led at the end of the first round, shot a sparkling five-under-par 66 Saturday and scrambled back to the top of the heap with a 2-1 after three rounds of the 72-hole, $35,000 Insurance City Open golf tournament.

Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., held a two-stroke advantage over Friday's leader, Paul Harney of Worcester, Mass., and Jerry Steelsmith of Glendale, Calif., who carded 203s at the end of 54 holes at the Wethersfield Country Club.

Sunday's final round in the 72-hole tourney will have 61 pros and two amateurs competing.

The tournament winner gets $5,300 and the next 39 placers split up the rest of the $35,000 with the No. 40 man taking home $110.

"I got the breaks," Wall grinned after shooting successive 33s on the front and back nines. "I shot pretty well, but it's gonna be close tomorrow."

Harney, whose 132 led second-round action, carded a 34-37—71, and Steelsmith, trailing Harney by two going into the round, picked them up with a 34-35—69.

Grouped at 205 were Gene Littler of Rancho Bernardo, Calif., who shot a 71; Bruce Crampton of Sydney, Australia, whose opening-round first-nine 29 set a record, with a 68 today; and Howie Johnson of Cog Hill, Ill., who also went around in 68.

Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., shot a 72 to give him a 206 total and a tie with Al Geiberger of Carleton Oaks, Calif., who shot a 69.

Inspired McKinley Whips Osuna

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Inspired Chuck McKinley scored a terrific straight set victory over Mexico's favored Rafael Osuna Saturday but Mexico gained a 1-1 tie in the opening singles matches of the American Zone Davis Cup tennis semifinals.

After Mexico's No. 1 ace had gone before McKinley's brilliant shot-making 6-2, 7-5, 6-3, young Antonio Palafox revived the hopes of a capacity crowd of 3,200 at the Capultepec Sports Center by polishing off Jon Douglas of Santa Monica, Calif., 6-3, 6-1, 3-6, 7-5.

The demonstrative Mexican gallery, which twice previously had to be warned against cat-calls and whistles, leaped to its collective feet and tossed cushions into the air after Palafox' triumph.

They swarmed over the court and lifted the victorious Mexican onto their shoulders.

This added meaning to Sunday's doubles in which McKinley and 20-year old Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., play Osuna and Palafox.

This American team lost to the Mexican pair in the American Zone matches a year ago but came back to defeat them in the finals of the U.S. Doubles championship at Brookline, Mass.

Most observers conceded that the best-of-5 match series would probably go the limit.

In Monday's final singles, Douglas plays Osuna, whom he has never beaten in a tournament and McKinley faces Palafox. McKinley has beaten Palafox eight times without a loss, crushing him earlier this year at River Oaks 6-3, 6-2, 6-3.

The stocky Trinity, Tex., University student from St. Ann, Mo., played perhaps the finest tennis of his career in outclassing the deft, talented Osuna, acclaimed by some as potentially the best amateur in the world.

He beat Osuna at the Mexican's own game—that is, powerful service and strong net play.

Top Golfers in Classic Field

AKRON (UPI)—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player will head a star-studded field in the American Golf Classic beginning here Thursday at Firestone Country Club.

Sam Snead, Gene Littler, Billy Casper, Bob Goalby and Cary Middlecoff are among others on hand, but these stars will be opposing a handsome Louisiana pro who practically "owns" the new Firestone course in the name of Jay Hebert.

Hebert will be gunning for a third straight win on the 7,165-yard par-70 course.

PLUNGER CLICKS

OCEANPORT, N. J. (AP) — A bettor known only as "The Plunger" is reported to have plunked down $40,000 to show on Primonetta, the 4-year-old filly who won the Molly Pitcher Handicap at Monmouth Park.

The winner returned the minimum $2.20 for show, causing a third place minus pool of $6,720, which the track absorbed.

"The Plunger" received $4,000. Primonetta is owned by John W. Galbreath.

Ranger Slugger Bashes Umpire

RED DEER, Alberta (AP) — Pat Hannigan, forward with the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, was barred for life from the Red Deer Baseball Association and fined $100 Saturday for breaking the nose of Umpire W. R. Scott.

Magistrate W. A. Shaw found Hannigan guilty of a July 23 charge that he caused bodily harm to Scott when he grabbed the umpire by the hair and punched him in the face during a game.

GRIDMAN AND GOLFER

Speedboats Vie For Gold Cup In Seattle Race

SEATTLE (AP) — A 500-acre patch of Lake Washington water will have the look and sound of a banshee convention Sunday when the biggest, fastest and noisiest of the nation's racing speedboats waial through the afternoon for cash and a couple of cups.

The main event is the 54th running of the Gold Cup race. Slow boats — those unable to do much better than the required 90 miles per hour in the qualifying tests—will compete in the "space needle championship."

The total purse is $35,000, but the biggest chunk is reserved for the Gold Cup Chase, with $11,000 to the winner. Victor in the space needle race will get $1,500.

A fleet of 18 unlimited hydroplanes, weighing from 4,600 pounds to five tons each, assembled early in the week to bid for the cup now held by the Seattle entrant, Miss Century 21. The fastest 12 earned berths in the main event.

These high-speed boats will hit 160 miles per hour and more on the straightaways of the 3-mile oval course and average 110 or better for the 90 miles of competition.

Moss Will Race When Recovers From Accident

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Famed British auto racer Stirling Moss hopes to race again but only when he thinks he's as fit as he was before the accident that almost took his life.

Moss spent eight weeks in a coma after the crash at Goodwood last Easter. He came to town Friday to tape the television show "Who in the World" which will be shown Aug. 12 over CBS-TV.

"I will only return to motor racing when I feel that I am as good as I was before the accident," Moss said.

"I will only race again because I love motor racing and when I am fully able to race, physically and mentally."

Jockey Injured At Centennial

Mower was returning on "Maybe Bull" after the sixth race when the horse reared suddenly. He was taken to Porter Hospital for treatment.

Twins Keep Pressure on Yanks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Twins, still hopeful of overtaking the Yankees, overcame the Detroit Tigers 4-3 Saturday to climb within 5½ games of the American League-leading New Yorkers, who dropped a 2-1 decision to the Chicago White Sox.

Washington, trying desperately to escape the cellar, defeated Boston 5-3 and Kansas City thrashed Cleveland 8-3.

Willie Davis hit a two-run homer to help the Los Angeles Dodgers defeat the Chicago Cubs 5-3 and retain their five game bulge in the National League over the San Francisco Giants who nipped Pittsburgh 6-5.

St. Louis rookie Ray Washburn pitched no-hit ball through 6 1-3 innings as the Cards shut out the Houston Colts 2-0. The New York Mets spilled the Cincinnati Reds twice, winning the second game 3-2 in 14 innings, after they had taken the opener 9-1. The Milwaukee Braves swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia, 6-2 and 7-3.

The Twins packed their four runs into the first inning, then held off the Tigers on scoreless relief pitching over the last 7 1-3 innings by Lee Stage. Harmon Killebrew's 28th home run was the big blow of the winning rally against starter and loser Don Mossi. The Tigers got all their runs off Jackie Collum, who gave way to Stange in the second inning.

Yankee right-hander Bill Stafford hit Al Smith with a pitch to force home the White Sox' winning run in the bottom of the ninth. The Sox had filled the bases on Charlie Maxwell's single, Floyd Robinson's ground rule double and an intentional pass to Joe Cunningham. Frank Baumann limited the league leaders to five hits to boost his record to 4-3 for the season.

Johnny Schaive hit two home runs and rookie outfielder Don Lock hit another in Washington's triumph over the Red Sox. The Senators drove Gene Conley out of the box in the sixth when they tied the score and handed the loss to southpaw Arnold Earley when Schaive hit a seventh inning homer to break a 3-3 deadlock.

Diego Segui held the Indians to four hits and hit his first major league home run in gaining his eighth triumph for the Athletics. The A's smacked 13 hits, 10 in the first four innings when they scored six runs.

Stan Williams registered his 10th victory of the season for the Dodgers but needed relief help from Ron Perranoski in the seventh. John Roseboro homered as the Dodgers won their sixth of the last seven and 16 of their last 21.

Harvey Kuenn singled in the seventh to drive in the tie-breaking run as the Giants scored twice to come from behind in their victory over the Pirates. Jack Sanford, with the help of Bob Bolin in the eighth, registered his 14th triumph.

Gene Oliver, with a double, and Dal Maxvill, with a single, drove in the only runs in the Cards 2-0 triumph over the Colts. Washburn, winning his 10th, allowed only four hits and struck out eight.

Joe Adcock hit a three-run homer for the Braves as Bob Hendley pitched an eight-hitter for his eighth victory in the opener against the Phillies. Hendley also chipped in with his first major league homer. Tommy Aaron's grand slam homer in the ninth broke a 3-3 tie in the nightcap. Aaron was an emergency runner in the eighth for Adcock, who had singled in the tying runs.

The Mets, who had lost eight straight to the Reds without ever beating Cincinnati, swept to the first game victory on Roger Craig's pitching and a six-run first inning off Johnny Klippstein.

They took the second when Frank Thomas, the leadoff hitter in the 14th, smashed a home run off relief pitcher Moe Drabowsky.

Home runs by Russ Snyder and Boog Powell powered the Orioes to the victory over the skidding Angels. Jack Fisher (4-5) threw a four-hitter for the Orioles, and held the Angels scoreless until the ninth, when Lee Thomas doubled and Felix Torres singled him home.

The Los Angeles Angels fell to third, 6½ games behind the Yankees, as they dropped a 3-1 night game decision to the Baltimore Orioles.

Black Sheep Spills Ridan At Arlington

CHICAGO (AP)—Black Sheep, the California invader, scored a smashing upset in the $116,250 American Derby Saturday with a terrific stretch spurt for a one-length victory over the odds-on favorite, Ridan, before 30,125 at Arlington Park.

Ridden by the 54-year-old Johnny Longden, C. R. Mac Stable's Black Sheep erased what appeared to be an apparent triumph by the 1-5 favored Ridan by charging ahead of the big colt at the 16th pole of the mile and one-quarter race.

Third was Spring Hill Farm's Jam Tootin, while fourth in the six-horse field was Wallet Lifter, whose early duel with Ridan apparently took a lot off the favorite.

Black Sheep, whose load of 117 pounds was six under Ridan's impost, collected a winner's share of $71,250, slightly shading his entire career earnings of $71,175.

Tony Kubek Gets Batting Practice And Signs Pact

CHICAGO (UPI) — All-Star shortstop Tony Kubek returned to the New York Yankees Saturday, signed a new contract, and hit a home run in batting practice.

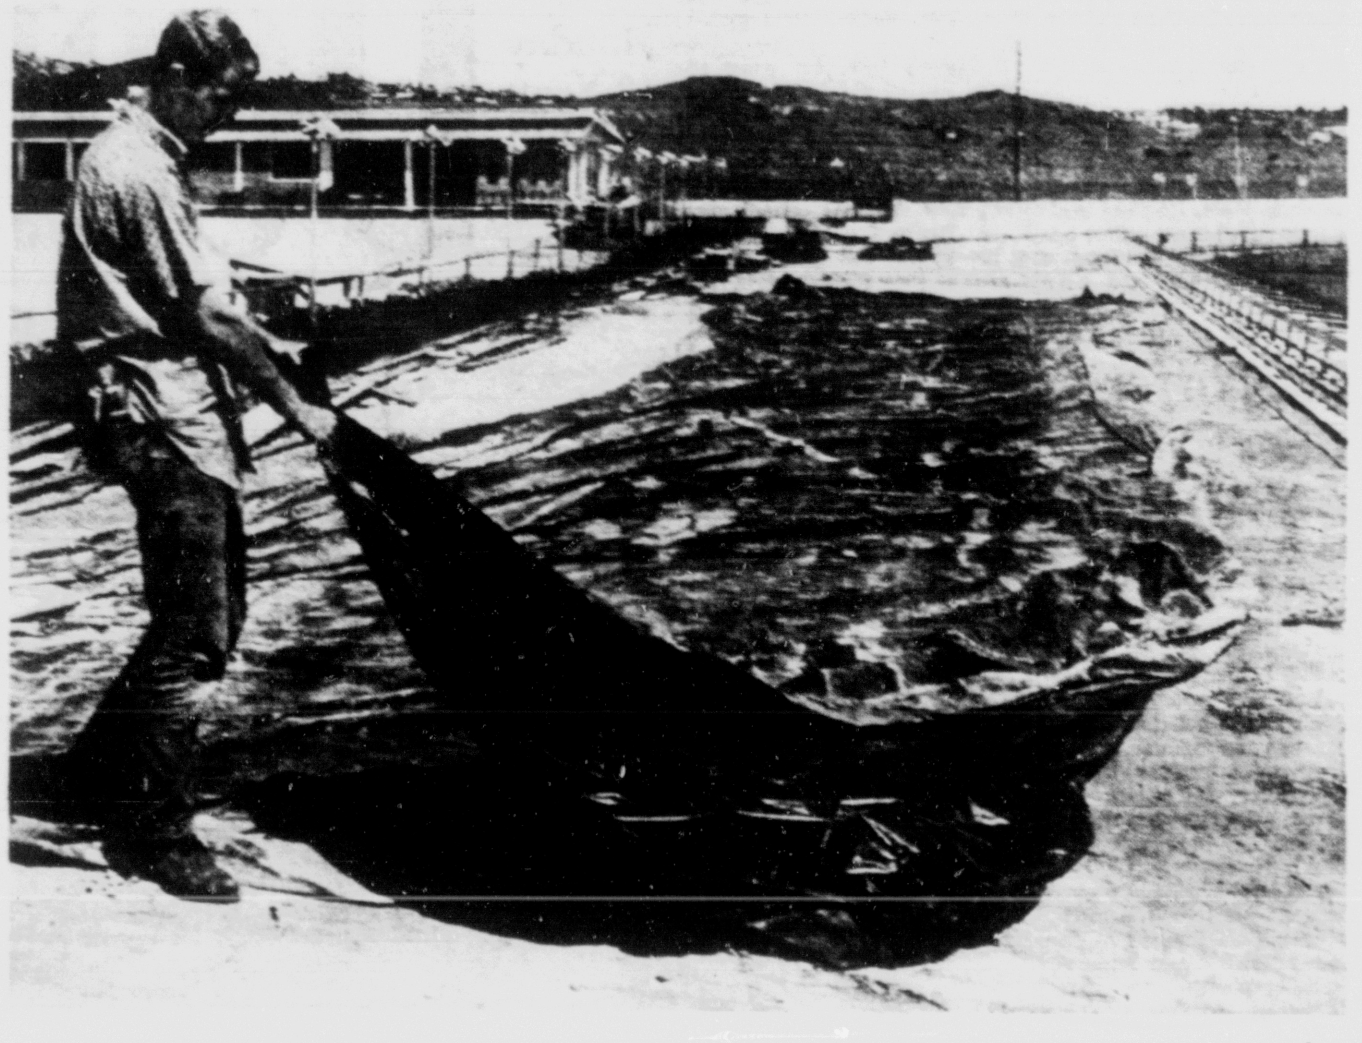
Kubek, who just completed a second ten month tour of duty in the Army at Ft. Lewis, Wash., was placed on the Yankee roster just before Saturday's game with The Chicago White Sox.

Saturday morning he agreed to terms of a new contract for a "substantial" increase in salary, reportedly in the neighborhood of $30,000-$35,000.

"I don't know how long it will take me to get my batting eye or polish up my fielding," Kubek said. "I know I have a lot of work ahead of me before I'm ready, although I'm in good shape physically."

HEREDITY

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Outfielder Earl Averill and pitcher Don Lee of the Los Angeles Angels both came by their baseball talents naturally—their fathers also played in the major leagues.



ABOUT THAT TIME AGAIN—Randy Gorby pulls off the last of the track cover as another season nears at the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club. The cover is placed on the track at the close of each season to prevent the sand from blowing away. The season opens Aug. 20 at the canine oval north of town.

Two New Kennels Join Competitors for RMKC

With the signing of two additional kennels for the 1962 season at Colorado Springs' Rocky Mountain Kennel Club, the roster is now complete for the annual sixty night Greyhound Race Meet which will open on Monday, August 20.

The Rocky Mountain Kennel Club is located north of downtown Colorado Springs on Highway 85 - 87, towards Denver. Racing is scheduled every night, except Sunday, at 8 p.m.

An eleven race card will be presented on Mondays, Fridays and Saturdays, featuring some of the nations top greyhounds. "These are the same greyhounds that race at the tracks in Florida and Massachuetts during thier seasons and we have so arranged the RMKC Meet so that they may also be here", Al Binns, RMKC's general manager explained to some fans from Kansas who were here last week.

Official Schooling races will commence on the RMKC oval next Friday night, (August 10th). Some unofficial schooling races will be held in the early part of the week. Time for the official schooling races is 7 p.m. There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

The two new kennels that have been added to the RMKC 1962 roster are the F.B. Stutz and the Pat Reed Kennels. Greyhounds from the Stutz kennel are well known to the fans at RMKC as they have raced here in many of the past meets. This is the first meet that has seen any of the greyhounds from the Pat Reed Kennel on the RMKC oval.

Greyhounds that were owned by the late R. R. Bleakley and which had been contracted to make the RMKC meet will race at Colorado Springs under the name of Mrs. Otilia Hughes. Mrs. Hughes has purchased them and elected to run under her own name. She is the wife of Larry Hughes who will also have greyhounds participating in the RMKC meet.

Arriving from Florida last week were two of the top RMKC officials for the 1962 meet. Frank Jones who holds the dual position of Director of Racing and Racing Secretary is back on the job for the eleventh year out of the fourteen that RMKC has operated. Jones finished with the Orange Park track on June 4 and says, "I've just been working about the house since orange Park closed, waiting to come to Colorado Springs". Jones' home is in Jacksonville.

The other veteran to arrive this week was Ellwood Greene, accompanied by his wife. Elwood is the chartmaker for RMKC, a position he has held for several years.

With the signing of the full roster of twenty kennels for the 1962 season, Frank Jones estimates that there will be almost six hundred of the nations finest greyhounds in attendance at the 1962 RMKC meet. Some of the kennels have already arrived and all will have arrived by the completion of the schooling races on August 18.

Carry Back Takes Whitney With Garrison Stretch Run

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Carry Back, toting a crusning 130 pounds, put on one of his patented stretch runs and won the $57,400 Whitney Stakes by two lengths at Saratoga Saturday.

Mrs. Catherine Price's stretch-running son of Saggy, the favorite, swept from four lengths back at the three-quarter pole, overhauled the front-running Crozier in the last eighth of a mile and won driving under smart handling by Johnny Sellers.

Garwol was third, four lengths farther back.

Carry Back, spotting from eight to 20 pounds to nine opponents, paid $5.20, $3.60 and $2.90. His share of the purse was $37,310, increasing his all-time total to $1,128,150. Only two horses have ever earned more money—Round Table ($1,749,869) and Nashua ($1,288,569).

Carry Back, whose other major triumphs this year came in the Monmouth and the Metropolitan Handicap, toured the 1⅛ miles on the fast track in 1 minute, 50 seconds.

Boulder Edges Stead In Little League Go

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP) — Boulder, Colo., spotted Stead Air Force Base of Reno, Nev., five runs in the first inning then fought back to pick up the sectional Little League baseball championship with an 8-6 victory Saturday.

It was the strong right arm of Lynn Poyer and the bat of little Don Adkisson that made the difference.

Poyer was called to the mound in the first inning after Stead pushed over five runs. Poyer faced three men in that inning and struck them out, then went on to allow only one more hit and one more run.

Skeeter McClure Decisions Salim In TV Main Bout

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilbert (Skeeter) McClure, the 1960 Olympic light middleweight champion, made an impressive main event debut in Madison Square Garden as he punched out an unanimous decision over experienced Farid Salim of Argentina in a lively 10-rounder Saturday night.

McClure, from Toledo, Ohio, thus ran his unbeaten streak to 10. A 12-5 underdog, he weighed 158½ to Salim's 160.

Referee Mark Conn and Judge Joe Armstrong both had McClure on top, seven rounds to three. Judge Leo Birnbaum had it 8-2 in the nationally televised bout.

McClure, who never had fought more than six rounds before, started fast, paced himself through the middle rounds, and finished with a flourish.

Salim had fought only once this year, a March 10 conquest of Joey Giambra, and he never could get untracked against his flashy 23-year-old opponent.

There were no knockdowns. Salim, 25 years old, suffered his third loss. He's won 34, drawn two.

AUSSIE STAMINA

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI)—Australians filled all four berths in the men's singles semi-finals of the 1962 Wimbledon Tennis Championships, marking the first time in the tournament's 76-year history that the final four men's singles survivors came from the same country.

Delta Judge Tops Never Bend, Ahoy In Sapling Race

OCEANPORT, N.J. (AP)—Delta Judge drew out in the final sixteenth of a mile Saturday and captured the $108,055 Sapling Stakes before a record crowd of 43,591 at Monmouth Park, then successfully withstood a foul claim by Jockey Howard Grant on the second horse, Bonjour.

The finish was a stunner, because the two big favorites—Never Bend and Ahoy—were undefeated going into this big 6-furlong event. But they ran themselves dizzy with a blistering 44 second half-mile head-to-head duel, and Delta Judge barged home in the stretch to haul down first money of $64,833.

This was supposed to be the first major summit meeting of the East's 2-year-olds, the colts who will be heard from when the 1963 Kentucky Derby rolls around.

Instead, it wound up in a big hassle, as Grant claimed that Delta Judge, piloted by Ray Broussard, had bothered him "three or four times on the turn and through the stretch."

Delta Judge, owned by Mrs. Ada L. Rice of Chicago, hit the wire one-half length ahead of Bonjour, owned by pretty Patrice Jacobs of New York. Bonjour also benefitted by the murderous early pace, and got second place by one-half length over the Cain Hoy Stable's Never Bend.

Never Bend, a surprising 9 to 10 favorite over Jaclyn Stable's Ahoy, wound up five lengths ahead of Ahoy in the field of nine juveniles.

Huge Maneuvers Get Underway In North Carolina

FT. BRAGG, N. C., (UPI) — One of the most extensive peacetime military maneuvers in the nation's history gets underway Monday.

A total of 65,000 men from Army and Air Force bases in 26 states will take part in the war games, which will range over broad sections of North and South Carolina.

It was established to give America a mobile striking force capable of dealing with "brushfire" wars on a moment's notice.

Even while the maneuvers are in process the commander of strike, Gen. Paul D. Adams, will be kept informed, via an elaborate communications hookup, of all late developments in the world's trouble spots.

The exercise specifically will test the command's ability to intercede in behalf of a friendly nation to help put down guerrilla activities and aggression from one of its neighbors.

It will involve at least two large airborne assaults, behind-the lines forays and latest methods of close air support.

Included in the operation will be the XVIII Airborne Corps and the 82nd Airborne Division of Ft. Bragg; the 101st Airborne Division, Ft. Campbell, Ky.; 1st Infantry Brigade, 1st Infantry Division, Ft. Riely, Kan.; 4th Logistical Command, Ft. Eustis, Va., III Corps, Ft. Hood, Tex., 2nd Infantry Division, Ft. Benning, Ga.; and the 2nd Logistical Command, Ft. Lee, Va.

Air Force units involved will include three tactical fighter squadrons equipped with F100 Voodoos from Langley Air Force Base, Va. There will also be a troop carrier force of C130 Hercules transports, C123 Providers and C119 Flying Boxcars.

Dr. Kelsey Awarded Federal Gold Medal

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)— President Kennedy announced here the awarding of the government's highest honor to a civilian employe to Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, the government medical officer who prevented the marketing of the drug thalidomide. It was the President's award for distinguished federal service.

The medal will be conferred upon Dr. Kelsey at a White House ceremony in Washington Tuesday. Five other persons also will be honored similarly.

Dr. Kelsey is being cited for her "high ability and steadfast confidence in her professional decision," in withholding approval of thalidomide as safe for human use. The drug has been blamed for the deforming of thousands of babies, mainly in Europe, whose mothers took it as a tranquilizer during their pregnancies.

"Dr. Kelsey's action in resisting pressure for approval of the marketing of thalidomide," a White House statement said, "has prevented a major tragedy of birth deformities in the United States."

Ice Revue Will Feature Holidays of Other Lands

Among the "Fabulous Fun Festivals of the World" spectators at the Broadmoor Ice Revue will see are the Mardi Gras, the Chinese New Year, an Independence Day Fourth of July Salute, a Monte Carlo Holiday, a Fabulous Children's Christmas celebration, and a Bavarian October Fair.

The annual show, staged this year from Aug. 15 thru 19, with matinees on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 18 and 19, at the Broadmoor World Arena, will be a whirl of music and dancing. The cast of more than 100 skaters will include some of the top amateur ice skaters in the world.

One of the stare will be Monty Hoyt, a member of the Broadmoor Skating Club, who is United States Senior Men's champion and was a member of the 1962 World Team. He will do championship solo routines and will be featured in the precision finale number.

The "Dance on Ice" and the precision chorus numbers are only two of the dance routines which will be performed on ice by the versatile skaters. The Twist, the French Can-Can, the Charleston, the Cha-cha-cha, and an adagio dance are some of the spicy ingredients which will make for a lively show.

Gay and elaborate costumes and fanciful stage props will add to the color and excitement of the revue.

Because of rehearsals for the the show performances, there will be no public evening skating sessions at the World Arena from Aug. 6 thru 19.

40-Day Season For Ducks to Be Recommended

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — a recommendation that federal game officials set a 40-day season for hunting ducks this fall and winter and a 75-day season for geese in the Central Flyway was recommended Friday by the flyway's Waterfowl Council.

Members were told waterfowl in the flyway will be fewer than a year ago because of earlier drought conditions in northern states and Canadian breeding areas.

For ducks, the recommendation to be presented to federal game officials in Washington Aug. 7-8 included alternates: A daily bag limit of 3 and possession limit of 6 if the 40-day season is approved; limits of 4 and 8 ducks if the season is 30 days; and of 2 and 4 ducks if it is set at 50 days.

For geese, the game department heads of the 10 Central Flyway states recommended a bag and possesion limit of 5, to include not more than two Canada geese nor more than one white-fronted goose— or one each of those more protected species.

Both for ducks and geese, they recommended hunting hours from a half hour before sunrise to sunset; for ducks, that the season be set between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31, and for geese, between Oct. 1 and Jan. 15.

They asked that no open season be allowed for hunting the rarer canvasbacks, redheads and ruddy ducks.

They asked continuance of closed areas for geese, in Colorado's Larimer County north of Highway U.S. 34 and west of U.S. 87; and for snow geese in Beaverhead, Gallatin and Madison counties in Montana.

For blue wing teal they urged that the U.S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife consider setting an experimental open season in September 1963 in the Central Flyway; and that it be represented at the Denver meeting next March of the council's biologists to discuss the proposal. These teal, members said, move earlier through the flyway than other species.

Voting to meet next summer in Saskatchewan, members automatically passed the council chairmanship to E. L. Paynter, director of that Canadian province's wildlife branch, Department of Natural Resources, Prince Albert. Date and place of meeting will be set by the host province.

Central Flyway members include Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Montana and the Canadian provinces of Alberta, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia.

Negro Student Wins Round in Racial Battle

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Saturday threw out the latest stay granted by U. S. Judge Ben Cameron in the James Meredith case.

Meredith, a Negro, is attempting to enter the all-white University of Missisippi.

In its ruling today, the court said the stays issued by Cameron were "unauthorized, erroneous and improvident, and each of them is hereby vacated and set aside forthwith."

The effect of the ruling, which reinstates the previous orders of the court in the case, would be to direct a district judge to order the University of Mississippi to admit Meredith.

Cameron, who did not sit on the panel making the decisions in the case, had issued his stays to allow the state of Mississippi time to bring the case before the U. S. Supreme Court, now in vacation recess.

The court originally issued its mandate last month, directing Judge Sidney Mize of Gulfport, Miss., to issue an injunction to admit Meredith.

Judge Cameron later issued a 30-day stay of the order, and the court then met and threw out that stay.

Cameron issued another 30-day stay on July 31 for the state to appeal to the Supreme Court which is on vacation until October.

The court today, noting the stays, said "while it might appear to be unnecessary to enter any further orders, the court now enters this order to make certain that the record is kept straight."

It required "full and immediate obedience and compliance" with its orders in the case.

Drug, Containing Dirt, Misbranded, Court Is Told

DENVER (UPI) — A Denver man was charged Friday with misbranding a drug—which the federal government said was only dirt.

U.S. Atty. Lawrence M. Henry filed the charge in U.S. District Court against Arthur W. Blaine.

The complaint said the tablets were distributed by Minerralpar of Cheyenne at the rate of 125 for $6. It said leaflets accompanying the tablets suggested they would be effective for treatment and prevention of disease, disorder, suffering and shortened life, stupidity in children, rickets, bone deformities, had teeth and nervous disorder.

A. U.S. Food and Drug Administration officer, Theodore H. Christensen, said analysis of the tablets showed they were dirt.

Charles E. Baughman Dies; Rites Monday

Charles E. Baughman, 1501½ W. Colorado Ave., died Friday at a local hospital. He was a retired lumberman from Kent, Wash., and had been a resident of Colorado Springs for three years. He was a member of Trinity Methodist Church.

Mr. Baughman was born in Harrison, Boone County, Ark., Sept. 5, 1887. He is survived by three sons, William Baughman, of Colorado Springs; James R. Baughman, Auburn, Wash. and Charles E. Two Escape Serious Injury in Accident

Two Colorado Springs men escaped serious injury Friday night in a two-car crash at 1200 N. Union Blvd.

Edgar Bertil Nelson, 40, of 2157 Pleasant Dr., was charged by Colorado Springs police with careless and reckless driving and Robert James Booth, 71, of 1221 N. Cascade Ave., was charged with failure to yield the right of way at an intersection. Both men are to appear in police court on Monday.

According to a police report, Booth was making a left hand turn off Uintah Street onto Union Boulevard when his car was struck in the rear by the Nelson car.

Nelson was taken to Penrose Hospital by E & E Ambulance and was treated for a cut lower lip and released.

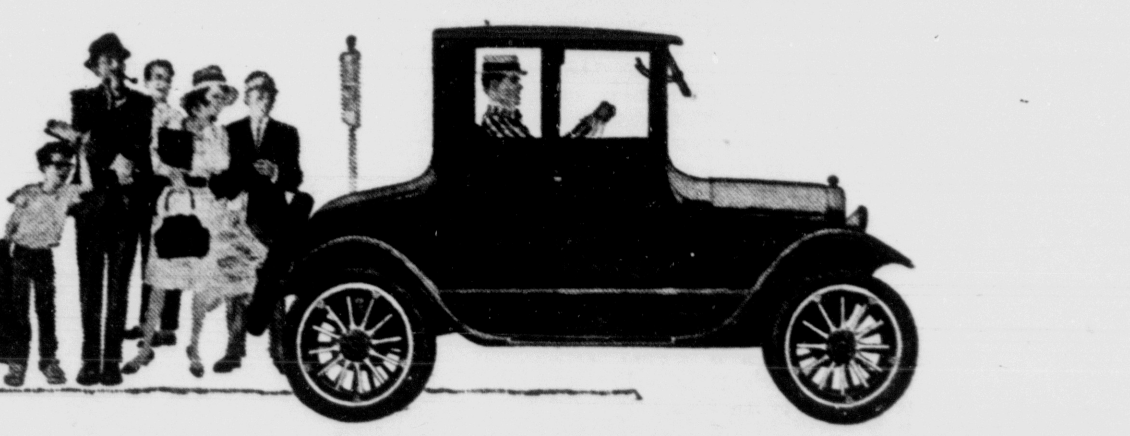
TO PLEASE EVERYBODY



(WELL . . . ALMOST EVERYBODY) CHEVROLET

Even the most persnickety luxury-lover couldn't ask for very much more than a Jet-smooth Chevrolet (like, for instance, that Impala Sport Coupe at the top). Yet all of it—Body-by-Fisher elegance, road-gentling Jet-smooth ride with Full Coil suspension, six engine choices, the works—comes for a Chevrolet price. (You know how low that is.)

JET-SMOOTH CHEVROLET

Here's about the best thing that's happened to make money go farther since budgets—the lively low-cost Chevy II. It's got all kinds of room (Body by Fisher, what else?), a 6 that thrives on regular gasoline, plus things like bolt-on front-end components for rock-bottom upkeep. Eleven models include the Nova 400 2-Door Sedan (second from top).

CHEVY II NOVA

The Corvair Monza is kind of like two cars for one low price—a roomy family car and a sporty driver's car. And with the engine at the rear for better traction and easy handling, it plays both roles to the hilt. The Monza comes in three flavors—Club Coupe (third from top), Sedan or Convertible. Care to join the club—and get a once-a-year buy, to boot?

'Are We Being Brainwashed?'

On occasion we have been critical of articles appearing in our own Sunday supplement, the Family Weekly. Today, we wish to reverse this criticism to pile a little praise on a fine article which you may miss and we hope you don't.

It was written by George F. Sutherland, M. D., with the assistance of Curtis Mitchell and is called: "Are We Being Brainwashed?" The title, we suppose, is calculated to scare you into reading. Actually, the article is way above the title.

The authors endeavor to show that the Russian situation and attitude may both be geared to the experiments of Ivan Petrovich Pavlov. And it is obviously true that the Russian methodology appears to include alternately harsh and soft treatment. One day, the red diplomats are speaking softly; the next, they are shaking an atom bomb. And it is entirely possible that Americans, in trying to evaluate this procedure, can become unnerved and despondent as a result.

But more important, the article goes on to point out certain basic facts which can lead to some kind of a mental breakdown.

"Three conditions, if maintained long enough, are expected to create an experimental neurosis in a human being.

"1. A CONTINUOUS state of unpleasant anticipation.

"2. Lack of means to combat the situation.

"3. Mounting anxiety under inescapable pressure."

Dr. Sutherland and Mr. Mitchell apply these three rules to the possible threat posed by the Soviet Union. But we would like to suggest that the same rules ought to be applied to other problems which are arising all the time right here at home.

Actually, as the article concludes, Russia and her satellites are really in a pretty serious state of ineptitude and frustration. And instead of imagining that Russia is the master manipulator of human passions and human confusion, it is equally valid to suppose that Russia is now being confronted internally with so many problems that she cannot begin to cope with them. Hence, her vacillation from belligerency to sweet reason can be an effect of her own confusions rather than a planned implementation of frustration elsewhere.

But in America, precisely the same rules apply.

Americans, especially in recent years, have been conditioned to believe that virtually all of their problems can be solved if only the proper political steps are taken. The urging occurs on every hand for EVERYONE to get into politics, either professionally or as a volunteer.

But take point one: "A continuous state of unpleasant anticipation."

Do anticipated political events create with you a rather constant or recurrent "unpleasant anticipation"? Do you wonder what the politicians will do next? Do you, deep down in your heart, doubt very much whether a change in administration will bring any wanted moderation in the proposals and programs being fomented on such an horrendous front?

Do you recognize that a little MORE in the way of taxation and regulation and so on, may break your back and turn you into nothing more than a serf at the beck and call of a monstrous government? Does political anticipation have this effect on you? It does on millions.

Or take the second point, "Lack of means to combat the situation."

Here is the source of monstrous national frustration. Millions of persons are told to believe that they can change things if only they will vote and take a lot of political interest. So they vote and take a lot of political interest.

But this has the net result of increasing their recognition of their lack of means to combat the situation. For the more actively they get out the vote and take a political interest, the more things remain the same.

Meanwhile, here is number three, "Mounting anxiety under inescapable pressure." The political fulminators are redoubling their efforts to get everyone involved politically. The more the pressures mount, the more it is apparent that political participation will not bring in the millenium.

Perhaps while the voters are working themselves into a lather of frustration, it might serve a useful purpose to apply the final rules given by the authors of "Are We Being Brainwashed?"

We might become better informed as to the real nature of politics.

We might dig behind the political promises.

And we might recognize the fact that our ultimate goal is a working condition of freedom so that we can mind our own business and have a high and progressive standard of living in a more abundant life.

Customer Satisfaction

While you are out trying to attract new customers, don't forget to keep the old ones happy by making them more and more certain they exercised good judgment when they first came to you.

Customer Can Say No

In a free economy, the customer is king.

What does this mean? It means that when we rely upon a market place that is unrestrained in any way by government, by unions or by any other force or agency of force, the customer has the final place of refusal.

Only the free man may say "no." Only in a free market, may the customer say "no."

If the economy is not free, the customer may not say no. And if the customer cannot say no then he cannot be king. Slaves can say yes. They may not say no.

But the king can say no. And he can get away with saying no. This is why a free economy is so vitally important.

It is only when people are free to REJECT things they do not want that they can be in the position of final arbiter. And this is why freedom and the free market are so important.

Take a controlled economy or one that is only partially controlled by some kind of central planning. Let us see what happens. The customer goes into a store and asks for some particular kind of product. The store keeper tells him that he cannot have that product because the government planners have ruled that its production isn't feasible, all things considered.

Who is saying no, the custom- or the store keeper?

Or is it the government that has said no?

Take the condition in a completely controlled economy. A person wishes to abstain from the purchase of bread, let us say, because this person believes that bread is fattening and consequently should not be included in his particular diet.

But the government has planned bread production on the basis of total anticipated consumption. If all the bread that has been baked isn't consumed, it really won't matter because the individual people who don't eat the bread can be compelled to pay for it anyway thru the medium of taxation.

Who said no? Was it the customer? Or was the customer forced to pay for something he didn't want by means of taxation?

This is the inevitable, the inescapable problem of all government planning and operation of the economy. However skillfully it is ordered, the customer is dethroned and the government is enthroned. The government decides what shall be produced, who shall have it, and at what price. The government decides who is to pay for it and in what amount. Only the government is in the final decision-making position.

In a free market, the government has no say at all. Individual people have the prerogative of accepting or rejecting anything they find in the market and for any reason. They can buy or they can sell.

They can buy at a price that pleases them or they can sell at a price that pleases them. But they have no means at their disposal wherein they can compel people to buy from them at their price or sell to them at a price acceptable only to the seller.

In the free market, the customer, the buyer, is the individual making the final decisions. He is the one who sets all the prices, orders all the repeat business, approves of a product and thereby hires thousands of men, disapproves of a product and thereby fires thousands of men.

His smile turns the wheels of industry. His frown darkens the sky and closes the doors of the hiring halls.

But would you have it any other way?

In the free market, all of us, as customers, design and provide the kind of world we want. Government intrusion into our domain simply clutters the works, deprives us of what we want, and costs us billions in false starts, false economies, false expenditures and lost freedom.

The American free market system is the most impressive and the most productive in the world. We, as customers, run it.

Let's get our rival, the omnipotent state, out of it.

Cures!

By GEORGE BOARDMAN, Ph.D.

From time to time we receive letters from readers who demand prescriptions for the ills of the nation. From our own point of view, if the illness is correctly diagnosed, the cure becomes obvious. For instance, one of our most malignant ailments is social security, which has turned into a sacred cow which is only rarely kicked. The cure is ridiculously simple. If no one avails himself of the so-called benefits of the illness, the ailment will be cured within a year or two. Thousands of employees of this political immorality will either be privileged to earn a living in the market place or they will be absorbed in other governmental idiocies until the boycott against compulsory government paternalism progresses. Such action, by the way, would constitute very real progress.

The arguments against such a boycott are obvious and they all begin with, "I paid into it and I am going to get what's coming to me." Yep, you will get what's coming to you — but good!

Legislation designed to nullify the withholding of taxes, an action which enslaves every business involved with the employment of people, has been introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Bruce Alger, representative of Texas. If taxpayers are faced with paying all of their income tax at the end of the year, they will realize what a horrible and downright evil thing the graduated income tax is. The Liberty Amendment, introduced by Rep. Jim Utt of California and approved by six states to date, would repeal the income tax laws, get the government out of business in competition with taxpayers and cure a great variety of ailments IF the employers of government refuse other government services which would give government an excuse to create other forms of taxes.

If taxpayers refused to live in government - financed housing projects, these potential slum areas would remain empty. If you refuse to go to FHA for government guaranteed loans, FHA would perish. If veterans and their families refused to go to government hospitals except for service - connected disabilities, taxes used for enlarging such facilities would be used elsewhere, of course, but if the boycott of government services continued, the "elsewhere" would cease to exist.

Perhaps you might care to figure out what percentage of your tax dollar is used to support fascist, communist and socialist governments. Possibly you are sufficiently concerned as to see the logic of reducing your cost of living to such a degree that you can take a vacation, without pay, for the express purpose of telling the government what you have done and why.

If you believe federal gasoline taxes are excessive, reduce your driving by 50 per cent and tell your elected employees what you are doing and why.

If Congress passes the bill which will compel banks and other savings institutions to withhold a percentage of the interest earned by your savings, the cure is simple. Draw your savings out of the banks and invest it in raw land until the government gets off your back, or be your own banker.

If you are out of work, make the rounds of your neighbors and small business establishments and see if you can't eke out a simple existence without rushing to obtain a dole from the government unemployment agencies and keep your self-respect intact. If you are able, willing and healthy enough to work, you will be pleasantly surprised at the response you receive if you don't worry about a "living wage" until you EARN IT.

Obviously, this list is far from complete but it should serve as an indication of what might be accomplished if you really believe in the inalienable right of a man to be free.

Yes, we do practice the theories about which I write and our gasoline consumption, for instance, is 10 per cent of the amount we used regularly only two years ago and we are feeling no pain. The prescription is simple. Boycott government but you have to get used to the medicine, I'll admit.

Good health and good luck to you, in freedom.

We Cultivate Thistles

from The Tulsa Tribune

It is time the American people got a little fed up with the use of tax money to support immorality, irresponsibility and "Home" environments in which children can only be poisoned.

There is a good example out near Sand Springs. A 33-year-old Negro woman shot and killed her 43 - year - old paramour after a drinking bout and a quarrel. The county attorney visited the house. He found that the woman had five children, three of whom, she said, were fathered by her estranged husband. The five children, aged three to 14, were kept in a seven-by-eight-foot kitchen during those frequent nights when the woman was entertaining men friends in the other room. The house was filthy.

This woman has been receiving free groceries under the surplus commodities arrangement, and, in addition, has been getting $188 a month in state aid.

The state aid is provided to permit unfortunate widows or deserted mothers to keep their children by them so that they may have the benefit of a loving home. When are we going to realize that much of this state aid goes to finance irresponsibility and the cruel neglect of children?? When are we going to quit kidding ourselves that a system for subsidizing illegitimacy is going to produce a new generation of fine upstanding youngsters? Isn't it time we made a few distinctions?

The woman asserts that she hasn't been visited by a case worker since last November. The plea will, of course, be made that the case workers are overloaded. But isn't it worth remarking that regardless of the general level of prosperity the relief load climbs steadily? And why shouldn't it climb if public money is merely distributed regularly by mail with little effort at supervision?

The Senate Appropriations Committee has informed the Health, Education and Welfare Dept. that it will not back any new appropriations until a check is made on welfare cheating. A recent five per cent sampling in Washington, D.C. revealed that 66 per cent of the families receiving aid were ineligible. A probe is scheduled in Oklahoma during the next 12 months.

In April Oklahoma had 19,285 families on Aid-to - Dependent-Children rolls at a cost for the month of $2,377,920. It is significant that during that month only 34 Oklahoma families were being given aid because of unemployed parents, and only 85 children were in foster homes.

The sentimental delusion that an immoral, neglectful mother is entitled to levy on the public purse so that she can give children (many of them by casual fathers) "loving care" ought to be tossed in the ashcan. Decent foster homes must be found for such children. Mothers who repeatedly have illegitimate children should be declared ineligible for public aid. We have heard the silly plea that aid must not be withheld because "it is not the children's fault and children must not be penalized." Of course, it isn't the children's fault. But who was being penalized by living miserably in the kitchen of that disorderly house near Sand Springs? The children.

Taxpayers have been too long-suffering about sloppy welfare systems that encourage immorality and illegitimacy, and that raise children of the worst and weakest bloodlines under "home" conditions that can hardly fail to add them to the swelling ranks of delinquents.

THE Allen-Scott REPORT

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

Red Guerrillas in Macedonia

WASHINGTON — U. S. and Greek officials are watching with growing concern the first ominous results of Premier Khrushchev's mid - May visit to neighboring Communist Bulgaria.

Hundreds of Communist guerrillas who fought in the unsuccessful Greek civil war have moved back into the Macedonia areas of Bulgaria and Yugoslavia from their postwar haven in the Soviet Union.

Located on the Greek border, the mountainous sanctuaries in Macedonia were used by Stalin after World War II to funnel thousands of Red guerrillas into the bloody uprising in Greece.

The secret return of these partisans to this sensitive Balkan area was discovered earlier this month by Greek intelligence agents passing through these regions as mountain climbers.

The agents reported seeing more than 200 guerrillas, including a number of Greek children captured by the Communists during the civil war, in the Macedonia area of Yugoslavia that borders Greece.

The "Orphans of the Storm," as the Greek children are called, said their group has just arrived from the Soviet Union. They appeared to be fully indoctrinated in Communist doctrine and guerrilla warfare. All carried automatic weapons of Soviet design.

About 150 of the Communist Greek guerrillas, including a number of Russian wives, were discovered in newly-settled camps on the Bulgaria Greek border. These Greek partisans told stories of leaving the Soviet Union late in June, or just a month after Khrushchev visited Bulgaria.

The guerrillas indicated they are the vanguard, and that others still in the Soviet Union are to join them before the fall. They expressed hopes of eventually returning to their home land.

BEHIND THE RETURN

The Kremlin's purpose in returning the Communist guerrillas is believed to be tied into a whole program of improving Soviet - Yugoslav relations toward which Khrushchev and Tito have agreed to work.

Greek officials are concerned that the return is part of a Khrushchev - Tito move to set the stage for a second attempt to overthrow their government.

U. S. officials have another theory. They believe that Tito is planning an uprising in Albania, and that he is installing guerrillas on the border as a warning to the Greek government to keep hands off.

George Kennan, U. S. ambassador to Yugoslavia, has recommended that the NATO nations, including the U. S. and Greece, adopt a "hands off" policy in Communist Albania's bitter quarrel with Yugoslavia.

He recently testified before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "Tito is trying his best to knock off the stinking, Stalinist, pro - Red China, Dictator (Enver) Hoxha regime in Albania by using cover operations within the Communist party there. If these internal subversion efforts fail, he will resort to overt military action."

Kennan warned that Tito will not tolerate any attempt by Greece, or any other Western nation, to use the Communist split with Albania as an opening to pry that country from the Communist orbit.

This blunt warning by Kennan clashes head - on with the policy the present Greek government is planning to follow if Tito tries to annex Albania. The Greeks themselves are prepared to take over a section of Albania that they have claimed for years.

ENDING A MYTH

The book "Conversations with Stalin" by Milovan Djilas, a former high - ranking Yugoslav Communist official, is forcing U. S. Intelligence officials to revise their estimates that Tito closed Yugoslavia's border to Greek partisans to help the West win the civil war.

According to Djilas, who was sent to prison on May 14 for divulging "official secrets," Tito closed the borders on direct orders from Stalin.

Djilas related details of one high - level meeting he attended (February 10, 1948) at which Stalin announced:

"The uprising in Greece has to fold up. Do you think that Great Britain and the U. S., the most powerful state in the world, will permit you to break their line of communication in the Mediterranean Sea? Nonsense. And we have no navy. The uprising in Greece must be stopped and as quickly as possible."

It was after this meeting that Tito ordered the border closed to Greek guerrillas, according to Djilas.

MAKING CHANGES

The Agriculture Department is stockpiling large quantities of wheat and barley on the West Coast. Upwards of 15 million bushels of wheat are being moved to Stockton, Calif., and Portland, Ore., from storage facilities in the Midwest. Agriculture Department officials say the grain is destined for Japan and not Red China as some rumors persist . . . President Kennedy is planning to name new ambassadors to West Germany, Vienna and Thailand before Congress quits. He has temporarily dropped plans to replace Ambassador James Gavin in Paris.

REGIONAL RULE

To the Editor:

The 1961 revision added to the Washington Code includes approximately five pages dealing with House Bill 304. This bill is Chapter 214 in the 1955 Proceedings and Chapter 28.82 in the 1961 revision, under the general heading of Public Schools and Colleges. It deals with the Western Regional Higher Education Compact and establishes a Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

Briefly, here are the details. The commission consists of three resident members from each compacting state appointed by the governor and serving a period of four years. At all times one commissioner from each state shall be an educator actively engaged in the field of higher education. The commission has its own seal and bylaws and maintains an office within one of the compacting states. Operating costs of the commission are apportioned equally among the compacting states.

The commission shall draft and recommend to the governors of the various compacting states, uniform legislation dealing with problems of higher education in the region. On or before the fifteenth day of January of each year, the commission shall submit to governors and legislatures of the compacting states reports of its activities. States included in the Western Regional Compact, each entitled to one vote, are: Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, Alaska and Hawaii.

Now, this bill raises many questions. If legislation is presented to the various states thru such an interstate commission, this in effect bypasses constitutional government. There is no constitutional division in this country such as the Western Region, and there is no such thing as territorial or regional law. If interstate commissions function in other areas of the country, this will ultimately weaken both national and state laws and lead to government by those who are in no way responsible to the electorate. We can find ourselves increasingly responding to pressures on education which cannot be readily detected.

Here are questions this citizen would like to raise for discussion and answers:

1. What uniform legislation or other suggestions has the Western Regional Higher Education Compact (specifically, the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education) proposed to the compacting states? What legislation is it considering for the future?

2. Who represents the State of Washington on the commission? Where is the regional office of the commission located?

3. What liaison, if any is there between the commission and educational groups or committees set up within the state?

4. Where are the commission reports filed? Are they available to the public?

5. What are the costs of maintaining the program?

6. How widespread is the interstate regional influence? Does it lead to exchanges with comparable regional groups in other parts of the country?

7. Is the uniform legislation proposed by the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education in any way related to programs currently receiving federal aid within this state, or slated to receive federal aid in the future?

8. To what extent is the commission influenced by professional educational organizations?

9. Has the constitutionality of such a regional compact been carefully considered by Washington state legislators?

10. Is this not a long step toward placing education above the law and public control, and establishing it as a fourth branch of the government?

Again, we repeat, government in this country is set up by constitutional law only at the federal. state and local levels. There is no provision for regional law or government. The implications of a Western Regional Compact which might function ultimately at all educational levels and in other spheres of activity as well should be carefully studied.

OREGON SUBSCRIBER

To the Editor:

I have observed that the most vitriolic, personal attacks against the editor and the editorial policy of the paper have produced some of the finest editorial answers to these letters.

Therefore I am always grateful when a reader like Howard Marvin creates a "springboard for discussion" with a letter to Open Parliament. C. M. Holloway has made similar contributions.

But I cannot escape a sense of curiosity over the fact that some of these people seem compelled to explain so carefully why they are now residents of Colorado. Holloway carefully identified himself as a smog victim.

I observe that the GT is an extremely painful thorn in the side of that section of the underworld that calls itself "organized labor."

I further observe that "organized labor" is financially well-heeled, because of more than $100,000,000 a month extracted by violence from the victims of this racket. Therefore, the labor bosses should have money to spend for any purposes that are pleasing to their whims.

These are some of the thoughts that cross my mind when a reader attacks the GT after carefully explaining his recent arrival in Colorado.

Well, I was just thinking. I live on the Oregon seacoast, which in some ways is even prettier than Colorado. But if I should ever move to Colorado Springs and subsequently write a letter to Open Parliament, I guarantee that I will not feel compelled to explain my presence there.

Because that would be strictly my own business.

THE DAILY RACE

To the Editor:

This might be of interest to your residents, also. There's a rumor being circulated about to this effect. Benches will be provided on all the thru streets in Denver, particularly Sixth and Eighth Avenues, so people may sit and watch the auto races daily present on these streets, as well as single speeders on almost any of the other streets in Denver. In this manner people who "enjoy" this "sport" will not have to purchase seats at other automobile tracks here and there.

Of course, the speed of these cars will not be as fast as when they get on freeways but you may rest assured, as is proved by the accidents we read about in the papers (and those we don't but which happen) practice, as the saying goes, will make them perfect. It makes a careful auto driver wonder why the manufacturers ever put these ungodly high-powered motors in cars today. That such driving is condoned and in a large city furnishes more wonder.

Red Tape and Black Oil

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Odessa, Tex., recently celebrated a festival called "Appreciation Week" in tribute to three majestic new industries which have raised awe - inspiring structures on the old cattle prairies a mile south of town. They are El Paso Natural Gas Products Co., the General Tire Co., which now goes in for petroleum products and Rexall Chemical, which produces plastic things like pill bottles and slipcovers for porch furniture.

Concurrently, in the much more stylish and pretentious city of Midland, 20 miles to the east, the news is not good. There have been 471 foreclosures on dwellings, both FHA and VA, and there are 271 delinquents. And only 247 oil drilling rigs are working as against 800 about eight years ago. Some of the mortgage defaulters are up-grading themselves into bigger homes as the prices drop, but the figures altogether justify only one conclusion. The economy is absolutely out of joint.

Odessa used to be the mud-spattered rough-neck. Odessa still is the roughneck, which is an honored name of a formidable calling, the roustabout, who works on oil rigs. Midland is the executive and financial capital of the great Permian oil basin. Both cities now have tall buildings on streets which were dirt roads 20 years ago. Midland is the outpost of Wall Street. The geologists live there, too.

Odessa sells, salvages, repairs, and generally keeps the machinery going. It is not jewelry. It is unsightly pipe of many dimensions, derricks, pumps and heavy-duty trucks. Odessa now has about 75,000 people. Midland has about 60,000. Both cities now have expensive stores, including jewelry stores, whereas only an hour and a half to the north the ghastly ghost-town of Wink is on the public hide like a tick on a cow, for more than a million dollars' public charity for "urban rehabilitation." It would have been better to level the damned mess with earth-movers, for it has no conceivable use for any useful people now that the oil beneath the spread has been exhausted. But has it been exhausted? I will come back to that.

THE "LOBBLE"

Texas is really a distressed area for all her reputation as a blow - hard spendthrift in New York, Chicago, and latterly, Washington. The base of the prosperity, the economy, of Texas, next to farming, which means cotton and beef, is oil and natural gas. But the State Government has been strangling the "little fellows" of the oil industry with a limitation on the number of days that a well is permitted to produce up to its normal, rated capacity. This limit is called the "allowable," commonly pronounced "the lobble".

The lobble is now static at eight days a month. This is very popular with the giants of international oil such as Humble, a subsidiary of Jersey; Shell, Mobil, Cities Service, and Tidewater. They import foreign oil from the Near East and Venezuela for a dollar a barrel at the rate of about two million barrels a day. Texas oil brings about $3 a barrel. So the Big Fellows have it made either way. The lower the Texas lobble, the more foreign oil they can market here. But if Texas were to abandon control absolutely, her own known reserves would be used up in a very few years. But her known reserves are not her unproven potential. Thousands of the wildcat and development holes drilled by the Little Fellows are just liddy-biddy ol' worm-holes down to 7,000 feet or so. Such a hole will cost from $25,000 to $50,000. If it makes oil or gas, the Little Fellow pulls up his pipe, lowers the rig and—

Well, he does not necessarily begin to sell oil or gas, although he has it to sell, underground. First he must either connect with a pipeline or contract with a man to come around with a tank-truck on his lobble days and fetch it to the market. Or, if he has a gas mine in some cavern down there in the dark, he must first wheedle some pipeline to come and tap him and then submit to arbitrary prices imposed by the Federal Power Commission in Washington in the most fascinating tangle of court decisions and appeals ever amassed. Meanwhile some companies which produce and buy gas are putting money into dead storage against a day when they may have to refund hundreds of millions to householders and other customers if current retail prices are disallowed.

UNCERTAINTY

Some of the court appeals take three years. A mere motion may take six months. Nobody on this earth understands all the technicalities which have been raised to disguise the fact that a Federal bureau in Washington presumes to tell a citizen in Texas how much he may charge for a thousand cubic feet of gas in his own ground. No other fuel is so controlled. In the last three months El Paso laid off more than a hundred of the best men of its small staff. The future was too uncertain to justify exploration and the accumulation of leases on further reserves. Other companies are up against about the same problem.

The Big Fellows probably have the future of Texas oil and gas in their chubby hands. For they can go down to 20,000 or 25,000 feet. Nobody really knows what is down that far. But they can afford to try and results to date justify a strong hope that if Russia and the Near East should run the United States out of other world markets, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Louisiana could produce quantities not yet imagined from way down deep.

Odessa is only 70 miles east of Pecos, which is coming on with a rush as a producer. But thus far, Pecos is only tentative and the business men there who are scoffing at their Estes disaster, are whistling past the graveyard. It does the economy of a farming country no good to have most of her prominent men wiped out in a confidence game. That is the fact in Pecos and still the public indignation of this old-line church going American town runs not against Billie Sol but against Dr. John Dunn, a local physician and member of the John Birch Society, for snatching the mask off a psalm-singing pulpit-slapper.

Bids for a Smile

A lady went to her doctor to have a prescription renewed. She sat in the crowded waiting room and became ingrossed in a magazine. When the nurse called her name, she found her leg had gone to sleep and she limped awkwardly into the doctor's office.

The doctor wrote a new prescription, and two minutes later the woman walked briskly out into the waiting room again.

As she put on her coat, she noticed another waiting patient staring at her in astonishment. The astonished patient poked her companion and whispered excitedly, See, Myrtle? I told you he is the best doctor in town!

Book on Missiles Spacecraft Added To Library Shelves

A book by the National Aviation Council describing the nation's achievement in the production of aircraft, missiles and spacecraft is among new arrivals at Colorado Springs' Public Library.

The book is titled "United States Aircraft, Missiles and Spacecraft," and other arrivals include "Communications in Space: From Wireless to Satellite Relay," by Orrin E. Two Speculators to Be Shot in Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Jews convicted of masterminding a currency speculation ring have been sentenced to death by shooting in the Ukraine.

The sentencing in Khmelnitsky was reported by Kiev's Pravda Ukrainy.

The two men, identified as Y. M. Posner and S. B. Kuris, were among six defendants—all with Jewish names—convicted of currency offenses.

Large quantities of hidden gold rings and coins as well as American and Canadian currency were found, the report said. The newspaper said the valuables had been stolen from state farm receiving centers.

The other defendants were identified as Y. R. Goldenfarb, sentenced to 15 years imprisonment; M. G. Schneider, eight years; and K. R. Katz and S. M. Greenberg, seven years each.

Constant Arrests Are Noted in New York

NEW YORK (AP). — New York City police have made an average of one arrest every 2½ minutes during the first six months of this year — a total of 107,954 arrests.

The total, the police department said Friday, marked an 18.5 per cent increase over the same period last year.

MORE THAN $50,000 RAISED — The first report meeting of the campaign committee for the Mamie Doud Eisenhower Osteopathic Hospital showed $50,134 has been paid and pledged for construction of the hospital. The amount was given by 51 contributors. The campaign, headed by A. Earl Bryson, will continue thru Aug. 15, with the final report on that day. The campaign goal is $200,000. At the first report meeting were, left to right, William Liggett, president of Pikes Peak Bank of Commerce; J. Stanley Hoddy, president of Emerson Western Electric Co.; George A. Vradenburg, owner of Vradenburg Realty and president of the hospital board; A. Earl Bryson, campaign chairman; Ernest O. Tullis, attorney and hospital board members; Dr. Harold Will and Dr. Hazen Anderson.

Deaf-Blind Dad Intends to Keep 7-Year-Old Son

In his grief over the death of his wife, Harold Hathaway, 60, consoled himself by uttering these words as he clutched his 7-year-old son, Clarence, to his chest in a hospital corridor.

Clarence had been the eyes and ears of his parents. He did many of the household chores and helped with the shopping. Both his parents were deaf and blind—the mother, Georgia, 43, since birth. The father lost his sight in 1947 and has been deaf since he was 11.

Mrs. Hathaway, who had been hospitalized several times this this year because rheumatic fever had weakened her heart, confided to friends she only wanted to live until Clarence grew up. She died late Thursday in Akron General Hospital.

The Hathaways were unwilling central figures in a storm of publicity after Clarence, a normal child, was born. Welfare officials said they did not feel the boy could be reared in a three-dimensional world by a sightless, deaf couple.

A judge's ruling when Clarence was a month old allowed the Hathaways to rear him. The couple lived principally on aid to the blind, and the Visiting Nurse Association helped them rear the boy.

Mrs. Hathaway's reaction at the time that proposals were being made to take Clarence away from his natural parents was: "He's the only thing in my life I've ever had of my own. If I can't keep him I don't want to live."

The sad duty of telling the elder Hathaway that his wife had died fell upon Police Chief Ronald Harper of Stow, companion and friend of the Hathaways. At the hospital, the chief wrote with his finger upon Hathaway's palm: "She is dead." Hathaway then told his son.

Neighbors think the boy will stay with his father.

Mechanical Thumb May Start Testing Apples

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Department engineers are preparing a "mechanical thumb" for use in determining the firmness of apples and other fruits.

The mechanical thumb is said to have a more sensitive feel for an apple than the thumb of the most talented produce expert. It gives a rapid and consistent performance day in and day out. Although not ready yet for commercial use, the mechanical thumb has given highly promising results when tested under actual commercial conditions.

Crop Production Report May Influence Laws

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department will issue a crop production report next week that might have an influence on congressional action on farm legislation for the 1963 crop year.

The report, to be issued Friday, will give the latest official estimate of production of livestock feed grains. These grains are being grown under an emergency program offering growers of corn, sorghum grain and barley more than $800 million for reducing acreages.

Under a similar program last year, farmers were paid about $782 million for retiring feed grain acreages. Potential payments this year total nearly $900 million.

The new feed grain production report will come at a time when Congress has before it proposals to tighten controls on production of feed grains or continue the present voluntary program another year.

There is a good possibility that the new corn production figure will be larger than last year's production of this grain. Certainly, weather conditions for this crop have been exceptionally favorable so far this summer. Should a crop in excess of last year's be indicated, sponsors of tighter controls would be in a position to argue that the extension of the present grain program would be futile and costly.

A month ago the corn crop was forecast at 3.5 billion bushels compared with 3.6 billion last year and 3.9 billion in 1960, before the land retirement program for grains was inaugurated.

34 Cuban Refugees Picked Up Off Florida

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Thirty-four Cuban refugees were picked up by a Coast Guard patrol boat and brought to Key West Friday night.

The refugees left Las Villas Province aboard three 20-foot fishing boats and were picked up at Cay Sal, a British island between Cuba and Florida.

The group included eight men, eight women and 18 children. Mostly fishermen and their families, they complained of food and medicine shortages in Cuba.

736 Political Prisoners Held, Spain Declares

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The Spanish government has denied a report that it is holding 4,000 political prisoners, saying the correct figure was 736.

A press note on Friday from the Ministry of Information said Spain's total prison population is 14,731, of which only 736 are under sentence for crimes against the security of the state.

"The figure of 14,731 represents only 50 in every 100,000 inhabitants, a percentage which is among the lowest of any country in the world," the note said.

The announcement said the note was circulated to answer a report in the London Daily Herald that there were 4,000 persons in Spanish prisons condemned or detained for political crimes.

NAZARENE GIVIN HIGHEST

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Once again, the Church of the Nazarene heads the list for per capita giving among Protestant denominations with 100,000 members or more, latest figures show. Members gave, on the average, $142.33 each to the church last year.

Five Men Killed as Bridge Collapses

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP) — Wooden shorings supporting a massive interstate highway bridge under construction near here gave way Friday, crushing five men to death under more than 100 tons of concrete and steel.

A Highway Department inspector on top of the structure at the time and four construction workers underneath were killed.

Dead are Richard Carl Stuelphagel, 27, Rapid City, the inspector; and Charles Trainer, 32, S. P. Bidwell, Alex Miller, 55, and Leon Raymond Belden, all construction workers from Sioux Falls, S. D.

The bridge caved in, officials said, just when Bidwell and several others were investigating a report that the timber shorings were failing.

Unusual Interest Marks Last CC Summer Concert

By JOHN FETLER

Unusual interest, for the music as well as performers, marked the sixth and last Colorado College summer concert Friday night at the Fine Arts Center.

The first number proved to be a sonata from Bach's famous Musical Offering with which the audience was well plased.

To have such a chamber work by Bach is, of course, always a special treat, and this sonata proved to rule. It was performed by Harvey Boatright, flute; Giorgio Ciompi, violin; George Bekefi, cello; and Jo Boatright at the harpsichord.

Since the harpsichord and cello for the most part were cast in a supporting role, the music resulted mostly in dialogue between flute and violin, in which Boatright and Ciompi did a job with finesse.

It was interesting to notice, also, that the large harpsichord lent this work just the right atmosphere for which a piano, for instance, would definitely have been overpowering; also Bekefi's treatment of the bass line was gratifyingly firm and assertive, so that the over - all results was one of solid ensemble work, even though the main lines went to the Violin and flute.

Musically, of added interest was the next number, a string quartet by Verdi, who has a wider reputation in the operatic field. This work, in four movements, proved to be, however, enjoyable not only as a musical curiosity, but as a lyrical expression in its own right. As Dr. Seary expressed it: "This work is mature Verdi, whose only real rival in pure musicianship is Mozart." And, the string quartet consisting of Ciompi, Fulghum, Doktor and Bekefi, did justice to the melodic flights and inventiveness of Verdi's "Sweet seriousness", setting the stage, incidentally, for the spirit of the next number.

Which turned out to be a piano quintet by Dvorak, and which, as in the Verdi work, had so much musical variety packed into the confines of the musical form that it provided ample and versatile musical experience for the audience.

In this work, Max Lanner joined the string quartet, bringing the cascading pianistic effects to a fine point in the appropriate spots; it would seem that this quintet is undoubtedly one of the happier products of Dvorak, who otherwise sometimes seems to suffer from over - simplification; in the quintet, however, he achieves, as Dr. Seay expresses it "rhythmic vitality" as well as what may be more important from a listener's standpoint, constant variety, despite some lack of melodic variation, so that the total impression is one of still fresh lyricism and interest.

This, of course, is said mostly in view of the psychological impact on today's listeners to this music. The main thing is that, ending with the springhtly Dvorak number, the audience, which has been very good this summer season, was left in a most happy frame of mind.

SCRIPTURES FOR REDS

ENGLEWOOD, N.J. (AP)—The Pocket Testament League plans to distribute more than 200,000 copies of New Testament scriptures in 22 different languages to delegates to the Communist-sponsored World Youth Fesetival in Helsinki, Finland, July 28 to Aug. 5.

Colorado Justice Says Bar Bans Courtroom Photos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Colorado Supreme Court Chief Justice Edward C. Day accused the American Bar Association here of maintaining its Canon 35 ban on courtroom cameras and microphones in the face of all evidence.

He said lawyers, who are supposed to be trained in seeking proof, have stubbornly and completely ignored the experience of his own state, which has rejected Canon 35.

"Do silent cameras and microphones distract witnesses, degrade the court or create public misconceptions?" Day asked.

The evidence is an overwhelming "no" in Colorado over a six-year period, he said. No judge or defendant ever has complained, according to Day.

Day and several jurists disagreeing with him expressed their views in speeches prepared for delivery before the National Conference of Trial Judges.

Superior Court Judge Joseph R. Weisberger of Rhode Island, stressing that the rights of the accused are more important than those of news media, said that abolition of Canon 35 would turn sensational proceedings into circuses comparable with the show trials of Cuba and the Soviet Union.

But Day, quoting a decision of his own court, said "A trial is a public event. What happens in the courtroom is public property." He added that the judiciary has no special right to suppress events that are before it.

Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Alton Pfaff noted that some testimony and unexpected obscenities are too revolting for television. As a result, he said, judges would be obligated to cut TV off the air from the bench with push-buttons.

Weisberger said that newspaper coverage of murder, rape and divorce proceedings already has made fair trials, in many instances, "almost an impossibility."

Instead of abolishing Canon 35, he said, the rule should be strengthened to prevent publication of lawyers' statements not actually presented to a jury.

His proposal involved material given out by prosecutors before start of trials as well as comments made out of the jury's hearing.

The discussion came as the board of governors of the American Bar Association urged the nation's judges and attorneys not to change Canon 35 for at least six months.

The board said at least that much time is needed for a special committee to make further studies of experience in Colorado and Texas, which also has rejected Canon 35.

Algeria's Leftist Group Proposes Elections Sept. 2

ALGIERS (UPI) — The Algerian Political Bureau, headed by leftist Vice Premier Ahmed Ben Bella, Saturday called for elections to this new nation's first national assembly on Sept. 2.

A communique from the bureau said it "has contracted" the provisional government of Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda on the proposal, but there was no immediate action from the right-wing premier.

The bureau, scheduled to number seven men, went ahead with preparations to start work without one of its designated members, Hocine Ait Ahmed, who refused Ben Bella's call for him to return here and take his place.

It will be up to the bureau to pass on candidates for election to the constituent national assembly. The assembly in turn will name the officials of the nation's first legal government.

Ait Ahmed was named to the bureau by Ben Bella, who was once his cellmate in a French prison. But Ait Ahmed, apparently angered by the running series of squabbles among Algerian political leaders, flew to Paris.

Ben Bella sent Mohammed Boudiaf, another member of the bureau, and Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj to the French capital to try to persuade him to come back. The two emissaries returned here Saturday morning and reported their failure.

It had been expected that the elections would be set for Aug. 27. The August date, almost a week earlier than the new proposal, was thought to have been agreed upon during the negotiations which led to the acceptance by Ben Khedda of Ben Bella's bureau.

The other members of the bureau are Mohammed Khider, Rabah Bitat, Mohamedi Said, and Hadj Ben Alla. The bureau is running the National Liberation Front (FLN), and hence Algerian politics, until the elections.

Ben Bella also announced that the commander of the 55,000-man Algerian Liberation Army (ALN), Col. Houari Boumedienne, was expected here shortly.

Boumedienne was former chief of the Algerian general staff. It was his dismissal by the Ben Khedda government that brought the split in the National Liberation Front (FLN) into the open.

Ben Bella has angrily demanded Boumedienne's reinstatement.

South Africa to Fence Off British Areas

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—The Republic plans to fence itself off from the three British protectorates adjoining South African territory, the Johannesburg Afrikaans newspaper Vaderland reported Friday.

It said the government is taking this action to guard against "smugglers, cattle thieves, and other criminals."

The protectorates — Swaziland, Basutoland and Bechuanaland — frequently provide refuge for alleged political subversives fleeing arrest in South Africa.

Hanya Holm Will Present Program Thursday Night

Miss Hanya Holm will present a dance demonstration by her summer session students at Colorado College on Thursday evening the Fine Arts Center. An innovation this year is that no professional performers will take part in the program.

Featuring students only, the production will be at 8:30 p.m. A limited number of tickets will be available to the public and may be obtained at Rastall Center on the Colorado College campus or the box office of the Fine Arts Center.

1962 marks the 22nd consecutive year Miss Holm has directed the Summer Dance Session which she organized at Colorado College.

One of today's foremost choreographers, Miss Holm has staged the dances and musical numbers for such successes as "My Fair Lady" and "Kiss Me, Kate" in New York and London, and her latest Broadway hit, "Camelot."

For her work in "Kiss Me, Kate," she received the New York Drama Critics' Award for best choreography of the year. In addition to doing chereography for TV spectaculars here and in anada, she directed and choreographed the world premiere of the opera "The Ballad of Baby Doe" in Central City and Gluck's opera "Orpheus and Euridice" for the Vancouver International Festival.

Others on her outstanding staff during the summer session at Colorado College are Oliver Kostock, who teaches at Miss Holm's New York School of Dance and at Mills College of Education in New York; and John Colman, who has composed for Miss Holm, Charles Weidman of the New York City Ballet and the Ballet Jooss. Colman has taught in the New York region and has his own A cappela chorus in New York. Allan Miles, who has been assisting in classes in labanotation, a system of notating choreography, teaches regularly in the Dance Notation Bureau and the Juilliard School in New York.

CLOSED CIRCUIT SHAKESPEARE

STRATFORD, Conn. (AP)—The American Shakespeare Festival is to participate in the closed-circuit television show to be given Nov. 29 on behalf of the National Culture Center project in Washington.

The Festival wil lsponsor a $100-a-plate dinner in New York at the telecast of "An American Pageant of the Arts." The show is to be seen by donor groups in 100 cities. Proceeds from the New York dinner will be shared by the Festival and the Center.

WESTMOOR Park

"In the Shadow of the Garden of the Gods"

Bathed in romance and history as colorful as the rocky spires and formations which grace its acres, the Garden of the Gods has and always will hold its ageless appeal.

Early settlers were drawn to the "Garden" with wonder. To the Indians it was sacred ground, a ceremonial place, and many legends were centered around the garden itself, the mesa beyond and the Camp Creek Valley between, where WESTMOOR PARK is building.

Its spiritual significance is reflected in the Easter Sunrise Service held each year from this beautiful setting and broadcast on a nationwide radio network.

It is fitting that garden number two—as Glenn Eyrie was often called before General Palmer named it—should become a retreat and headquarters for the Navigators, one of America's dominant non-secretarian Christian organizations. In 1953, after prayerful considerations and miraculous support and aid from throughout the world, historic Glenn Eyrie Castle and Estate were transferred to the Navigators, and from here their work continues.

Glenn Eyrie Castle was not the first home of the Palmers. Their first home was an unpretentious one, actually not quite completed when the General brought his bride, the former Mary Lincoln Mellon, to Colorado. Until it was completed they lived in the loft of the haybarn.

The castle which contained 67 rooms and 22 baths when finished is a story in itself . . . and much of that story can be relived by a visit to the Pioneer Museum where many of the Palmer relics have been preserved.

The story of Camp Creek is not a story of a man or a castle . . . rather it is a story of a land, a magnificent park, a valley—the site of much of the early history of Colorado Springs . . . and now the setting for many fine homes—the final destiny of Camp Creek, now WESTMOOR PARK in the shadow of the Garden of the Gods.

We invite you to make your home in WESTMOOR PARK.

Epicure or Harvest Hand to Find Taste Thrills at Sale

Everything for the epicure is the motto of the food committee of the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center's Aug. 15 ABC Sale!

"And enough for the harvest hand!", adds Mrs. John Graney, chairman of the food committee. Mrs. Graney, who has headed this committee in previous years, says that this year's food table will more than ever be spilling over with delicacies like baked hams and turkies, homemade pies and cakes, jellies and jams and breads of all kinds.

The Sinton Dairy has again furnished the committee with a freezer so that they can offer frozen casseroles such as chicken divan, spaghetti and meatballs, barbecued meats, Chinese chicken and walnuts, chicken tetrazzini, and others.

In the bakery section, besides the traditional pies and cakes, there will be homemade breads and rolls of all kinds, almond cookies, and date - filled cookies, brownies and many other kinds of sweets.

Preserved fruits, brandied peaches and kumquats, spiced apples, preserved ginger and a dozen kinds of jellies will be offered. Homemade brandied mincemeat will be featured.

The selections of choice salad dressings will be popular. There will be poppy seed dressing, roquefort, wine, tarragon, and many other versions of french dressing, and many kinds of homemade mayonaise.

Mrs. Graney emphasizes that contributions of food for the sale will be welcomed by the committee. Anyone interested in contributing should get in touch with Mrs. Graney, or a member of her committee which includes Mrs. William Crumrine, Mrs. R. Malone, Mrs. Robert Alexander, Mrs. Kenneth Hall and Mrs. David Morris.

The ABC Sale will be held between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. in the Fine Arts Center patio on Aug. 15. It will feature bargains in used but usable objects of all sorts, except clothing. Mrs. Harvey Klunder is chairman of the sale.

Junior League Announces 1962-63 Town Hall Schedule

The Colorado Springs Junior League announces the 1962-1963 season of the Town Hall of Colorado Springs. This is the eighth consecutive year for this popular morning lecture series, and the third year that it has been presented to the community by the Colorado Springs Junior League. Miss Polly Grimes who books Town Hall both in Colorado Springs and in Denver has announced the program for the coming year — a program of five distinguished and entertaining artists.

The 1962-1963 season will open on Oct. 22 with Britain's celebrated, witty, social commentator, Malcolm Muggeridge. Mr. Muggeridge is the former editor of "Punch" and in this country he has often been seen on the "Small World" television program and the Jack Parr show. He has traveled to the USSR and the USA with Prime Minister Macmillan. He is now a regular columnist for leading British publications. His provocative talk is titled "A Fool's Eye View of the World."

On Nov. 12 the series will present Ginette Spanier the directress of the world famous House of Balmain. She was born in France, brought up in England and is now at the top of her profession in the glittering world of fashion design. Her lecture is a highly amusing inside account of "The Fascinating World of Haute Couture."

On Feb. 11 Frank Gervasi, correspondent and observer of the world political scene, will lecture on a subject which will touch all lives, "America's Stake in the Common Market." Mr. Gervasi served the U.S. State Department as chief of information for the Marshall Plan in Rome. He was also research associate for the late economist Beardsley Ruml.

Andrew Tully lectures on April 1 on "The View From Capitol Hill." As an award winning White House Correspondent and author of the best seller "CIA: The Inside Story" Mr. Tully is highly qualified to give an insight into the story of the nation's capital and the men who make it run.

On a date to be announced in March or April the popular star of Broadway and television, Kitty Carlisle, will give a lively recounting of her unusual experiences in the entertainment world. Miss Carlisle, has been aptly described as a "dynamic concentration of glamour, wit, and intelligence," and her talk "First Person Singular" is loaded with all three of these attributes.

The Town Hall of Colorado Springs series is presented on a subscription basis only. The lectures are held at 10:30 a.m. at the Fine Arts Center Auditorium. Tickets to individual lectures are never available.

The committee in charge of the Town Hall is headed by Mrs. Milo Yalich. Miss Gail Hopper is in charge of reservations for the year. For reservations or information regarding the lecture series call Miss Hopper at ME 3-0409.

MR. AND MRS. RONLAD K. MILLS

* * * * * *

Sherry Rae Gregory Is Bride of Ronald K. Mills

Miss Sherry Rae Gregory became the bride of Ronald K. Mills at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 22, at the First Bible Presbyterian Church. The Rev. William B. Leonard performed the ceremony against a candlelighted background of white gladioli, blue daisies and yellow snapdragon arranged in baskets, and palms.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray E. Gregory of 2828 Chelton Rd. the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raly Mills of 1313 N. 5th St., Neodesha, Kan.

Nuptial selections included "I Love Thee," "One Hand, One Heart," and "The Wedding Prayer."

Mr. Gregory gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of white peau de soie was styled with chapel train, fitted bodice, long sleeves, portrait neckline and dome skirt. Appliques of Chantilly lace trimmed the gown, and her fingertip veil of illusion was attached to a Swedish crown of seed pearls. She wore a pearl necklace which was a gift from the bridegroom and her flowers were white orchids with shattered carnations and stephanotis.

Carol Burris was maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Dorothy Lund and Mary Moore. All wore street length dresses of periwinkle blue silk organza over taffeta, styled with round necklines and semi - full skirts. They wore matching Dior bow headdresses and carried yellow sweetheart roses.

Ken Mills attended his brother as best man and the ushers were were Norman Smith and Jim Lund.

The bride's mother, wearing a sheath of misty green silk organza over taffeta with matching accessories, received the guests at the reception which was held in the Gregory home. The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of pink orgnaza with bone accessories. Arrangement of white gladioli, blue daisies and yellow snapdragon decorated the table and the rooms. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Helen Leonard, Mrs. Marian Mills, Mrs. Sandra Longstreth, Mrs. Madeline Smith and Mrs. Marguerite Moore.

After a wedding trip to Las Vegas, Nev. the newlyweds are living at 1013 E. Columbia St. The bride's traveling ensemble was a periwinkle - blue silk dress with matching jacket, and her accessories were white. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride attended the University of Colorado, and the bridegroom, the University of Whichita.

Janet E. Johnson Is Bride of John D. Buck

Candlelabra and baskets of white gladioli and carnations banked the chancel and altar of Grace Episcopal Church for the marriage of Janet E. Johnson to John D. Buck at 3 p.m. July 21. The double ring ceremony was performed by Dr. J. Lindsay Patton.

Dr. J. Julius Baird close friend of the bride and bridegroom, played a short organ recital before the ceremony. The recital included the "St. Anne" Fugue, J. S. Bach; Chorale in B Minor, Franck; and Prelude on "Rhosymedre", Vaughn-Williams. "Now Thank We All Our God", J. S. Bach, was played for the processional, and "In thee Is Gladness", J. S. Bach, was the recessional.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin G. Johnson, Colorado Springs, and the bridegroom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Buck, Haxtun.

The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a white monastry gown of imported swiss organza. The basque bodice and long pointed sleeves were accented with a scoop neckline dotted with sequins and seed pearls which formed a motif pattern. The bouffant skirt was styled with the motif design and a Beonika back which fell into a chapel train. She wore a single strand of pearls which was a gift from the bridegroom. Her bouffant finger tip veil was attached to a crown styled with the motif design. Her bouquet was of a purple-throated white orchid with carnations on a white prayer book, also a gift from the bridegroom.

The bride was attended by Miss Janis Jane, maid of honor. Mrs. Herbert A. Johnson, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Shirley Shaffer were bridesmaids. They wore full-skirted street length dresses of pink cotton satin fashioned with scoop necklines and cap sleeves. They wore small pink hat bows with short veils, and carried cascade bouquets of pink and white carnations.

Sharon Elaine Johnson, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a pink cotton satin dress fashioned like those of the bridesmaids, and carried a basket of pink rose petals. Hal Leroy Johnson, nephew of the bride, was ring-bearer, and carried a white satin heart-shaped pillow.

The bridegroom was attended by E. Ralph Gibson as best man. The ushers were Herbert A. Johnson brother of the bride, and Robert J. Prince.

Mrs. William J. Byrne, Mrs. C. K. Boyd, and Mrs. Jack Salyards, sisters of the bridegroom, assisted at the reception. Mrs. James Doty, also a sister of the bridegroom, attended the guest book. Miss Ann Fiedler was in charge of the wedding gifts.

The mother of the bride wore a navy crepe dress with navy and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a copen blue ensemble with white accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

For their wedding trip to Central City and Northwestern Colorado, the bride wore a dark plaid suit dress with patent leather shoes and purse and a small velvet hat. After returning to Colorado Springs, the couple will make their home at 1310 E. San Miguel St.

The bride was graduated from Colorado College with a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Music Education. She is employed as a vocal music teacher in School District 11, and organist-choirmaster of the Chapel of the Holy Spirt. The bridegroom was graduated from the University of Colorado where he received a Bachelor of Music Degree with honors in organ performance. He is presently in the military service, and stationed at ENT Air Force Base as a member of the ARADCOM Choral Group.

Out of town guests included: Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Buck, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Salyards Doug and Debbie, Haxtun, Mrs. Clara B. Curran, Mr. and Mrs. James Doty, James and John, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Kucharik-Johnson Nuptials Held in Wichita Church

St. James Episcopal Church in Wichita, Kan. was the scene of the wedding of Miss Janet Elaine Johnson and Ronald John Kucharik of Simla at 4 p.m. Saturday, July 21. The Rev. E. L. Barnett performed the double ring ceremony, and Richard Woods at the organ played nuptial selections.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Young of Northport, N. Y. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kucharik of Simla.

Given in marriage by her stepfather, the bride wore a gown of satin - faced silk organza, with bodice and full skirt trimmed in Alencon lace appliques. Her waist - length veil of silk illusion was attached to a pillbox which matched her gown. Her bouquet of yellow and white roses and stephanotus was centered with a removable corsage, which she wore with her traveling costume. Her gown was designed and made by Mrs. Young.

Mrs. Ronald Johnson, sister of the bride was maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Coulson and Miss Donna Kucerik. All wore dresses of yellow organza over taffeta, styled with full skirts and cowl collars. They wore matching pillbox hats and shoulder length veils, and carried cascade arrangements of giant white daisies.

David Keith Ververs was best man and the groomsmen were Max Cain and Larry Trjanovich. Ushers were Ronald Johnson and Jerry Thomason.

The bridegroom's mother wore a dress of champagne - beige lace, with matching accessories, and also a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Robert Mattingly, Miss Gayle Stout and Mrs. Dorothy Pickarts assisted at the reception which was held in St. James Guild Hall. Mrs. Larry Trojanivich was in charge of the guest book.

After a honeymoon trip thru Colorado, the couple will live at Gunnison where both are students at Western State College. The bride's traveling ensemble was a yellow linen sheath with white accessories.

Larsen-Innes Vows Read In Cripple Creek Church

The marriage of Miss Carol Innes and James Larsen of Cripple Creek was solemnized at 9 a.m. July 8 at St. Peters Catholic Church in Cripple Creek. The Rev. Michael Kavanaugh performed the ceremony in a setting of pink and white gladioli, carnations and mums arranged in baskets.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Innes of Cripple Creek, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Larsen, also of Cripple Creek.

Mr. Elbert of Colorado Springs played nuptial selections and Mr. Innes gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's floor length gown of white Chantilly lace was worn with a pearl crown and veil of French illusion, and her flowers were white carnations and gardenias.

Peggy Sue Kaller was maid of honor and bridesmaids were Marlyn Costello of Colorado Springs and Margi Heisle of Cripple Creek. All wore ballerina length dresses of pink lace.

Norbert Larsen attended the bridegroom as best man and the ushers were Bob Innes, Lloyd Larsen, Jody Vetter and Lonney Heisle.

The bride's mother wore a beige sheath, and the bridegroom's mother wore blue.

Serving at the reception which was held in the Elks Home were Margi Heisle, Sandy Schwallen and Shirley Long.

After a honeymoon at Glenwood Springs, the newlyweds are living at Cripple Creek. For her traveling ensemble the bride chose a grey suit with matching accessories.

The bride attended Blair Business College in Colorado Springs and the bridegroom attended Colorado State University at Ft. Collins.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kahler of Alamosa; Mr. and Mrs. J. Long of Pueblo; Mrs. Bernice Huskey of Rangely; Frank Parigi of Canon City; Mr. and Mrs. Dave Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Parigi, all of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Fischer and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kallous of Colorado Springs; Beverly Grisham and Beverly Lattrell of Pueblo; Murry Dale of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hyett and children, Mr. and Mrs. Noel of Denver; and Mrs. Alva Lowe of San Diego, Calif.

Today's Home

By SHELLEY SINGER

CHICAGO (UPI) — The pack rat tendency is strong among Americans. The symptoms are accumulation of everything from outgrown baby clothes to antique armor.

A survey of household storage practices of city families confirms that Americans not only buy more personal and household articles than ever before, but they also keep them longer.

One of the reasons for such accumulation is practicality. As one young mother put it:

"After baby number three came, and we already had given all of our nursery things away, I learned my lesson."

So despite talk of planned obsolescence and status symbols, all 370 men and women questioned by a shelving manufacturer, S. A. Hirsh Co., said they want to get full value out of any purchase they make. And that means keeping anything with a potential for future use.

Eighteen per cent of those polled said they are hobby collectors. Items ranged from the usaul stamps, coins and china cups to antique armor and historic newspapers.

Most people are not sure why they save what they do. Habitual savers cited reasons ranging from the chances of war, inflation and unemployment to strictly personal whims.

Women say men are the household "savers," and men agree.

When it comes to who saves what, 76 per cent of the women polled said men lead in number of articles accumulated. They said women may keep a few sentimental trinkets, but are ruthless when weeding out useless family possessions.

The men polled said it is true they save more, but described their habits as "thrifty," "economical" and "prudent."

The pollsters found general agreement that the family accumulates most at the time of marriage, when the children are growing and attending school, and during moves to new quarters.

The first 20 years of marriage are big years for gathering hundreds of household effects, large and small. The next 10, the pollsters found, are "stand pat" years.

OCTOBER WEDDING PLANNED—Mr. and Mrs. Tom E. Wilson of Billings, Mont. announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Rockne, of 206 Elk Path, Manitou Springs, to Gary L. Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Krug of 3703 W. Colorado Ave. Miss Rockne is employed by the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., and Mr. Bartlett by the Iron Springs Chateau. An October wedding is planned.

BUILDING DOOMED

OPHIR (UPI) — The Forest Service has ordered the removal of the old dance hall and saloon at Matterhorn, a one-time mining camp in the Colorado Rockies. Jack Montgomery is now the only permanent resident of the ghost town, located near the summit of Lizard Head Pass. He said the building probably couldn't be moved intact.

Cleaning Danger

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Institute of Rug Cleaning (NIRC) warns of the dangers of using carbon tetrachloride in home cleaning. The NIRC said carbon tet's toxicity is high and it can be absorbed through the skin into the blood stream. It has an anesthetic effect when inhaled and may affect organic tissues of the kidneys, liver and heart. The organization said professional rug cleaners who are members have been warned not to use the cleaner.

HEADMASTER APOLOGIZED

WEST BUCKLAND, England (UPI) — Headmaster Leslie Stephens says he will apologize for the circular that was mailed to parents advertising a guest speaker as "St. Bernard Waley Cohen."

Sir Bernard Waley Cohen said, "I may be large and amiable but it is the first time I have been muddled with that fine breed of dog."

Jar Victuals At Record Rate

That statement comes from John Fisher, Muncie, vice president of Ball Brothers, a major manufacturer of canning jars. Fisher disputed the view that home-canning is a lost art.

"More women are preserving and canning now than were alive in the United States back in 1885," Fisher said. He based his statement on an estimate that about 13 million homemakers were included in the 1885 population of some 55 million persons.

"This year more than 22 million women will put up more than one billion jars of foodstuffs," Fisher said. "So you can see that home canning is not a lost art, as many folks seem to think."

Fisher said information available to his firm indicates that home canning supplies sold annually in the United States amount to about $40 million and that 44.5 per cent of the housewives still do some home canning, freezing and preserving.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

To undo a knot in a shoelace or bonnet. . .insert a diaper pin in each half of the knot and pull! The knot comes apart as if by magic!

Pat Cummings

Dear Heloise:

Recently, much to my dismay, I found I had used too much high sudsing detergent in my top-loading washing machine and suds were oozing out around the lid.

Scooping the suds did no good as they just built up again when I started the machine. Recalling how bubble bath suds start breaking down as soon as one begins to soap down, I dropped a small piece of face soap into the lint filter tray of my washing machine so the water going through the fileter would wash over the soap.

Immediately those pesky suds began to subside and within a couple of minutes they were down to a safe level, where upon I REMOVED the soap and the suds stayed down for the rest of the washing cycle.

I have also found that running cold water over a bar of soap will speed the breakdown of liquid detergent suds when doing hand washing. . .discovered this when I accidentally knocked a bar of soap into the tub while trying to rinse some suds out, after doing hand washing.

M.R.M.

Dear Gals:

To me this was absolutley unbelievable. . .but I tried it! I filled a sink full of bubble bath, then dropped in a bar of soap and tried to make more suds. All the bubbles left! M.R.M., you are a real doll!

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I take my bags that protect cleaned garments. . .wash them and when dry, cut them in squares. I then use them to wrap things for the refrigerator and deep freeze. One can use them over and over or just throw them away.

Another time-saving hint of mine is: When you need only a small amount of onion. . .peel the onion as you would an orange. Peel off as much of the onion as you need. Wrap the rest of it in wax paper and put back in the refrigerator. It keeps a long time and does not smell.

Marguerite Wood

Dear Heloise:

After line-drying corduroy articles, I iron all of them by tossing them in my dryer for five minutes. . .just to fluff up the nap. Smooth them with your hand and hang them up and you are through!

Wanda Cutsforth

Dear Heloise:

To save money, I buy large jars of mustard and salad dressing. Then when planning a picnic, I fill baby food jars from the large jars. If the baby food containers have the screw type caps, they are just perfect!

My thanks to all of those whose hints have helped me so much.

W.J.D.

Dear Heloise:

To make juicy hamburger and meat loaf. . .I whip one egg white until it is stiff and add to each pound of ground beef. Fold this into the beef mixture and you will find the hamburgers will be light and juicy even when well done.

G.B.

French Peach Pie a la Mode

Combination Salad

1 small head iceberg lettuce
3 medium tomatoes
1 small green pepper
1 medium cucumber
2 slices sweet onion
Green or ripe olives
Russian or French Dressing

Wash and drain lettuce, tomatoes and pepper. Slice lettuce into 6 large wedges, cutting away part of core. Cut steam ends from tomatoes; slice each into 4 wedges. Cut slice from top of green pepper; remove seeds and membranes; slice into rings. Pare cucumber; score lengthwise with fork tines; slice thin. Separate onion into rings. Arrange vegetables and olives on individual salad plates; pass dressing. Makes 6 servings.

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW WILLIAM LAZOR

Andrew William Lazor Weds Anita Gail Corder

Miss Anita Gail Corder and Andrew William Lazor were married recently at St. Marys Catholic Church.

The Rev. Jepson read the double ring ceremony, Frank Hammer played the organ and Miss Judith Corder the bride's sister sang "Because" and "Prayer Perfect".

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton A. Corder of Calhan. The bridegroom is the son of John Lazor, of Colorado Springs.

Escorted to the altar by her uncle, Clifford Corder of Colorado Springs, the bride wore a floor length gown of nylon lace over net and taffeta. The square neckline was trimmed with sequins and her finger tip veil was caught to a headpiece of pearls. The pearl she wore was a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was a lavender orchid surrounded by white carnations.

Miss Loretta West, the maid of honor and the bridesmaids, Miss Donna Kucerik and Miss Gladys Trojanovich, wore matching lavender dresses, with white hats, and carried colonial bouquets of carnations.

The best man was Gary Hanish. Edwin Glaser and Joe Mikita were ushers and the groomsmen.

The reception was held at the Nob Hill Community Center. Mrs. Naomi Walker, sister of the bride had charge of the guest book.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. Eleanor Barr of Peyton, Miss Catherine Adleman and Miss Dorothy Dewitt of Calhan.

The bride was graduated from Calhan High School, class of '62 and the bridegroom class of '60. He is now employed by the Tower Construction Co. They live in Calhan.

Young People's Hurts Make Mother a Nurse

KAY SHERWOOD
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Healthy active young people living it up around the home create a joyful sight for doting mothers. It is also one that frequently casts us in the role of emergency nurse. My children didn't go to camp this summer. They are at home giving me, in a small way, the first-aid thrills that the camp nurse must endure in a big way all summer. My hat is off to her.

In mastering the riding of the two-wheeler bike, our six-year-old worked through at least a pint of antiseptic and three boxes of ready bandages. Climbing a rope is great sport, but oh, those blisters! And isn't is appalling how much blood can flow from a scalp nicked by a swing? Insects of all sizes and kinds are a staple destress call. So are splinters.

A sympathetic friend tells me that smoke-filled eyes and fat-spatter burns lead her list now that her young teen-age son and his pals have discovered the pleasure and economy of cooking their own hot dogs over the grill.

No homemaker wants to inhibit the fun. The trick is to be ready for the inevitable side effects. I have to check the first-aid supplies, for example, more frequently in summer than winter and even then a crisis in the bandage department is apt to arise. The specialties of summer first aid, the sunburn pain relievers, disappear with speed and need frequent replacement.

Keeping supplies replenished and accessible is the answer to emergencies which develop when the youngsters gather. One way a homemaker can solve this is to have a regular first-aid apron. this is a bright red and white striped bib apron with a deep pocket for supplies. Copying the idea with an ordinary apron, I find it useful when several youngsters are present for an impromptu party. While it may sound silly to stuff such items in an apron pocket, you'd be surprised how many steps it saves when you are trying to cope with a series of minor complaints.

In my pocket go the most-likely-to-be-needed items: a small bottle of insect repellent and one of lotion to sooth the itch where the repellent misses, paper tissues, a few bandages to protect imminent blisters, a tube of antiseptic cream for burns and an eye lotion in a small plastic bottle, which can be squirted directly into smoke-tearing or sun-reddened eyes.

Sgt. Paul E. Phelps Weds Sharon Aubuchon

Basket arrangements of white gladioli, and white and yellow pompons formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Sharon Louise Aubuchon and Sgt. Paul E. Phelps at 2 p.m. Sunday, July 5, at the East Methodist Church. The Rev. Harold C. Knudsen officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Mary Coffey at the organ played the processional and recessional and accompanied Mrs. Grace Scott who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mr. Walter Aubuchon of Peyton. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lucy Phelps of Colorado Springs and Charles Phelps New Castle.

Mr. Aubuchon escorted his daughter to the altar and gave her in marriage. Her floor length gown of slipper satin was made with fitted bodice, long tapered sleeves and sweetheart neckline. The skirt flowed from the princess waistline to form a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of English illusion was caught to a crown of flowers detailed in seed pearls, and she carried yellow and white carnations with streamers of ivy.

Mrs. Fay Weeks, sister of the bride as matron of honor, wore a sleeveless street length dress of yellow chiffon, and a headdress of yellow taffeta and rhinestones, covered with English illusion lace caught to a matching bow. Her bouquet was of yellow and white carnations.

Bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Phelps, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Carlene Schroeler. Both wore dresses of yellow organza and Alencon lace, with fitted bodices, long tapered sleeves and bouffant skirts. Their headdresses were like those of the matron of honor, as were their bouquets.

Dale Aubuchon, nephew of the bride carried the rings on a white satin pillow. Linda Lee Weeks, niece of the bride as flower girl, wore a green organdy dress and matching headdress styled like those of the other attendants.

Kenneth Harper attended the bridegroom as best man and groomsmen were Dwain Aubuchon and Gayle Phelps. Ushers were Danny Aubuchon and Charles Phelps.

The bride's mother wore a beige linen sheath with bronze borcade trimming, and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of mauve shantung with white accessories, and a corsage of white carnations.

Miss Darla Streamer attended the guest book at the reception which followed, and assisting in serving were Mrs. Irvin Vaughn, Mrs. Richard Guy, Mrs. Dale Dye and Miss Agnes Phelps. The cake was baked by Mrs. Florence Pohlson.

Following a honeymoon in the mountains, Sgt. and Mrs. Phelps are living at Ft. Hood, Tex., where he is stationed with the U. S. Army. For traveling the bride chose a blue ensemble with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

The bride was graduated from Peyton High School, class of '61, and the bridegroom also attended Peyton High before joining the Army.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Guy and family of Laramie, Wyo., Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Vaughn and sons of Arvada; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Acre, Miss Bonnie Acre of Wheatridge; Mr. and Mrs. John Manning, Mrs. Nora Phelps, Miss Dee Phelps, all of Denver; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flick and Family of Bloomfield Heights; Mr. and Mrs. John Grey and family of Canon City; and Mr. and Mrs. Alan Klingerberg of Moahans, Tex.

Republicans Keep Tight Grip on Michigan Voters

By GENE SCHROEDER

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan voters choose nominees for 19 congressional seats, the governor's chair, and the State Legislature Tuesday in a primary election that once was called off in part.

For a time last month Democrats had visions of loosening the Republican 2-to-1 grip on State Senate seats.

The State Supreme Court had called off the primary for the Senate and ordered immediate reapportionment on a population basis. Any such redistricting would have benefitted heavily-populated city areas, where Democratic strength is concentrated.

But nine days after the court ruling, U.S. Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart issued a stay of execution and restored the Senate race to the ballot, pending an appeal.

The Michigan court had held that the Senate was improperly apportioned because a population disparity of up to 12-to-1 between districts violated the "equal protection of the laws" guarantee of the U.S. Constitution.

If reapportionment were not carried out, the court said, Senate seats would be filled through a statewide at-large election.

The otherwise dull primary appeared to have stirred up little interest among voters. Candidates for governor and congressman-at-large are unchallenged formally, and most congressmen encountered no primary opposition.

George Romney, running on the Republican ticket, has been campaigning hard in hopes of capturing the governor's chair from the Democrats for the first time in 14 years.

G. Mennen Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, won the governorship in 1948, held it for the unprecedented six consecutive two-year terms, then stepped aside in 1960 for John B. Swainson.

Although Romney virtually was certain to win the nomination, he did run into some token opposition.

A last-minute write-in sticker campaign was launched in Detroit for—and was disavowed by—Richard Durant, vice chairman of the 14th Dist. Republican organization and an acknowledged member of the ultraconservative John Birch Society.

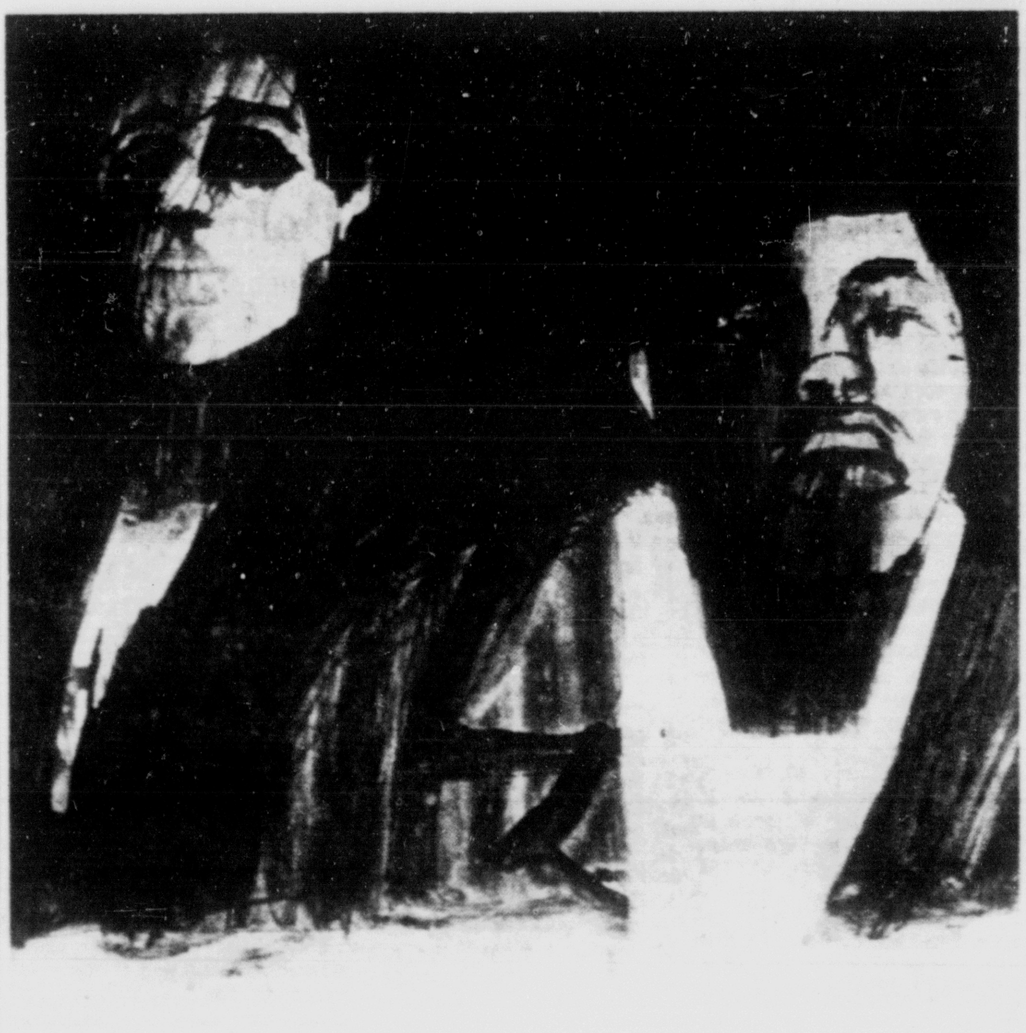
But although Romney has demanded Durant's resignation as vice chairman, Durant said he thought the sticker idea was silly and declared: "I'm for Romney."

The Durant-for-governor campaign was launched by Virginia Crawford of Redford Township and three others, including her husband, Howard. The four have ordered 10,000 stickers bearing Durant's name, she said.

Mrs. Crawford acknowledged that she and her husband also are members of the Birch Society, although she contended the organization had no connection with the sticker campaign.

"We can't agree with Romney because he is a liberal and we are conservatives," Mrs. Crawford explained. "We believe this is the way to show him the people do not want liberals in office."

National interest has focused on the Michigan campaign because Romney, former president of American Motors, has been mentioned prominently as a possible candidate for the GOP presidential nomination in 1964.



ON EXHIBIT — "Harlem," by artist-illustrator Harvey Schmidt, is among watercolors on exhibit at the Fine Arts Center in the "New York, 2 A. M." exhibit.

Three Art Exhibitions Being Shown at Center

The Colorado Springs Fine Art Center is this month showing three art exhibitions of wide interest to visitors in the region as well as local residents.

Drawing wide acclaim is the "New Accessions, USA, 1962," contemporary art exhibition which is showing 62 paintings from permanent collections of 32 of the country's leading museums.

According to Fine Arts Center Director Fred S. Bartlett, the exhibition is a rare opportunity to see what the best art insitutions consider to be the best in painting today. The viewer will see the works of such artists as Kiebush, Kepes, Sage, Parker, Ernst Burchfield, Cuevas, Hepworth, Hultberg, Marca - Relli and many others.

A popular exhibit is the "New York, 2 a.m." watercolor tour of New York City late at night, by the famous artist-illustrator Harvey Schmidt. Schmidt has captured the spirit and of the city, both the obvious and the obscure. The artist is one of New York's most talented men, having composed the music to the off-Broadway hit "The Fantasticks," and co - author of the "In and Out Book."

Also on view is an exhibition of drawings by Robert Broderson, a talented young artist. The works were lent by the Catherine Viviano Gallery of New York.

Opening Aug. 12 is a series of recent drawings by two well-known American artists, John Heliker and Joe Lasker. Heliker was once a member of the summer art school faculty at the Fine Arts Center.

The "New Accessions" show will remain on view through Sept. 12, the Harvey Schmidt New York show to Aug. 20 and the Broderson drawings to Aug. 12.

Federal Reapportion Plan Hit by Lawyer

DENVER (UPI) — A Michigan attorney has predicted that the Federal Plan for Reapportionment would be declared unconstitutional by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Benjamin Marcus of Muskegon, Mich., said the people of Colorado will be wasting their time and money if they approve the Federal Plan at the November general election because the plan "has no proper basis in law or in equity."

Marcus, in Denver to attend a meeting of the National Association of Claimants' Counsel of America, also said reapportionment is not a fight between rural and urban citizens.

The attorney said reapportionment is a fight between those who believe in representative government and "the entrenched economic interests—the power elite—who control state legislatures lock, stock and barrel."

Adams County Voters Are Asked for Funds

BRIGHTON, Colo. (UPI) — Adams County voters were asked by the Republican Party Friday to contribute funds to both parties.

The unusual request was in he form of an election news letter from the Adams County Republican Central Committee.

"Both parties in Adams County need money to present their candidates to you and the reasons for your voting for these candidates," a county GOP news letter said.

MAY FIRE

LONDON (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. threatened today to fire 335 wildcat strikers at Ford's big factory at Dagenham, Essex, unless they return to work. The strike has idled 6,000 other worker and cost production of about 8,000 autos. The strikers walked out Monday protesting the transfer of 15 workers.

The Caspian Sea in the Soviet Union, the largest lake in the world, is nearly four times the size of Lake Superior, the second largest.

Cost of Youth Camp To Be Asked in State

DENVER (AP) — The State Planning Division has been asked to estimate the cost of establishing a youth camp at Harold Lathrop State Park near Walsenburg.

The camp would serve as a work and study center for inmates of the Lookout Mountain School for Boys — the former State Industrial School — at Golden.

Mylton Kennedy, director of youth services for the Depart- of Institutions, said today several other sites had been suggested but the Walsenburg park is being studied first because state land is immediately available there.

Among other places proposed are the former site of Ft. Lewis A&M College at Hesperus, west of Durango, and Golden Gate Canyon, near Golden.

Sen. Sam T. Taylor, D-Walsenburg, president pro tem of the Senate and former Democratic floor leader, is backing the Lathrop, Park site. The park was dedicated this year as a recreation center, supported jointly by the State Park Service and the Game and Fish Department.

Taylor said he didn't think the camp should be right in the park but close enough so that its facilities could be used.

The camp would house about 44 boys the year around.

Kansas Reapportion Hearing Date Planned

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI)— Judge Delmas C. Hill of the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals said Saturday he will set a date soon for a hearing on a Kansas congressional reapportionment action.

Hill said the hearing would be held in Kansas City, Kan., on a date convenient to himself and two other judges who will preside over the case.

The reapportionment action was filed July 9 by Kansas Democratic leaders. It challenges the congressional reapportionment by the 1961 Kansas Legislature.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

I'm Wtih You!

DEAR ABBY: Our parents just celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary. My sisters and brothers and I invited all our friends, and gave mother and dad a memorable surprise party. The guests brought lovely presents. Neither our mother nor father can read or write English and everybody knows it. I suggested writing a thank you note to each person who brought a gift and sign it, "The children of Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So."

My sister says she never heard of anything so ignorant. She says "we" should write the thank you notes as though our parents had written them and sign "their" names to them. My dad has been signing his name with an "X" at the bank for 55 years. Who is right? —THE CHILDREN

DEAR CHILDREN: Because it was a surprise party and you children invited the guests, it would be proper for you to write the thank you notes and sign them, "The children of Mr. and Mrs. So-and-So."

DEAR ABBY: Our 18-year-old son is interested in a girl he met at school. We have nothing against her, but she is not of our faith. Recently she has been taking our son to church with her. We think this is a little too possessive for a 17-year-old girl. Should we put a stop to it or ignore it? We don't want to do the wrong thing. How have other parents, faced with this problem, handled it? —A YOUNG MAN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The girl is not "taking" your son to church without his consent. He may be going out of curiosity or courtesy. Say nothing about it. If you "forbid" him to go, you will only force him to spring to her defense.

P.S. Why doesn't he invite her to his church? What's sauce for the goose, you know.

DEAR ABBY: I am ten years old and have a boxer dog named Mert. I love her very much and sometimes I kiss her. I never kiss her on the mouth. I kiss her on the forehead. My parents say it is stupid and not even clean. Mert "is" clean as a person, Abby, and I don't see anything wrong with kissing her. What is your advice? —DOG KISSER

DEAR KISSER: Obey your parents, Honey. A vet once told me that people shouldn't kiss dogs because dogs are apt to get something from people! So if you love Mert, hug her, but don't kiss her.

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to "Abby," care of this paper.

Pueblo Policeman Admits Burglary

CANON CITY (AP)—A Pueblo policeman pleaded guilty in District Court Friday to a charge of larceny and burglary.

Allan Zumwalt, 27, was ordered held on $5,000 bond pending an appearance before Judge Max Wilson for sentencing next Thursday. Zumwalt's father-in-law, Dexter Seal of Canon City, arranged to post bond.

Zumwalt appeared in court without an attorney little more than 24 hours after he was arrested at his Pueblo home.

Under questioning, he admitted the theft of several tires and guns here while he was a member of the Canon City Police Department.

Zumwalt was implicated by another former Canon City officer, Stanley J. Weaver, 37, more recently a policeman at Fort Morgan.

Weaver was arrested Wednesdy and is free on $5,000 bond.

Police Chief Kenneth Owens said Weaver has admitted at least 17 burglaries in the Canon City area while he was an officer here.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2 ♦	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass
Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Three of ♣

It is a weakness of a great many players that they form an early opinion about a hand and are unable to change it as the bidding develops.

Frequently a hand starts out with brilliant prospects but, when the bidding developments show that partner is not fond of either of your suits and you are unable to support his, what promised to be a breadwinner may prove to be just a deduction.

By the same token, you may pick up a hand with a few scattered pictures and no particular distribution, and you find it difficult to manifest interest in the proceedings. A round or two later the bidding may have convinced you that you have a card or two that may prove to be the missing links, and you promptly collect your wandering thoughts.

Today's hand records one such case. To the opening bid of one spade South responded with one notrump. Though he held normal trump support, the distribution of the hand was so barren that it was wiser not to increase the contract. North's rebid was naturally two diamonds, and at this point many players would be tempted to pass on the ground that, "I like diamonds better than I do spades and have already told the strength of my hand."

I am inclined to believe that such reasoning would be superficial. Actually, the complexion of this hand has now changed. We are certain that North has five spades, and it is possible that he also has five diamonds. This is the reasoning: If North had only four card suits, he would have passed one notrump, or if his hand were sufficiently strong he would raise to two notrump. Rather than definitely consign this hand to a part score, I would suggest affording partner one more chance by returning to two spades.

Actually, South's preference is for diamonds but, since he is convinced that partner has five spades, the preference with three to the queen is not objectionable. North then decided that there was a chance for game, which he coaxed partner to bid by going to three spades.

South decided to take the gamble, hoping that the king of hearts would prove to be the key card. He well realized that, if North had a singleton heart instead of club, his king might not be a vital card, but he was willing to take the chance and was rewarded for his enterprise when the hand proved to be a laydown.

JOINT CHURCH

GELNHAUSEN, Germany (AP) —Congregations of the Evangelical Church and Roman Catholic Church are meeting under the same roof—although in separate rooms—in a new church at Neudorf near here. Both congregations are called to worship by peals from the same bells in the church tower.

Elephant Dies of 'Mental Illness'

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) —Tusko, a 7,000 pound male elephant at the Oklahoma City zoo, died Friday for the sake of medical research.

Tusko was the first elephant to be given an injection of an experimental drug used by researchers to induce temporary mental illness. The 10-year-old animal collapsed and died unexpectedly five minutes later.

In humans, the drug, known as lysergic acid diethylamide, produces mental illness similar to schizophrenia.

Dr. L. J. West, professor of psychiatry at the University of Oklahoma, said the drug was used on an elephant because its brain is similar to a human's but larger, making study easier.

The researcher said he was surprised at the elephant's extreme sensitivity. West has taken a dose of the drug himself in experimentation.

Motor Vehicle Homicide Hearing Is Scheduled

BRULE, Neb. (AP)—A District Court hearing is scheduled here Aug. 8 for Ernest Carl Walden, 27, of Fort Collins, Colo., on a charge of motor vehicle homicide.

He was charged in connection with a fatal accident July 31.

Police named Walden as the driver of a semi-trailer truck involved in a two-vehicle crash which claimed the life of Anne Feazell, 5, of Woodward, Iowa.

Walden pleaded innocent to the charge in County Court and was released on $2,000 bond.

STEEPLE GOES UP

URBANA, Ill. (AP) — The new Wesley Foundation Church at the University of Illinois campus finally has its steeple—a slender, 75-foot spire raised by crane to its tower, while 2,000 spectators watched. The church, for the Methodist student group, was completed in 1959, but funds were not then available for the steeple.

Accused Bank Robber Arrested in Denver

The FBI said Evans was taken without resistance in the basement of an east Denver apartment house. A woman was taken into custody with him.

Evans escaped from the Douglas County Jail in Omaha Sunday night by changing places with a prisoner due for release.

He was released with a group of 24 prisoners at Omaha, officers there said, by taking the place of a man completing a sentence for vagrancy.

Evans, whose home was in Denver, had been held for prosecution in federal district court at Omaha in connection with the robbery of the First State Bank at Enders, Neb. last April. He had not yet entered a plea.

Richard Lee Davis, 36, also of Denver, was sentenced to 15 years in prison for his part in the robbery and a third man, Charles Edward Sacton, 34, has pleaded innocent.

Looking at Hollywood

By HEDDA HOPPER

(© 1962: By the Chicago Tribune)

DALTON TRUMBO IS HAILED IN VIET NAM FOR BOOKS

Hollywood, — Fred Niblo Jr., whose father was a founder of the academy and directed the first "Ben Hur," has been in Viet Nam with the United States information agency three years, writing and producing documentaries and newsreels and training local personnel in screen writing —all part of our effort to fight communism. He'll be home soon, but he couldn't wait to pen a letter to Alton Trumbo on the irony of it all. Here are excerpts: "Dear Dalton: Thought you might like a report on the growing success of your books and pictures in beleaguered Saigon, thanks to the distribution facilities of our government, which holds no grudges. Your Spartacus' qualifies as an American produced picture the minimum gross of which is guaranted by the United States goverment.

Except in the PX.

We have a PX for United States military and civilian personnel, and it was like a breath of Hollywood and Vine to find your 'Johnny Got His Gun' on sale to American servicemen who have been sent here to oppose communism. I feel sure that your vivid descriptions of the sufferings of the wounded, and the disillusionment of troops generally, is just what our lads need before going out on a jungle patrol, in the course of which they may be shot from ambush. I'm not certain that you're aware of your popularity in far-off, war-torn Vietnam. But you're definitely making a contribution. I must not overlook the splendid cooperation you're receiving, somehow, from the American government. Before leaving for home, I shall try to interest our consulate in organizing 'Dalton Trumbo week's here in Saigon."

Natalie Wood, after a three-month whirl in England, France and Italy rented a house with a view in Beverly, which means her press agent, Guy McElwaine, and wife are losing their star boarder. There just wasn't room there for all the new dresses and hats she picked up in Paris.

The Warren Beatty story Joe Latin wrote for a national mag shows the many sides of this young actor. Joe spent seven months doing research. The writer's 80 - year old father was blind and lived alone in Brooklyn in the same home he'd occupied for 40 years. Every time one of Joe's friends went east, he asked them to call his father. On impluse he gave Warren the number, but figured he'd forget. Ten days later his dad phoned to say. "Who is your nice young actor friend who calls me daily? We talk for as long as an hour and he's coming out to see me."

Joe, astounded, said, "what do you talk about?" "Everything," said his father. "He's such a lonely young man. I do wish I could take him out to dinner."

"Before Warren could make the hour subway trip to Brooklyn, my father died," says Latin. "As far as I know Warren was the last person to talk with him."

The girls will be Shirley Knight and Suzy Parker in "Flight from Ashiya," with Yul Brynner, Richard Widmark and George Chakiris. I'm glad Shirley got it. She was so good in "Sweet Bird."

Called Penny Singleton to congratulate her on her battle which ended up before a senate investigating comcittee and proved her right. "They all told me I could not take mitte and proved her right. "But I'm just corney enough to think that if you speak the truth you'll eventually win." She's Sen. John J. McClellan's number 1 fan. Calls him "a patriot, an American who walks a straight line, a statesman — we have too many politicans."

One way for a columinist to hear from her pals is to run a story that the honeymoon is over. And sure enough Ginger Rogers and Bill Marshall called from Indianapolis to let me know they are planning to co-star in a play and have two pictures cooking: "Written on Water," based on Vicki Baum's last novel, and an original western by Niven Busch, "The Birdcage." Records fell right and left in Buffalo where Ginger wowed 'em in "Calamity Jane."

Steve Boyd writes from Rome that if he has time between "Imperial Venus" and "Fall of Rome," he'll star opposite Sophia Loren in "Moll Flanders," which that angry, young John Osborne is scripting.

George Burns' singing is enough to make a strong man wince. I was a captive when he opened in Las Vegas with Carol Channing, and when he started crooning, I didn't dare run. So I sat still and gambled on survival. I remembered one night when he began singing on TV and I nearly broke my leg jumping out of bed to run off the set.

Georgie took a page ad in the trade papers with some quotes from the famous about his voice, like, "Only reason I got married so many times was just to hear George sing at my weddings." (George Jessel).

Hamsters Die, Monkeys Survive Flight of Balloon

MOFFETT FIELD, Calif. (AP) — A balloon with monkeys and hamsters aboard released a payload to earth Friday after a 51-hour trip across Canada to altitudes almost 25 miles high in a radiation experiment.

An Ames Research Center spokesman at Moffett Field south of San Francisco said the capsules carrying the animals and insects were to arrive by plane at the University of California at Berkeley. Four sensitive hamsters, the spokesman said, died because they couldn't take the day-long operation of getting them out of the Canadian wilderness where they landed. Two monkeys were in good condition, but the fate of flour beetles was not learned.

The balloon carrying four capsules was launched Wednesday at Goose Bay, Labrador, and floated down near Prince Albert, Sask. The capsules were taken to an airfield near the Manitoba-Saskatchewan border for the flight to California.

The spokesman said all the capsules released by the huge plastic balloon were recovered.

The balloon was expected to go higher and finally burst.

The balloon, 384 feet high and 308 feet in diameter, floated the 450-pound payload to a high point of 130,500 feet. The capsules came down near where the payload of a similar balloon landed after a 54-hour flight which began July 14.

The group of live creatures in the first balloon failed to survive because of a malfunction in the oxygen and heating equipment on their capsule.

The project, conducted by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, is expected to provide valuable data applicable to manned space flights. Two more balloon tests are planned.

Ronald Miller Will Teach in Michigan

Ronald Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miller, 2620 Lark Dr., has been appointed an assistant professor of military science at Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, effective in September.

He received his BS degree in accounting in 1955 at the University of Wyoming.

Miller was graduated from the Quartermaster Officers' Career Course at Ft. Lee, Va. in May, 1962, and from the Army and Air Force Exchange Course in July, 1962.

STUDENT WINNERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Oliver Hailey of Yale and James Lineberger of the University of Minnesota were picked as winners of the 10th annual National Collegiate Playwriting Contest.

Scripts were entered in the competition by 147 students in 75 colleges.

Hailey's play, "Child's Play" was selected as best in the full-length category, and Lineberger's "Now We Are Free" was named in the one-act group.

Tomato Farming Forces Filming Into Colorado

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Because the area around Santa Fe, N.M., doesn't have any tomato farms, the producers of the new hour length "Empire" television show had to settle for a potato farm, and moved the production company to Alamosa and Del Norte, Colo.

The script, "A Place to Put a Life," deals with the problems and hardships encountered by a young tomato farmer in trying to bring in his crop.

Ironically, producer Frank Pierson, director Fred Jackman, location manager Bob Huddleston and assistant director Jerry Bernstein traveled something like 3,000 miles by plane and auto trying to locate a suitable tomato patch.

The tomato farm had to have an old ranch house, with an adjacent water well—two necessary props to the episode of "Empire," which stars Richard Egan and Terry Moore, featuring Anne Seymour and Ryan O'Neal, for Screen Gems.

After traveling all over the northern area of New Mexico and as far north into southern Colorado and Pueblo and Colorado Springs, director Jackman decided on the Alamosa location.

He contacted Bob Bennington, of the Alamosa Chamber of Commerce, and after a few trips around the surrounding countryside, he decided that the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robran at Del Norte, Colo., was the proper location site.

However, the script had to be switched.

Robran's farm grew potatoes, instead of tomatoes.

The crops were tender and young, which is what the script calls for and Jackman had his setting for the episode.

The move from Santa Fe to Alamosa, which is about 25 miles from Del Norte and is where the production company headquarters, involved the transporting of all equipment and personnel of the crew.

This amounts to something like a dozen trucks and trailers, loaded with filming equipment, and about 60 persons, excluding actors who are flown in from Hollywood for supporting roles to the principal players.

For crowd and other background scenes indigenous to the Colorado area, the production company will hire extras in the Alamosa and Del Norte areas.

"Empire" is an hour-length contemporary action - adventure series filmed in color entirely on location, which deals with the operations of a huge ranching empire encompassing raising all types of stock, farming, logging, lumbering, trucking, mining and even oil drilling.

It is anticipated that most of the episodes will be filmed in and around the Santa Fe area of New Mexico.

Seven episodes have been filmed so far, utilizing such guest stars as Victor Jory, Ed Begley, Ralph Meeker, Elizabeth Nesbitt, George Mathews, James Gregory, Keir Dullae and Sharon Farrel.

Some of these have been filmed at such local New Mexico landmarks as the home of Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, former secretary of war under ex-President Hoover; Seton Village, named after Ernest Thompson Seton, famed naturalist and founder of the Boy Scouts; the Swan Lake Ranch at Espanola, N.M., and the J. W. Eaves ranch at Cerilios, N.M.

AVOIDED ROYAL WELCOME

But nobody gave a toot when the new 11,900 ton Japanese freighter Tacoma Maru arrived Friday on its first New York visit. That's the way the ship's owner wanted it.

A spokesman for the Osaka Shosen Kaisha Line explained the firm was "too busy" to detour the ship toward the traditional reception area.

Congress Is Not What It Is Expected, Report Says

By HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Letter from Miss Ellie F. Ogburn, Danville, Va., to the Washington Post:

"For 25 years I have taught American history and government. I have tried to instill in my students a love of country and a respect for government. . . Recently I was a visitor to the gallery of the House of Representatives. There had to be a second roll call to obtain a quorum, a congressman had to request order and finally the chair was forced to ask the members to stop talking and sit down. There were boys and girls in the galleries from all over the United States. They had come to see how the duly elected congressmen of the greatest country on earth conducted the business of making laws. It was a sorry spectacle."

With all deference to Miss Ogburn, it is necessary to point out to her that she is championing an old-fashioned conception of the function of Congress. True, there was a time when congressmen arrived in the chamber promptly, seriously debated a bill and then voted on it. But Congress makes its own rules and this one seems to have decided that its function is NOT to vote on bills. There are various ways not to vote on bills, and not showing up in the chamber and milling around in disorder is only one of them that comes under the general heading of "non-legislative strategy."

In the Senate we have just witnessed a brilliant example of how not to vote on bills. Some senators decided not to vote on the space satellite bill. They not only were not going to vote on it themselves, they were not going to let anybody else vote on it. The way you accomplish this is to start a filibuster, which means you keep talking indefinitely so there cannot be a vote.

Sen. Maurine Neuberger filibustered for 4 hours and 39 minutes when her turn came and it was a notable contribution to the non-legislative concept of Congress even if she did have to slip out of her tight shoes.

But who in his wildest dreams would have imagined that Mme. Neuberger and her don't-vote-on-bills faction could win a double-header? They did by agreeing to end the filibuster for ten days if the other senators would promise not to bring in a farm bill to be voted upon. The promise was forthcoming and undoubtedly this was the finest hour for the non-legislative legislators.

It is no secret that there is a move on to make sure nobody votes on anything by having Congress adjourn and go home. This possibility was suggested to President Kennedy at his press conference and quicker than you could say Hyannis Port he announced he was against adjournment. The moral of this is that you can be in your mid-forties and still be old fashioned by insisting that congressmen vote on bills.

Miss Ogburn doubtless labors under the misapprehension that members of Congress have nothing to do but study bills and vote on them. This is a narrow conception and perhaps she should consider the case of Rep. William Ayres, an Ohio Republican. He wanted to give a party, so he took time from his other work to compose this invitation:

"Are you tired of people in wet evening clothes? Would you like to go to a party where everyone stays as dry as the martinis? I'm throwing a little old fashioned type of party where you aren't obligated to do anything... There are a few things to keep in mind: Elbow bending is permitted but arm twisting isn't. There is no swimming pool which should keep away the New Frontier types. Larry Lanolin won't be providing music, but we've arranged for Vic Trolo to fill in."

Witty sayings aren't easy to come by, Miss Ogburn, and if the congressman stayed away from the House chamber to produce his letter, let us consider it a plus for literature. Which brings us to culture and the poem written by Sen. Jennings Randolph, a Democraft from West Virginia:

How like the game of baseball is the game of life we play.
Except that in life's game
we keep on when we're gray.
The bases are the passing years and the foes we meet are strong.
And ever stiffer in defense they fight as we move along.
And often down near home plate success arm's length away—
We make one little error and we've lost our whole life's play.

Now, just suppose the senator had been interrupted while writing that poem to go to the chamber and vote on some old bill or other? His soaring imagery, his involved rhyme scheme, the entire flight of his creative imagination might have been lost beyond recall. Miss Ogburn, a cynical fellow said to me the other day, "Well, Jennings Randolph falls considerably short of John Keats." I reminded him that John Keats, dissipated his life away, died before he was 30 and never had the honor of being elected to the United States Senate.

BRITONS ON BROADWAY

NEW YORK (AP) — Three London performers make their initial Broadway appearance in txe upcoming drama, "The Affair."

The male lead will be performed by Brewster Mason. The others, who appeared with him in the original West End production, are Kynaston Reeves and Geoffrey Lumsden.

"MAD" LOSES CAROL

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Carol Channing had to turn down a role in Stanley Kramer's "It's A Mad, Mad, Mad World" because of her summer tour with George Burns. Burns said he would delay the tour to give Carol her chance in the picture, but she turned down the movie job in favor of the road show.

Remember that doughnuts taste good warm! Freshen leftover ones by heating them in the oven or in one of the new toaster-ovens.

Nutty Vegetable

Brussels sprouts in a nut-flavored sauce goes well with barbecued foods. Melt ½ cup of butter or margarine in a large skillet. Add 2 teaspoons of grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon of ginger, and salt and pepper to taste. Simmer about 3 minutes. Add ½ cup of chopped walnuts and 4 (10-ounce packages of frozen Brussels sprouts, cooked as label directs, and drained. Heat to serving temperature. Serves 10 to 12.

To remove nail oplish from upholstery containing arnel, dynel, or acetate of verel, dipf ifo on swab in amyl acetate and apply. On fabrics such as wool or linen, use acetone or ordinary nail polish remover.

High School Class Hopes To Locate Grads for Party

A special dance is being planned celebrating, and reminiscing on the ten years that have passed since graduation from Colorado Springs High School in 1952, for all graduates and spouses or dates of this class. The dance will be held at the Antlers Hotel in the General Palmer Room from 9 until 12 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 25.

Each class member is asked to make reservation for this special event by sending $1.00 per person to Mrs. Charlene Post Bingham, 1619 Paseo Rd., ME 2-5621. This money may cover the cost of the entire evening, and will help cover the cost of planning the program (postage, hiring of band, reservation of room, etc) Of the 425 graduates of the class of 1952, all but the following have been notified. The planning committee is in need of the addresses of the following "lost grads":

JoAnn Archilbald, Gail Witt Ashenbrener, William Burns, Pat Bailey, Carol Ann Blasing, Ken Craemer, Dorothea Colburn, Peggy Condit, Wendell Crowe, Dianne Dono, Dick Edwards, Kay Gillam, Ron Garrett, Doris Gentry, Darlene Gordon, Marilyn Gordon, Bill Harvey, Pat Hawes, Lola Hart, Duane Hesler, Janice Hads, Orva Hartjen, Dorothy Hawkins, Ken Hardin, Bev Harrison, June Hollister, Pauline James, Darrell James, Ken Johnson, Nancy Jewell, Pat Kaufman, Edna Kelleher, Irene Keller, Shirley Kennedy, David Lacy, Terry McIntosh, Pauline McElwain, Jim Monroe, Mary Lou Morgan, Pat March, Gary Moore, John McLennan, Ruben Medran, Kathryn Meyer, Lola Nelson, Barbara Nickson, Carolyn Nutt, Pat Paris, Ed Polley, Roland Paegle, Laura Peterson, Pat Petit, Bonnie Porter, Larry Quinn, Janet Rupenthal, Billie Rallie, Juanita Richter, Wesley Reiff, Wanda Roberts, Lorna Sasse, Jack Savage, Darlene Stark, Shirley Smith, Don Stroud, Jim Stelson, Paddy Steever, Robert Sperry, Signe Sanders, Robert Shafer, Betty Jo Smock, Jenn Titus, Nancy Weeson, Florence Wolford, Ruth Wade, Norma Weaver, Jacky Claggett, Jack Fatjo, Helen Zinter, Juanita Cramer, Alvin Weesner, Bill Allison, Jesse Ray Dutcher, Raymond Toney, Bill Blodgett, Bob Cline.

Anyone knowing the addresses of these class members is asked to notify Mrs. Bingham, ME-2-5621 or Mrs. Effa Mae Carlson Marker, ME 3-1402 so that all will know of this reunion.

CONVINCING AGREEMENTS

MUNCIE, Ind. (UPI) — The Merchants Association is using two arguments in its drive to persuade the city to do away with its parking meters.

It claimed profits have dropped from a high of $6,000 a year to $277 in 1960 — and they irritate shoppers.

TO MARRY IN NOVEMBER—Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mattingly of Bisbee, Ariz., announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Myron Gates, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Gates of 135 Cresta Rd., Colorado Springs. Miss Mattingly is a senior at the University of Hawaii. Mr. Gates was graduated from the University of Hawaii and is now a Systems Engineer with the IBM Co. in Honolulu. The wedding will be held here at the First Methodist Church in late November, with the Rev. J. P. Lancaster, grandfather of the prospective bridegroom, officiating.

TO BE SEPTEMBER BRIDE—Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lehman of 210 W. Cheyenne Rd. announce the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Carolyn, to Gary Dale Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Wright of 2127 W. Bijou St. Both young people are graduates of Palmer High School. Miss Lehman is employed by the Farmers Insurance Group, and Mr. Wright by William Bailey's Auto Trim Shop. A September wedding is planned, at the Ivywild Presbyterian Church. (Nicholson Photo)

DOG TEACHES SWIMMING

Camp Now, Save Later

CHICAGO (UPI) — A good camping outfit initially cost about as much as a two-week resort hotel bill for a family of four, says E. H. Regner, University of Illinois rural recreationist.

But if the equipment is durable, you're set for several years, he said. Your main expenses in future vacations will be for food and travel to the camp grounds.

Regnier suggested a tarpaulin tent, 10 x 10 foot umbrella model, to sleep four. If the front and side flaps open, living space is doubled. An umbrella model also gives more head room.

A sewed-in floor provides protection from puddles, crawling insects and drafts. One person, he said, can put up a pole version in about 10 minutes.

Air mattresses or lightweight summer sleeping bags are replacing cots, he said.

When it's raining and you want to dry clothes open the card table, turn it upside down and string the clothesline around the legs. More hanging space can be made by criss-crossing the cords diagonally.

TRIUNE
a classic for today created from great designs of the past

Triune, a distinguished collection by Drexel, is based on traditional themes . . . interpreted in a contemporary manner. Triune's very name reveals its three-century legacy. Out of the 18th Century come the soft Sheraton influences of delicate moldings and graceful fluting. The regal arches and sabre leg motifs were inspired by 19th century Regency designs. And from the 20th century come countless functional advantages. Woods, finishes and hardware are skillfully correlated into a furniture classic. You'll treasure Triune for its excellent design and meticulous construction.

Drexel is but one of the many distinguished lines of furnishings you'll find at Home. Three floors of complete room settings offer the broadest cross section of fine furniture to be found anywhere. Come spend some leisure time with us. Our Department of Interior Design will help you with your decorating problems, free of charge. There's the Custom Drapery Department at your service, too.

Blaisdell Named Ent Assistant Base Chaplain

A native of Corpus Christi, Tex., Chaplain Blaisdell, graduated from Corpus Christi High School and entered Howard Payne College in Brownwood, Tex., graduating with a Bachelor of Arts degree in 1948.

He received his bachelor of Divinity degree in 1950 and his Master of Religious Education degree in 1951. From 1951 until entering the Air Force two years later he was minister of the First Baptist Church in Somerville, Tex.

After completing the basis Chaplain's course at Lackland AFB, Tex. in 1953 he was assigned to Korea. Returning to the U. S. in 1955 he was assigned to Kirtland AFB, N. M. where he served until 1958. He was assigned to Turkey in 1958 and upon completion of his overseas tour was reassigned to Ft. Lee, Va. Before coming to Ent he was a student at the Command and Staff College at Maxwell AFB, Ala.

Army Vice Chief Of Staff to Visit Carson Monday

For the first time, flags of the 50 states will fly in front of Ft. Carson headquarters Monday in honor of Gen. Barksdale Hamlett, U. S. Army vice chief of staff, who is scheduled to visit the post.

Gen. Hamlett is expected to arrive this evening. An honor guard ceremoney is planned for 7:30 a.m. Monday.

The honor guard will be a composite of post and division units. The 5th Division Band will play. A crew from Battery B., 5th Howitzer Battalion, 4th Artillery will man a salute battery for the 17-gun salute.

First Lt. Frederick H. Borneman will be honor guard commander with special troops supplying one honor guard platoon. Eleven - man squads will come from the 2nd Battalion, 61st Infantry and the 4th Squadron, 12th Cavalry and Division Artillery. The 5th Military Police Company will supply color bearers and color guards.

Gen. Hamlett will observe the loading and riggin training of the 5th Division's loading teams and be briefed at 3rd Brigade Headquarters. He will also visit Company B, 2nd Battalion, 11th Infantry, to see preparation for departure and the 77th Armor Battalion's Field Command Post.

He will be the guest of the Military Affairs Committee, Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce, and of Pikes Peak Chapter, Association of the U. S. Army, Monday at the Broadmoor.

Gen. Hamlett and his party will leave from Peterson Field at 2 p.m.

Foreign Service Officer Visiting Parents Here

By SHIRLEY COCHRAN

Jim Hart, a world-wide traveler with an exciting past and a promising future, is presently relaxing in Colorado Springs. When on the job, Hart sets a brisk pace as a Foreign Service communications officer with the U.S. Department of State as he dashes in and out of the world's diplomatic circles.

Hart has just arrived here from Lisbon, Portugal, where he directed and coordinated communication center activities with all administrative and diplomatic officials related to that office of the U.S. Embassy. He is visiting his family, Mr. and Mrs. L. Dale Anderson, owners of Hershey's Motel, 3612 W. Colorado Ave.

Following his vacation here and on the West Coast, Hart will move to Washington, D. C., for an "unknown and indeterminate" assignment.

In Lisbon for four - and - one half years, which is the longest period of time he had called any place "home," Hart is enthusiastic about the city and its native inhabitants. It was apparant that he had some regret in leaving Lisbon, which he describes as beautiful, modern and colorful, but he is excited about his new assignment to the nation's capital and after years of moving over the earth's real estate, such change has become a way of life.

Hart is especially fond of the Portuguese people and said that in general the pleple were very easy to know and he likes that they accept a person openly and honestly on his own merits. He learned to speak Portuguese while there and also speaks Spanish, but he maintains that the only foreign language he can speak fluently is Swedish.

Tho Lisbon has dominated his life for the last few years, Hart gives equal and enthusiastic endorsement to the other countries in which he has lived and traveled.

The U.S. Embassy in Stockholm, Sweden, was his first State Department assignment following his training in the Foreign Service Institute in 1948. He said he learned the Swedish language simply by listening to the radio and reading every word in the city's newspapers.

As a communications clerk, Hart was transferred to Dublin, Ireland, in 1950 and from there to a one - year assignment in Pakistan. Prior to the Lisbon assignment, he was assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Lima, Peru, South America, where he was promoted to communications officer.

Hart said he credits the U.S. Navy with Cultivating his love of travel to far away places. He served aboard an aircraft carrier for the major part of his four year service career which began in 1941.

When queried about diplomatic and political relations between the U.S., Portugal and other countries, Hart said only, "my work is not associated with policy matters and therefore I have no comment regarding international relations."

The Chicago - born state official admitted that after living in so many different places in the last 20 years, it would be nice to be able to settle in one locale and develop the proverbial roots. As it is, he said, home is just where he happens to hang his hat and he hopes it might be possible for his ubiquitous hat to find a permanent hook in the next few years.

Diplomatic to the end, Hart said he does not have any favorite country as such, for each has its own special charm.

Cattle, Hog Slaughter Goes Up in Colorado

DENVER (UPI)— Slaughter of cattle and hogs was up in Colorado during the month of June, but the calf, sheep and lamb kill was down from the same month last year, the Colorado Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said today.

Slaughter of cattle during June, 104,000 head, was 12 per cent above that of a year ago, the report said, but was 4 per cent below May, 1962.

Five hundred head of calves were slaughtered during June, 29 per cent lower than the preceding June, but 100 head above the May, 1962, slaughter. This yas the first increase in calf slaughter since August, 1961, the report said.

Mrs. Cowan will teach all phases of baton twirling and direct the Majorette Corps for two of the four bands scheduled to appear at the annual Band Day.

The baton instructor has recently been training the majorettes for the Colorado Springs Junior High School band entry in the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo parade.

Mrs. Cowan trained the Durango Band Majporette Corpswhich represented Colorado at the premier of "Music Man" held in Mason City, Iowa.

Couple Injured In Tornado Leave Hospital

CASPER (AP) —A man and his wife from Syracuse, N. Y., whose trip to the Seattle World's Fair in June was interrupted by a tornado, are happily on their way home.

Joseph Rock Jr., 59, and his wife, Henrietta, 57, were released from Natrona County Memorial Hospital Friday after being treated for nearly two months for injuries suffered when the twister struck their car.

They planned to visit Rock's brother in Chicago before returning to Syracuse by plane.

The couple said they didn't know how to thank all the friends they made in this central Wyoming oil city during their forced stay.

Mr. and Mrs. Rock were on their 10th trip to Seattle, where Rock worked during World War II, when they ran into a heavy rain and hail storm on U.S. Highway 87 about 30 miles north of Casper June 11.

Rock said he stopped their 1962 model car because of a pile of debris in the road and to wait for the storm to subside.

Suddenly, the tornado struck. Rock said he pushed Mrs. Rock under the car's dash board and he threw himself across the front seat of the car. Rock was thrown from the auto and suffered a crushed chest. His wife remained in the auto.

John Greisen, 62, manager of a Casper moving firm, watched the twister pick up the Rock's car.

"It lifted the car up — I don't want to exaggerate — I would say between 4 and 10 feet in the air, twisted it over a couple of times and the car landed on its top," Greisen said following the incident.

Greisen and his wife suffered minor injuries when the twister picked up their 2-ton moving van and dropped it in a field.

The twister hit near Teapot Rock which gives its name to the famous Teapot Dome oil field field nearby.

Woman Thinks Her Car Struck Youth

COMMERCE CITY (UPI) — A Derby, Colo., woman has confessed that it was apparently her car that hit a 15-year-old boy Thursday night, but said she could not remember exactly what happened.

Police Chief Reed Miller said Mrs. Jack Price made the confession after her car was impounded Friday for investigation. He said broken glass found at the scene of the accident was similar to that in a broken parking light on the car.

The boy, Danny Huston of Derby, was still in critical condition today at Colorado General Hospital in Denver. He underwent an emergency operation Friday to remove a blood clot on his brain.

Miller said no charges have yet been filed and Mrs. Price has not been picked up. He said charges probably would be filed Monday.

YMCA BUILDS

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Men's Christian Associations around the world have raised $11,118,692 towards a goal of $16,000,000 in a "Building for Brotherhood" campaign for 116 building projects in 33 countries. So far 26 building projects have been completed and construction is underway on 52 others.

TOOK "SAFER" JOB

BRISTALL, England (UPI) — Police motorcyle patrolman John Masters, 28, said today he is to become a "wall of death" rider in a motorcycle daredevil show because "it's much safer than patrolling the roads."

Denver Osteopath May Resume Practice

DENVER (UPI) — Dist. Court Judge Saul Pinchick ruled Friday that a Denver osteopath charged with abortion may resume practice.

His decision reversed the Colorado State Board of Medical Examiners, which revoked Dr. Lawson Palmer's license on March 31. Palmer is charged in four abortion cases, but one woman witness has left the state and another is reluctant to testify, according to Assistant Atty. Gen. Peter Dye.

NO GUNS ALLOWED

NEW YORK (ULI) — Musicians are not allowed to fire guns on the concert stage, police have informed conductor Josef Krips.

A concert at Lewisohn Stadium tonight is scheduled to include the Johann Strauss polka, "On The Hunt," in which a rifle is supposed to be fired at the climax. Conductor Krips was told to revise the score, since firing a gun within city limits is illegal.

Pikes Peak Region Yesterdays

By DORA FOSTER

The El Paso County Pioneers Association held its annual picnic Wednesday noon in the Stratton Park pavilion, celebrating Aug. 1, Colorado Day, with not one single solitary pioneer in attendance, just 54 followers.

Dictionaries tell us that a pioneer is one who goes before to prepare the way for others to follow, so those who were enjoying the picnic last week were the ones who have come to this state after the earlier folk had cleared the region of Indians and brush and dug the ditches that the trees might beautify the land and where comfortable house could take the place of the log cabins that had been erected before.

But "the followers" claimed at this gay gathering that they too have had their fair share in making this Pikes Peak a beautiful place in which to live.

The picnic was planned and carried out by Herbert M. Sommers, president of the organization, so everything went well. The committee in helping had charge of great pots of good coffee, under the direction of W. Glenn Jackson, who for many years owned an edited the newspaper, the Estes Park Trail, in Estes Park. The fried chickens, 10 of them, were brought hot to the tables, fried to just the proper shade of brown, by one of our famous chefs, who wishes his name withheld, while the roasting ears came only this morning from the fields of the Venetucci farms near Fountain. There were 84 ears of the Golden Bantam variety that had been hurried directly from the early morning snapping to the huge iron pot of boiling water waiting at the fire just outside the Stratton Park Pavilion and these delicious ears of corn were allowed to boil only 10 minutes when they were carried to the hungry "followers." They were rolled in melted butter. One corn eater said "They must have put sugar into the butter, it is so sweet."

The early trip to the corn field was made by the president, who before he left the pavilion told his helpers to have the pot boiling when he returned, knowing well that the shorter and faster trip from the corn field to the stove is the only way to have good roasting ears on the table.

All those ears of corn were husked by Alvin J. Bruening, whose father, J. H. Bruning of Ivywild, had raised his family on a ranch and had no trouble in keeping his three sons and daughter off the streets.

Following the feast the president asked each guest to stand and tell his life history, giving each speaker only three minutes to tell all he knew. Many of the speakers took less than the time alloted them. Quite a few of the speakers said that their parents had raised them for a while in the eastern states, then after getting them up to a fair size had brought them to Colorado, where, being quite happily located, they decided to remain.

Mrs. Pearl Overton Le Faire was born in the town of Fountain but had lived for sometime with her mother, Mrs. J. L .Overton of Colorado Springs in the house her parents built 71 years ago last July. I remember my father speaking often of the "Overton boys" who lived just across the Fountain Creek from the William Sweetland Ranch, whose house my father built one winter when the Sweetlands found their family wished a finer frame house and moved from the concrete one they had for years. The Overton grandfather of Pearl was Gildon Overton, who is 1872 purchased the ranch and moved onto it when he had tired of Illinois, where the most of his family were born. They were Jacob, Lockwood, Always known as Jake; James Wilson, known as Jim; William Jackson, called D. W., Elizabeth, with only one name; Peet Wilson, known as Pete; Henry Jackson and a sister, Sarah. All these second names were family names on the mother's side, a Pennsylvania Dutch lady who went with her husband in the early days to Illinois.

Arthur A. Baylis told that the reason he came to Colorado Springs was because he had to. He came here, he said, in a box-car and was put off the train along with several of his other fellow travelers and since in the year of 1896 he was here he decided to remain. Baylis was born in England, and as a boy came west, working in the wheat fields in Nebraska, and after coming here was later superintendent of buildings and grounds at Colorado College, where he became acquainted with and can name more of that institution's graduates than anyone in the state. His daughter is Bernice, now Mrs. Eugene Lyons, whose husband was so closely connected with President Eisenhower during his administration.

The late J. Edward Johnson's daughter, Bernhardina Johnson, told of her father's early work in Denver, where he planned and landscaped the ground of the Denver University and also laid out, terraced and landscaped as well as set out the first trees that surround the Colorado State Capitol, trees that are still there in all their beauty. A few years later in the early 1890s he founded the Pikes Peak Floral Company and had greenhouses on Columbia Street as well as down in the center of town, with a store at 104 N. Tejon St., besides a plant near the Austin Bluffs. He was born in Stockholm, Sweden, and was educated in the Conservatory of Stockholm. He came to America about in 1885.

One of the guests at the picnic was Dr. Samuel White, a dental surgeon from Port Arthur. He and his wife, Mrs. Corrinne White, have been coming to Colorado Springs each summer for the last 35 years, and he told that he was born in Lebanon. He came to the United States when he was 12. He studied dental surgery at the Atlanta Dental college in Georgia and practiced his profession until his recent retirement. He has made several trips across the Atlantic in the interest of a college that he has helped to finance, since his father established it many years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Woodson proudly claimed the fact their ancestors came to this country two years before the Mayflower landed on our shores. They have been residents of Colorado Springs living in the same house they occupied for a long time, almost ever since they arrived from the east.

Mrs. Joseph Hildrich's relatives played long ago with Zebulon Pike in Missouri, a number of summers and winters before he made his historical trip into our locality.

All of the 54 "followers" expressed their love for Colorado and Colorado Springs and are trying to keep alive the early history and stories of the Pikes Peak Region.

Children's Burn Center Is Sought for Denver

DENVER (UPI)— Denver officials plan to go all out to have the nation's first children's burn treatment hospital and research center established in Denver.

The Imperial Council of the Shrine of Chicago has established a $10 million fund for the purpose of building the two institutions. The council has not decided where to build the facilities.

Atom Development Claimed by Red China

GENEVA (AP) —Communist Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi said in an interview published here Saturday that Red China has made great progress in developing a nuclear bomb.

He declined to go into detail, but claimed Red China has made great progress in this field," he said.

Laos Crown Prince Weds Cousin in Royal Splendor

LUANG PRABANG, Laos (AP) —Crown Prince Vong Savang, 31, was married to his cousin Princess Manilay Panya, 21, today amid scenes of Asian splendor and pageantry.

The wedding ceremony—called "baci" or semireligious ceremony —was held in the royal palace in the presence of King Savang Vathana and his quen.

French-educated Vong is the elder son of reigning King Savang. Manilay is the daughter of Prince Khampan, the king's half brother and former Laotian ambassador to London and Bangkok and presently ambassador to Washington.

Lt. Col. Wooten Succeeds Gray At Ft. Carson

Lt. Col. James A. Wooten, Ft. Carson's new assistant chief of staff for personnel, has tourned the world fighting his country's battles.

He earned the Silver Star, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart fighting in Europe with the 30th and 76th Infantry Divisions in World War II. He left the service after the war and returned in 1950 to lead a rifle company in Korea.

In the interim he was a detective with the El Paso, Tex., police departmet.

At Carson he replaces retiring Lt. Col. Russell Gray.

A native of Roswell, N. M., Colonel Wooten comes to Carson from Munich, Germany. Previous assignments include progressor of military science and tactics at Leavenworth, Kan., High School, the only one in the state boasting an ROTC program.

Col. Wooten and his wife, Elaine, have two children, patricia, 13, and Michael, 10. He is an active Mason.

Stock Market Records Second Weekly Advance

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Amid continued doubt about prospects for an income tax cut, the stock market put together its second straight weekly advance.

Even as reports came toward the end of the week that prospects for a tax reduction had dimmed considerably, the market nudged ahead.

Even so, the market closed below its highest figure for the week in both averages. This was reached on Tuesday when the Dow Industrials came within a couple of points of the significant 600 level. A considerable mount of stock is believed for sale around the 600 area in the Dow. Wall Streeters say it may take some doing for the market to chew its way through this overhanging supply. After coming close to it Tuesday, the market took a thumping loss on Wednesday, then moved ahead irregularly the remaining two days.

As July ended on Tuesday, the market had established a pretty good recovery for the month, approximately 5 per cent, based on the AP average.

Brokers commented that the public was showing signs of some renewed interest in the market. This was further demonstrated by lively trading in a number of moderately-priced issues which seemed to give promise of capital gains.

Volume for the week rose to 16,890,595 shares from 13,914,661 the week before.

U.S. Steel did pretty much as expected in declaring its usual 75-cent dividend on common even though second quarter earnings did not cover the payout. Weekly steel production for the industry rose for the third straight week.

Aerospace stocks were spurred by news of missile contracts.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Sotck Exchange were:

Business Highlights

DANGEROUS AGE

NEW YORK (UPI)—The years from 50 to 55 are the danger-age of emotional and mental tensions for business men, according to Dr. R. H. Felix of the National Institute of Mental Health. During this period a man's destiny is pretty well settled. The question is—can he accept it if his ambitions haven't been satisfied?

TAXES

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Tax Foundation notes that the income tax, which produced $28 million in 1913, is counted upon to produce about $50 billion for the government this year.

ALASKAN OIL

According to Oil Facts, a trade publication, the first successful Alaskan well was completed in September 1957 and by 1961 the state ranked 19th among the 31 which produce oil.

VOICEPRINT

NEW YORK (UPI) — The "voiceprint" some day may be as important as fingerprints in identification, according to Engineer Lawrence Kersta of Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Kersta has developed a system of making a photographic wave pattern of an individual's voice from a single word. He said it is 97 per cent accurate and mimics can't fool the machine.

BRITISH NEED MARINAS

LONDON (UPI) — The British boat industry is experiencing the kind of marina shortage that threatened a couple of years ago to throttle the boating boom in the United States. The Duke of Edinburgh, a yachting enthusiast, recently called attention to the problem.

TOOTH DRESSING?

HEW SPENDING

NEW YORK (UPI)—Public and private spending for health, education and welfare will average out to an estimated $514 per person in 1962, compared with $232 in 1950, according to the National Industrial Conference Board.

Park Hill Corp. Formed, Buys 207 Building Lots

Formation of the Park Hill Corp. and its purchase of 207 building lots for approximately $600,000 from the Gordon Development Co. was announced today by officials of the new company.

Heading Park Hill Corp., set up effective last Wednesday, is Don Hoit as president and Robert Taylor as vice president, both of them former vice presidents with the Alexander Construction Co. Kenneth W. Geddes, Colorado Springs attorney, is secretary - treasurer.

The sales organization for the new firm will be headed by Leo Lynn, real estate broker and vice president of the Lincoln Realty Co., which has an office at 2807 Hayman Terrace, in the area which changed hands.

The 207 building lots are located in the vicinity of Pikes Peak Avenue and Brentwood Drive in Park Hill Estates. Offices of the new company will be at 2801 E. Pikes Peak Ave.

Lynn said that display models featuring the latest designs, modern conveniences and home building ideas are being constructed at Pikes Peak Avenue and Brentwood Drive.

Homes will be in the $13,000 $20,000 price range, and will include a varied line of models. Construction will consist of brick frame and aluminum, with the thought being given to the individual wants and needs of the home buyer, Lynn said.

While with Alexander Construction Co., Hoit was head of the accounting department and Taylor was head of the construction division. Their combined years of experience in the construction field totals more than 30.

Hoit lives at 2407 Marlborough Rd. He and his wife, Jean, have a daughter, Joanne, 12, and son, Stephan (Buster), 11.

Taylor and his wife, Mildred, live at 2008 Chelton Rd. They have two sons, Bob, 16, and Stephan, 13.

The lots purchased by the Park Hill Corp. are part of 173 acres of raw land bought by the Gordon Development Co. from the Alexander Construction Co., which launched the new homes area in east Colorado Springs.

The lots are inside the city limits and all improvement assessments have been paid, Lynn said.

Importers of Sugar Get Windfall Profit

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., says President Kennedy's delay in signing the sugar bill gave importers windfall profits of $663,854.

Williams told the Senate on Friday that 58,075 tons of foreign sugar was dumped on the American market without payment of import duties between July 2, when Congress acted to extend the sugar law, and July 14 when Kennedy signed the bill.

Williams said an Agriculture Department report showed some of the imports came from countries which have no American market quotas, such as Canada, Britain and Belgium.

Said Williams: "It is therefore reasonable to assume that sugar which was brought into this country from them during the two-week interval represented sugar which the exporters had in turn purchased in the world market. It has been strongly suggested that some of this was Cuban sugar."

President May Get 'Poll' of Nation's Pulse

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—A trip to the West Coast Aug. 17-19 apparently will give President Kennedy the opportunity to explore for himself how the country feels about his administration.

Unless he changes present plans Kennedy will not be making any political speeches for his party's candidates. But there is nothing to prevent him from conferring with political leaders.

Kennedy is represented as believing that the opposition in Congress to his legislative program may not reflect reliably the feeling of the average citizen.

A great user of polls himself, Kennedy recognizes that the form in which a question is put may have great influence on the results.

He said at his Wednesday news conference that a poll which indicated 72 per cent of the people oppose a tax cut which would increase the national debt might have come out quite differently if those polled had been asked if they favored a tax cut to head off a recession that would boost the debt.

A president, of course, can't drift in and out of the stores on main street or mill in the crowd at a supermarket. He has to get his information from people whose judgment he trusts.

In this sense the trip seems likely to become something of a warmup for some frankly political excursions this fall when Kennedy is expected to plug for the election of Democrats running for the Senate, House and governorships who support his program.

When he stops at Pierre, S.D., Kennedy will be touching base in a state where he hopes George McGovern, who resigned as Food for Peace director, will take a senatorial seat away from the Republicans.

His flip of a switch to start the circulation of power from Oahe Dam—with appropriate remarks about the progress the country is making—may be about all the President will have time to do for McGovern.

But the ground-breaking for the San Luis irrigation project near Los Banos, Calif., Aug. 18, obviously is only a prelude to later activities in the state. California Democrats are confident Kennedy will be back to try to help Gov. Edmund. G. Brown meet the challenge of former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana has said Kennedy is considering participating in the ceremonies opening the Lewis and Clark highway on the Montana Idaho border.

In Idaho, the Democrats hope to fill the senate vacancy left by the death of Republican Henry C. Dworshak, as well as re-electing Frank Church.

HELSINKI—Finland's 1961 butter exports dropped 32 per cent from the record level of 57 million pounds shipped in 1960.

Suspense of 'Whodunit' Marks Income Tax Issue

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The income tax cut issue took on the suspense of a "whodunit" during the week.

The developing question was whether the July economic statistics will cause President Kennedy to ask Congress to slice taxes immediately instead of next year as he had promised earlier.

Time of decision is little more than a week away.

The first, and one of the most important, indicators — the job situation—came out, and its improvement was interpreted as tending to reduce the possibilities of a quick tax cut.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg reported the number of unemployed declined by 450,000 in the last month. This cut the unemployment rate to 5.3 per cent of the work force, lowest since May 1960.

Both employment and unemployment showed an improvement of about 1.1 million over a year ago.

Goldberg, who is believed to be among the Kennedy advisers urging a tax cut now, said the figures were encouraging.

Kennedy stood pat on his announced intention to wait until mid-August to make a decision. He wants to see reports on retail sales, expenditures and production.

He told his news conference that he wasn't satisfied with current conditions because, "There is still a gap between what we are going and what we could do, based on our manpower and on our plant capacity."

The business outlook was being widely debated. On the optimistic side was the First National City Bank of New York, the nation's third-largest bank. It said, "The weight of the evidence available does not support the view that a recession is at hand."

Reports on several phases of the economy painted a rather spotty picture. They included:

Sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers in June totaled $67.4 billion, a drop of $1 billion from May. Retail sales were off nearly 2 per cent.

The annual rate of construction activity declined from $62.5 billion in June to $61.7 billion in July.

Manufacturing and trade inventories increased by $300 million to $97.7 billion between May and June.

Consumer installment purchases increased by $318 million in July but this was slower than the June pace of $413 million.

Corporate earnings reports continued to flood out of directors' meetings, and indications were that second-quarter profits would be close to the record peacetime rate of the two preceding quarters.

Steel firms, however, did not fare well in the second quarter. U.S. Steel Corp., for example, reported its earnings of $40.2 million were below the $55.8 million of the 1962 first quarter and the $59 million of the 1961 second quarter. Nevertheless, Big Steel declared its usual 75-cent quarterly dividend although the earnings amounted to only 63 cents a share.

Steel production during the week rose for the third consecutive week but amounted to only about 50 per cent of capcity. Output of 1,504,000 tons was 7.6 per cent above the previous week.

Bond sales, at $21,706,000 shoved a similar pattern—above the $20,450,000 of the previous week but below the $33,036,000 of the comparable 1961 week.

Automakers cut back sharply on production during the week to change over to 1963 models. Only Ford and General Motors built cars. Output was estimated at 114,000 passenger cars, compared with 136,341 the previous week.

In July, domestic auto manufacturers built 589,001 cars, a 79 per cent increase over July 1961 and 25,000 more than in June.

Milwaukee Paper Sale Probed for Anti-Trust Issue

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Purchase of the Milwaukee Sentinel by the Journal Co., publisher of the Milwaukee Journal, is being investigated by the antitrust division of the Justice Department, U.S. Atty. James B. Brennan said Friday.

The afternoon Journal said in a news story that the purchase of the Sentinel from the Hearst Corp. also will figure in November and hearings by the House Antitrust subcommittee into recent mergers and sales of newspapers. Plans for the hearing announced last January.

The Journal story quoted Rep Emmanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the subcomittee and its parent committee, as saying, "We are not gunning for anybody. But we are anxious that the people have access to diverse news and opinions and that the true picture of the media of news communications be presented to the public."

Brennan said investigators from the Chicago office of the division were checking to determine if the Journal's purchase of the morning Sentinel "violated antitrust laws, particularly Section 7 of the Clayton Act, which prohibits mergers that tend to reduce competition or create a monopoly."

WOMEN LIVE LONG

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Life Insurance says it has 571 persons owning annuities on its books who are aged 91 and over—and 84 per cent are women.

Only one man in the group has celebrated his 100th birthday but 11 in the "weaker" sex range in age from 100 to 104.

Grain Futures Prices in Steady Downward Trend

CHICAGO (AP) — Influences in the grain futures market were nearly all bearish last week and prices maintained an almost steady downward trend on the Board of Trade.

Net changes were small, though, except in rye and old crop soybeans, where setbacks were broad. Losses ran to almost four cents in the usually rapidly shifting rye deliveries and to about six cents in August soybeans, where speculative trade has been active lately. Elsewhere, declines were limited largely to major fractions of a cent.

The only genuinely bullish influence of the week was in the form of wheat export business on Friday. It was the most substantial in several weeks and amounted to more than 10 million bushels. Brokers said it lifted that category of sales to about the level of a year ago.

August soybeans, which speculators had said showed the best promise of a broad advance just now, came under steady and heavy pressure instead. The talk of a probable tight supply before the end of the crop year faded as brokers heard reports of more frequent sales by the government from surplus stocks.

Mill buying steadied wheat from time to time but dealers said that type of demand was becoming thinner.

The only possibility brokers could see for a rally in corn was in a crop scare, but that became more and more remote as daily advices indicated the good to excellent growing conditions had been maintained.

At the end of the week, wheat was unchanged to ½ cent a bushel lower than a week ago, September $2.12¼; corn ⅜-1⅜ lower, September $1.05¾-⅞; oats ⅛-1⅛ lower, September 62⅛-¼; rye 3⅛-3⅞ lower, September $1.19⅛-⅜; soybeans ¼-5¾ lower, August $2.42-42¼.

Hammond Organ Net Earnings Up 15.8%

CHICAGO — Hammond Organ Co. has reported a 15.8 per cent increase in net earnings for the first three months of its fiscal year. For the first quarter ended June 20, pre - tax earnings were $1,176,000. Net earnings after federal and state income taxes were $602,000, or 20 cents per share as compared with $520,000, or 17 cents per share, for the same period last year.

COMMERCIAL ARSON ON RISE

NEW YORK (UPI)—Arson to collect insurance is increasing and many professional firebugs are involved, according to Insurance Information Institute.

Before 1955, the Institute said, nearly all incendiary fires were started by juveniles, vandals or mentally disturbed persons. But in the past three years, the activities of the professional arsonist have increased steadily.

Halle's Appliance Store Is Completely Remodeled

A completely remodeled Halle's Inc., 119 N. Nevada Ave., offers prospective customers a new look in color, decor and space.

During the store's recent renovation, its display area was increased from 1,600 to 4,200 square feet.

Down the center aisle are two portable counters with shelves on either side which hold a varied selection of housewares and radios. Housewares include coffee pots, blenders, hairdryers (some in fitted traveling cases), can openers, home polishers, toasters, mixers, fry pans, automatic toothbrushes, baby food warmers and irons.

Appliances such as washers, dryers, refrigerators, stoves and freezers are arranged on the right.

Charlie Hughes, general manager of the 33 - year old store, said the new Halle's Inc. now has three times as much display space as before.

The service department has been expanded and offers the most expert workmanship available, he said. One customer convenience is a washer and dryer operating at all times. Customers may bring their clothing in and test the machines before purchase, Hughes said.

While the store was being remodeled, business was carried out in a warehouse at 4900 N. Nevada Ave., so as to cause no inconvenience for any customer.

Open house began this past Wednesday and will continue thru Saturday.

"If it's an appliance, television, sterio — large or small — Halle's is the place to find it," said Hughes.

Money Oldsmobile Celebrating Its First Anniversary

The Money Oldsmobile Company, 18 S. Weber St., is celebrating this month the anniversary of its first year's operation in Colorado Springs.

Harvey Money, franchise dealer for Oldsmobile in the Pikes Peak Region, said "We have doubled our business compared to that of the previous year."

The franchise was purchased Aug. 1, 1961, from Lou Grubb, and the firm represents sales for the complete line of Oldsmobiles, and also operates in the used car field.

Money was born in Greenville, Tex., and is a graduate of Wesley Junior College of Greenville, and of Texas Tech. Prior to moving to Colorado Springs, he was in the automobile business for 6½ years, operating the Money Oldsmobile Co. in Scottsdale, Ariz.

His brother William Money is owner and operator of the Olds dealership in Phoenix, Ariz., and is a stockholder in the firms here and in Scottsdale.

College Aid Bill Dead in House, Rep. Powell Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee, says he has told the White House that the $1.5-billion college aid bill is dead for this session of Congress.

"It's hopeless," the New York Democrat said Friday at a news conference. "It would be a miracle if it were passed ."

Both the House and Senate passed college aid bills early in the session. They are now in a House-Senate Conference committee, bogged down among other things by the same church-state controversy that killed all aid-to-education measures last year.

One of the major differences between the measures was that the House bill authorized federal grants to private colleges. Both bills would authorize $300 million a year for five years to build college academic facilities.

President Kennedy has strongly supported federal construction aid for all colleges, including those sponsored by churches.

Powell said he had talked to "more than one" member of the Senate and was told, "we're not going to do a damn thing the administration wants." He would not identify the senators, but said they were key members.

More Than 30 Expected for Peak Marathon

More than 30 runners are expected to be on the starting line for the seventh annual Pikes Peak Endurance Marathon at 7:30 a.m., Aug. 19, Rudy Fahl, manager, said Saturday. The race this year will be sanctioned by the A. A. U. It is spondored by the Manitou Springs Chamber of Commerce.

Joe Arrazola, of the Denver Track Club and fourth place winner in the 1960 Pikes Peak Marathon, will bring first and second track teams with him for this year's race. On the first team will be Joe Arrazola, John Mendez, Lee Courkmap, Charles Warren, Bob Williams, Don Lucero and Charles Williams. On the second team are Merl Pinney, Dave Reithmann, Tom Brown, Ted McKnight, Don Chippindale and Pat Darlaple.

Lt. Jerry B. Jones, Olmstead AFB, Pa., arrived Saturday in order to get acclimated. He will go as far as timberline to-day with Rudy Fahl, manager, to get used to the altitude, for he is strictly a flatlander. But he is a top track and Marathon runner, inspite of Achilles tendon difficulties. He said Duane E. Merchant, of Dennisport, Mass., beat him in the Boston Marathon, but this is a different race, he said and he will only be satisfied with first second or third place.

Champion Cal Hansen, four time winner in 4 hours 7 min. 15 seconds for the gruelling 26-mile 385-yard event, is to make his first round trip to-day. He has been occupied giving music lessons in Pueblo. His running partner, Hubert Morgan, has been training harder and hopes to overtake Calvin.

Norman E. Rusted, 23, 5 ft. 11 in., weighing 150 seems, to be another strong contender. He ran four years at St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., and is a graduate student at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

Dr. Arne L. Suominen, who is honored this year for his forsight in making this event of world wide interest has been taking daily workouts on the Barr Trail.

Unseen, Diplomatic Wall In Berlin Gets Higher

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UPI) — Two walls, not one, divided Berlin a year ago this Aug. 13. The one of bricks and barbed wire and steel split the city physically. The other established a new diplomatic wall.

Allied efforts to whittle down the diplomatic hurdle have failed in the last 12 months just as have the attempts to get the physical wall out of the way.

The political attitudes of the Allies and the Communists have, if anything, hardened as the key issues dividing them have been more clearly defined.

No settlement has been reached in the months of probing on Berlin, and none is in immediate sight.

On the surface the Berlin crisis mood has eased and both sides appear to have tactily agreed to disagree. But the truce is vague and its duration undefined. Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev could call it off at any time.

Intermittent rumblings in the Kremlin have been pointing lately to the possibility of new Soviet moves over the deadlocked Berlin issue. Yet to balance this there also have been signs that Khrushchev is chary of provoking a major criss now to force a Soviet-type settlement.

The West has little to go by in assessing Soviet intentions except for the "impression" that Khrushchev understands he cannot force the Allies out of Berlin without running the risk of a war, and a nuclear war at that.

To all appearances, Khrushchev does not want war. He probably cannot afford one despite his boasts of Russian military superority over the United States. And he knows the terrible consequences for Russia however such a war might end.

Moscow's comparative inactivity over Berlin in the past year appears in fact to be largely due to the impact of Western — notably United S.EIO(— determination to draw a firm line of "so-far, no-further" on Soviet attempts to change the status of the divided city to Communist advantge.

Ten months of diplomatic "probing" between the United States and Russia into Berlin peace prospects merely have helped to define the dividing issues more clearly.

The Russians have made it clear that the essence of their Berlin poicy is to get the Allied garrisons out of the city. They have accentuated their position by branding Berlin a NATO base.

The West, in turn, has left Moscow in no doubt about its determination to stay in Berlin and to keep free access to the city.

Ruussian "alternatives" have been rejected by the Allies as maneuvers to get the Communists into West Berlin through the back door. One such move by Khrushchev sought to replace the Allied forces with a mixed force drawn from the smaller NATO nations and the Warsaw Pact countries, and placed under United Nations command.

The probe which has been carried out in Moscow, Washington and Geneva by U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko may go on at different levels.

But the Russians have been showing signs of restiveness and have revived their threat to sign a separte peace treaty with the Communist East German regime.

At one time, the Soviets threatened that in such an event Allied rights in Berlin would be wiped out automatically. They have become more cautious lately, apparently fearing that such a move could spark off an armed clash with the United States.

The West has, in fact, put the Russians on notice — Rusk renewed the warning to Gromyko only last month in Geneva — that a separate peace treaty cannot erase Allied rights in the divided city.

The West appears resigned to Russia signing a treaty with the East German regime — the Russians may feel they must do it under pressure from Communist public opinion — provided it leaves the Berlin status unchanged.

Recent hints from the Communists have suggested the Russians may frame their peace treaty so as to leave the Berlin issue where it stands now. Such reservations would avoid an immediate showdown with the West. But they also would prolong the dangers and uncertainty — and leave those two Berlin walls intact.

Sickness, death and crime all increase during periods of high humidity due, say the experts, to the weariness and tension that accompany discomfort.

Freedom School Speaker Says No One Needs Union

"Labor unions are not necessary to the economic or psychic well-being of the American worker," according to John E. Tate, executive vice president of the Midwest Employers Council.

"No person needs a labor union," he said, "because in each individual lies the full dynamic power of self-realization. Each man has within himself all that he needs for his own economic and psychic well-being."

Tate was the featured speaker at the Friday night concluding session of the second annual Freedom School Workshop, which was devoted to the topic, "Are Labor Unions Necessary?"

His address came after a dinner at the Freedom School given by Harry Hoiles, publisher of the Gazette Telegraph, for some 100 students and guests.

The dinner was followed by the dedication of the Freedom School's newest building, Rose Wilder Lane Hall, with Mrs. Lane as guest of honor. The dedication address was given by Robert LeFevre, founder and president of the Freedom School and editor of the Gazette Telegraph.

In his rebuttal of the need for labor unions, Tate emphasized that an individual can accomplish more on his own than he can in a labor union.

"Whatever the mind of man can see or believe, he can achieve. We are restricted only by our own self - imposed limitations. The greatest hindrance to increased productivity is that not enough is expected of workers."

Tate said that altho unions affect employers and customers, 'the worst effect of labor unions is on those engaging in coercion themselves. Labor unions are unnecessary because instead of aiding man's economic and psychic wellbeing, they retard it."

Historically, Tate said, labor unions have always been characterized by "power and violence and socialism." He cited the Wagner Act of 1935 as the basic piece of federal legislation by which the "government did not only permit labor unions but encouraged them to engage in collective bargaining."

Tate explained the legal mechanics of organizing unions in places of business. He pointed out that once the majority of workers have voted to be represented by a bargaining unit, it is illegal for an employer to deal with workers as dividuals on wages, hours and working conditions.

Labor unions have had indirect helpful effects, Tate said, by forcing employers to take steps to counteract the pressures put on them by collective bargaining.

These include a part in further dispersal of industries, forcing further use of automation and thereby increasing productivity, causing business to develop superior personnel relations, hastening the removal of more inefficient workers and hastening the day of liberty by increasing the dangers to liberty.

Tate also presided over the Friday afternoon session, during which students under his direction presented their own views on labor unions.

Ed Castile, Dayton, Ohio, urged fellow students to communicate to other people "the concept of a free market thru a totally free individual" in order to solve the union problem.

"If we accept the idea that man can survive and prosper without government, we must also accept the idea that labor unions are not necessary, because a union is by nature an organization of government," Castle said.

Ned Kimball, Waterville, Wash., suggested that the answer to whether labor unions are necessary should be obtained thru principles rather than thru isolated instances.

There are three conditions that must be present before any culture can approach a civilized state, Kimball said. These are the concepts of self - reliance, private property ownership and inheritance, all of which are violated by labor unions, Kimball said.

In addition, there are certain physical, mental and noral attributes of man which give rise to other principles, he said, and "man is only free when he can do three things: choose, act and be responsible."

Other principles that apply, Kimball said, are the immorality of aggressive force, the individual control over a person's own energy and the absolute sanctity of property boundaries.

Labor union violation of all unequivocal proof that labor unions are unnecessary."

Moreover, Kimball said, since all human energy used by worker in behalf of a labor union is subtracted from productive effort, the sum total of man's material welfare be reduced to that extent."

Edward Stephani, Barrington, Ill, said the "failure of the so-called union movement is due to a lack of reliance on the market place" and the use of such means as compulsion, exclusivity and government support.

'The unions' use of violence or the threat of violence lies in the failure of unions to support their position by force of logic."

The result, he said, is that "labor unions in their present form are as indefensible as disease and sin."

Stephani's wife, Jane, also a Freedom School graduate, presented a paper citing featherbedding practices which she encountered in the building of their home near Chicago.

"Who can need the abject power of labor unions?" she asked.

The four - day Freedom School workshop was attended by 23 graduates and four guest instructors.

The four instructors were Prof. Elgie C. Marcks, Milwaukee, Wis., a Freedom School graduate of 1960 and guest instructor in 1961 and 1962; Prof. Oscar W. Cooley, Ada, Ohio, a guest instructor in 1961 and scheduled to be guest instructor during the next two comprehensive courses as the school, Bryson Reinhardt, Cloverdale, Ore., a graduate in 1958 and guest instructor in 1959, 1960 and 1961; and John Tate, Omaha, Neb., 1961 graduate of the Freedom School.

Graduate students attending the workshop, and the years in which they attended the school, were:

Ed Castle, Dayton, Ohio, 1962; Mr. and Mrs. Willam J. Colson, their son, William A., and daughter, Karen, all of Bellevue, Wash., 1961; Mrs. Lydia Cooley, Ada, Ohio, 1961; Grant Corby, Newport Beach, Calif., 1962.

Mrs. Ethel Dazey, San Francisco, Calif, 1957; her daughter, Miss Carol Dazey, San Francisco, 1962; Mrs. Mary Kettle, Westcliffe, Colo., 1960 and workshop, 1961; Ned Kimball, Waterville, Wash., 1960.

Herman Kolb, Edmond, Okla., 1960; Ira Langlois, Madison, Wis., 1960 and workshop, 1961; Mrs. Hallie MacDonald, South Houston, Tex., 1961; Mrs. Ada Mobley, Cisco, Tex., 1961; Rod Peck, Seattle, Wash, 1958; Sartell Prentice Jr., Pasadena, Calif., 1959.

Mrs. Dorothy Reinhardt, Cloverdale, Ore., 1959 and 1960; Edward Stephani, Barrington, Ill., 1959, 1960 and workship, 1961; his wife, Jane, 1960; Leonard Talbot, Santa Rosa, Calif., 1958 and 1959; Dr. and Mrs. Lynn Vaden, Thermopolis, Wyo., 1961.

Moderator of the 1962 workshop was J. Dohn Lewis, staff member of the Freedom School and editor of the Pine Tree, a bi-weekly newspaper published at the school

City Adjusters To Hear Garage Request Thursday

A public hearing will be held at a special meeting of the City Board of Adjustment at 3:45 p.m. Thursday in the council chambers at City Hall on a request by City Councilman Carl H. Decker, 1240 N. Meade Ave., for permission to build a garage adjacent to the south property line.

The required setback is 2 feet. The garage would be 10 feet from the alley.

At last week's meeting the board approved the following requests:

G. B. Chandler for variance to convert the garage at 31 N. Farragut into an apartment.

James C. Berger for conditional use at 1528 N. Union Blvd. for a business not involving sales.

C. C. Preston for variance to build a frame garage 3 feet from the north and east property lines at 1913 N. El Paso St.

Herman Walsky for variance on building at 1621 Alamo Ave. which is short the required lot area, frontage and minimum side yards and would have too much lot coverage.

The Burroughs Corp. for three signs on the building at 1520 E. Willamette St.

Sherman Snively for variance to build a dwelling on the lot at 414 N. 17th St., which would be short the required setback.

The board denied a request by James T. and Betty L. Whisler for variance to build a carport and storage area at 1516 Prairie Rd. which would not meet the required setback.

Action was deferred on a request by Charles Gammill for variance to put a 4-by-6-foot sign on the south side of the building at 901 N. Union Blvd.

Also deferred were requests by Ann K. Doss for variance to move a garage to the front of the property at 1211 Glen Ave. and for conditional use of a frame dwelling at 1219 Glen Ave. for a nursery school.

The property is involved in litigation over a recent rezoning of the area for commercial use. District Judge G. Russell Miller has signed an injunction prohibiting any further action on the property until the case is resolved by the court.

13 Items to Be Considered By City Planners Thursday

Thirteen items of business will be considered by the City Planning Commission when it meets in regular session at 4 p.m. Thursday in the City Council chambers. The items will be as follows:

Request by Alexander Construction Co. to change the northeast corner of Circle Drive and Pikes Peak Avenue from the R-2 (single family residential) to the C-6 (general business) zone.

Request by B. H. Smartt to change the west side of the 1300 and 1400 blocks of Academy Boulevard and both sides of the 4000 and 4100 block of East San Miguel Street from the R-2 to the R-5 (multi - family residential) zone, with a conditional use to permit construction of buildings to house business not involving retail sales.

Preliminary plat of Austin Estates Subdivision No. 4, which is a 40-acre tract lying northeast of the intersection of San Miguel Street and Academy Boulevard.

Final plat of Las Piedras Estates by David C. Williams, which involves a 27.4-acre tract lying between Ridge Road and Fontanero Drive.

Petition by Sproul Homes Inc. requesting annexation of a 7.80-acre tract lying east of South Circle Drive about 1,600 feet south of Airport Road.

Petition by 11 landowners requesting annexation of a 31-acre lying northwest of the intersection of Galley Road with the proposed Academy Boulevard.

Request by Martin E. Williams and Electrical Products Construction for an amendment to the development plan for the Medallion Apartment - Hotel at 1719 E. Bijou St. to permit construction of four signs which exceed the maximum allowable square feet and minimum setback regulations.

Request by Bob Padgett for an amendment to the development plan of Bon Shopping Center by adding 3,376 square feet of building for retail sales. The center is in a C-4A zone and is located in the center of the east side of of the 2200 block of North Weber Street.

Request by Park Inc. for an amendment to a variance of property restrictions by allowing about 14,000 square feet of existing parking lot and trampoline area to be used for a used car lot. This property is located southeast of the intersection of Pikes Peak Avenue and Institute Street.

Proposal by council to amend the subdivisions regulations by adding street name signs and street illumination lights to paragraph F, Section 2, Article II titled "Required improvements within subdivisions."

Proposal by the commission amend the zoning ordinance by adding special use zone No. 1. It is contemplated that this SU -1 zone would be applicable to an area bounded generally on the north by Uintah Street, on the east by the Sante Fe Railroad right - of - way on the south by Cache la Poudre Street and on the west by the freeway, but then along both sides of Cascade Avenue to Mesa Road and along the center line of Mesa Road to Cache la Poudre Street.

EXPENSIVE JEST

NEW YORK (UPI) — A plane passenger's jest about carrying a bomb and a $300,000 insurance policy cost him $500 Friday in federal court.

Laurie Tremain, 52, of Sioux City, Iowa, pleaded guilty to violating the Bomb Hoax Act by giving the false report to a stewardess as he stepped aboard an Omaha-bound jet last June. He was fined $500 after his attorney described him as a "respectable churchgoer" who had taken a few drinks before the flight.

Two Involved in Crash To Appear in Court

Two Colorado Springs men are to appear in Municipal Court Monday after their involvement in an accident Thursday night at Monument Street and Swope Avenue.

Stanley L. Gossage, 18, of 2302 Wolff Place, was charged by police with careless driving, after his car collided with one driven by Richard Supe, 21, of 1924 S. Institute St. Supe was charged with careless and reckless driving.

According to a police report, the Gossage car was traveling east on Monument Street when it hit the Supe car which was traveling south on Swope Street. The impact knocked the Gossage car out of control. It stuck the north curb on Monument Street, turned over once and landed right side up, 95 feet from the point of impact.

Gossage told police he didn't see the Supe car until he was almost at the intersection. The Supe car skidded 86 feet before the impact and 22 feet sideways afterward.

A passenger in the Gossage car, Miss Patricia Pattison of 1320 W. Kiowa St., was treated for a sprained back by her family physician. Gossage suffered bruises.

WILL SUBMIT PLAN

FARMVILLE, Va. (UPI) —The chairman of the Prince Edward County School Board said Friday the board will submit before Sept. 7 a school desegregation plan ordered by federal court.

U.S. District Judge Oren R. Lewis ruled last week the county's schools must be reopened. The county abandoned public education in 1959 to avoid court-ordered desegregation. Since then white students have been attending privately financed schools, while Negroes were left without formal educational facilities.

GOSPEL IN CUBA

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Herbert Caudill of Havana, superintendent of missions for Southern Baptists in Cuba, reports: "The work in Cuba is difficult, but we find a real hunger for the gospel."

July Cooler, Drier Than Usual In Peak Region

July was slightly cooler than normal and much drier than usual in the Pikes Peak Region, according to U. S. Weather Bureau records.

July's mean temperature at the bureau's Peterson Field station was 69, compared to a normal mean of 70 for the month. The mean maximum last month was 83, compared to a normal mean maximum of 85, and the mean minimum was 55, which is normal for July.

Temperatures last month ranged from a low of 50, recorded July 14, 17 and 25, to a high of 91 on the 10th. The all-time July low is 37, recorded in 1903, and the all - time high 97, registered in 1940.

Precipitation last month totaled 1.60 inches at Peterson Field. The reading was .77 of an inch below the July normal of 2.37. The greatest precipitation recorded in 24 hours was on the 12th, totaling .38 of an inch.

July's moisture brought the year's total to 7.67 inches, which was .96 of an inch below normal for the first six months. Hail was recorded on the 16th.

The Weather Bureau said there were 6 clear days, 19 partly cloudy and 6 cloudy.

Ornithologist Named Assistant CC Professor

He is James H. Enderson who joins the faculty at the independent college of arts and sciences here in September.

Enderson comes to Colorado College from the University of Wyoming where he has been teaching for the past three years.

A native of Sioux City, Iowa, he is the author of such papers as "A Population Study of the Sparrow Hawk."

Enderson earned his bachelor of science degree in biology at the University of Illinois in January of 1959. In August of the same year, he was awarded the master of science degree in zoology.

He now is a candidate for the Ph.D. degree at the University of Wyoming. His doctoral dissertation is entitled "Ecology of the Prairie Falcon in the Central Rocky Mountain Region."

The new Colorado College professor is a member of the American Ornithologists Union and the Sigma Xi society.

Car Wash Attendant Loses Billfold With $15

Jack Pottenger of 2417 Hagerman St. reported to Colorado Springs police Friday that he lost his billfold while working as an attendant at the PDQ Car Wash, Inc., 529 S. Nevada Ave.

Pottenger told police it was possible the billfold worked out of his pocket and into the front or rear seat of a customer's car He said he it might have been lost between 1 and 2 p.m. Friday.

The billfold, a man's tooled leather style, contained Pottenger's driver's license, social security card, miscellaneous identification and $15 in cash.
